M'CARTHY WINS FROM VON ELM ON 28TH GREEN

Former G. U. Captain Is Hero of Record Play in Amateur Golf.

WAGE BITTER DUEL FOR 10 EXTRA HOLES

Jones Gains Third Round, Easily Eliminating Two Canadians.

VOIGT IS DEFEATED BY COAST YOUNGSTER

Atlantan Is Lone Survvior of "Seeded" Pliayers; Meets Coleman Today.

By DICK WILLIAMS.

Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The greatest of those dog-eat-dog matches ever played in a national amateur golf championship took place over the Merion Cricket Club course here today when deep-chested Maurice McCarthy, former Georgetown University golf captain, put George Von Elm out of the tournament on the twenty-eighth hole.

For nine extra holes they pushed and tugged and gnawed at each other and still they got nowhere. For nine holes, from the eighteenth through the twenty-seventh neither could dent the other's armor and then McCarthy chipped a 75-yard approach up against the pin on the twenty-eighth green to get a birdie and end the match.

Even the fact that the great man Jones won both his eighteen-hole matches today couldn't overshadow the twin feat of Von Elm and McCarthy. No more truculent pair of fighters ever walked down a golf course than this tigerish son of old Holland stock and this broth of a boy generation removed from Erin's green bogs and purple cliffs, so that when they go together in such a struggle nothing but a classic of golf could have resulted. It was a national amateur record, bettering by four holes the previous longest match.

Jones Still Looms Large.

Their effort probably doesn't mean anything as far as the championship is concerned. Even the dogged tenacity of a McCarthy, backed by a reasonable sound game of golf, isn't enough to beat the great Jones, now that he's out of the shadow of these eighteen hole matches.

The jinx can't get Robert now. Some golfer will have to do it and there's scarcely a likelihood that there's one left in a sadly tattered field to do it.

Not only did the great man dispel his jinx, he literally took it apart and found out what made it scare him. He lambasted unhappy Ross Somerville, the Canadian champion, 5 and 4, over the morning round, and then came back to beat F. D. Hoblitzell, another Canadian, by the same margin.

Mr. Jones shot a 33 over the first nine of his match against Somerville, apparently fearing that he would have to wind himself up and spin about rapidly to down the Canadian champion. In the afternoon he coasted along easily enough and turned in a much less respectable score, but when it became necessary to get the match over and have a bit of tea, he did so per se.

One Seeded Player Survives.

That's about all one could say about Mr. Jones today except that a gallery of 7,000 persons tagged him through both matches whether they were seeing a match or not.

When night had begun to fall here—and it was falling fast when that McCarthy-Von Elm match was finished, there was but one seeded player left in the tourney, or quarter finals.

A seeded player, in case you shouldn't know, is one who is selected by the tournament committee of the U. S. G. A. as a golfer likely to make trouble for Robert Jones over an eighteen-hole round, and, as a consequence must be, and is, so dropped into the drawing as to keep him away from Mr. Jones until Mr. Jones gets his sealegs, as it were.

A whole hatful of these elected gentlemen dropped out in the qualifying round, including Don Moe and Harrison Johnston, the defending champion. Then in the first round today young Lawson Little, of California, seized Dr. Oscar F. Willing and whirled him far into the night of defeatism.

Johnny Lehman, Western amateur champion, then stepped on T. Phil Perkins and Charles Koscis, of Detroit, a 17-year-old sensation, eliminated Francis Ouimet, 3 and 2, causing Mr. Ouimet to exclaim that Koscis is the finest young golfer in the world.

Maurice McCarthy, who barely qualified by dint of a hole in one on

Says: This is the time of year when the agricultural fairs are flourishing. Some of the younger generation of the large cities probably have never had the opportunity to visit one of these excellent places of entertainment and instruction. But they are familiar to all our rural inhabitants and to most of the older urban population who have been recruited from the country.

These exhibitions of farm stock and produce, from the field and from the kitchen, are considered so important in stimulating and improving agriculture that they generally are encouraged by liberal appropriations from the State treasury. But their revenues, sometimes very large, are mainly derived from charges for admission. They are nearly all mutual benefit associations so that there are no personal profits and the whole income goes for maintenance.

The more modern and intricate forms of amusement are not able to detract from the wholesome pleasure that youth and age derive from the old-fashioned fair and cattle show. These autumn days will carry many, through cherished memories, back to them. They are a natural expression of human social instinct and friendly rivalry which nothing entirely can displace.

JIM REED TO STRIKE REPUBLICAN CLAIMS

FARM BOARD IS RAPPED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Former Senator James A. Reed's contribution to the Democratic campaign this fall will be to strike out with that vitrolic tongue of his at the Republicans' two greatest talking points—that the depression is a natural development and that it would have been worse had it not been for President Hoover's quick action.

The former senator returned to Washington yesterday from a several months trip to Europe, and facing some 30 newspapermen with the inevitable cigar in the corner of his mouth and his thumbs in his galluses, he charged that the Coolidge administration was responsible for the stock market crash and Mr. Hoover was responsible for its spreading into a general depression.

He mentioned neither gentleman by name, which is an unusual restraint for the senator, but said their activities were shining examples of what the Government does by interfering with business.

"The sooner we come to the realization that the Government is solely for the protection of people and not to run business—that business can best be conducted by the business men who understand it—the sooner we will cease to have these troubles," he declared.

The stock market situation was obviously a speculative one, he declared, encouraged and created by the Coolidge administration through the issuance of such statements as "the country's resources are unlimited" and by permitting the diversion of millions of Federal Reserve Board funds into speculative channels.

Then when the crash came no one but the gamblers lost their money, he declared. "It was strictly a local situation."

But Mr. Hoover, instead of letting it remain a local disturbance, the senator continued, called his business conference and "thereby said to the country and the world 'we are in a terrible fix.'"

The word of his emergency conferences spread over to Europe, he said, and caused the people over there to

POSTAL HEAD ASKS $43,000,000 FUND

CUT ON LEASES IS AIM

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

A program calling for an expenditure of $43,000,000 in the next five years for the acquisition or construction of postoffice buildings was made public at the White House yesterday.

The program was recommended to President Hoover by Postmaster General Brown and, if the President approves it, Congress will be asked to enact legislation to carry it out.

Such a program, the Postmaster General told the President, would enable the Government to terminate leases it now has on some 200 postoffice buildings, and ultimately would result in a substantial saving.

The recommendation of Postmaster General Brown grows out of the so-called postoffice lease scandal, which broke at the last session of Congress and it comes just two weeks in advance of a senatorial investigation of postoffice leases.

Last winter, Representative Melvin J. Maas (Republican), of Minnesota, charged that millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money was being wasted by the Postoffice Department in its policy of leasing buildings for postoffices. A case in point, he said, was the building which the department leased in St. Paul.

Here, he said, the Government was paying an annual rental of $120,000 for a building which a court has held to be worth only $334,000—a return of more than 30 per cent for the owner.

The owner of the building, Maas brought out, was a Chicago firm headed by David Kulp, which appears to have been in the business of leasing buildings to the Postoffice Department. After persuading the Government to strike out a clause in the lease for the St. Paul building, a clause whereby the Government could cancel the lease in 90 days, Representative Maas charged, the Kulp firm issued bonds against the building totaling $1,150,000—this although a court has held that the property is worth only $334,000.

Representative Maas, although he made many fiery speeches in the House, was unable to get action until he persuaded two members of the Senate—Nye, of North Dakota, and

48 Members of Society Are Executed by Soviet Government Officials Among Those Put to Death on Charges of Plotting to Destroy Food Reserves of Nation.

Moscow, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—All members of a secret Counter-Revolutionary Society, numbering 48, who were found guilty of seeking to starve the population of the Soviet Union by destroying the food reserves of the country, were shot today by the Ogpu as "unreconcilable enemies of the Soviet government and active Counter-Revolutionists."

Prof. Alexander Ryazantzev and Eugene Karatyguin headed the list of executed government officials as the initiators and organizers of the society.

On September 22, the Soviet Government announced the disclosure of a powerful Counter Revolutionary Society embracing organizations of the meat, fish, vegetable and other food industries as well as the Commissariat of Trade and State Planning institutions.

The Ogpu (Secret Police) charged the society with striving to create a food panc throughout the country, thus exciting the resentment of the population and preparing the ground for overthrow of the proletarian dictatorship. The authorities said it was the purpose of the conspirators to establish a bourgeois democracy.

The society was stated to be headed by Prof. Alexander Ryazantzev, chairman of the meats products department of the commissariat, formerly a rich landowner and a general in the Czarist army. The society included high officials in all branches of the Soviet food producing and distributing institutions. Most of the members were former noblemen, Czarist officers, manufacturers and property owners.

The Secret Police declared that according to a confession which they obtained the society was initiated and subsidized by a British meat packing firm.

Those arrested were understood to have been tried by a police body instead of the Supreme Court.

BISHOP CANNON DOUBTS IF NEW MOVE IS LEGAL

Prelate Statement Says Nature of Charges Is Unknown to Him.

CLAIMS CHURCH LAW WAS NOT FOLLOWED

Now En Route to America to Contest Action Against Him.

SAYS ELDERS SHOULD HAVE CONSULTED HIM

Declares His Request for Data on Accusations Was Met by Refusal.

S. S. American Legion, at Sea, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, today made a statement to the Associated Press concerning charges recently made by clergymen regarding his activities, political and otherwise, the first word received from the Southern bishop since his departure, some weeks ahead of schedule, from Brazil. The statement follows:

"September 8, without previous intimations, I received by cable from Washington, 'Acting under paragraph 252, Discipline, we give you notice that we are inquiring into your case. (Signed) Prettyman, Mastin, Harrell, Martin.'

"Paragraph 253 says: 'Three traveling elders, after notice to a bishop, shall carefully inquire into his case if they believe an investigation necessary and shall report the matter then to another bishop.'

Answered Cable Immediately.

"I cabled immediately: 'I desire to answer all charges. My absence involves a great disadvantage. I insist upon the disciplinary provision that "Three elders carefully inquire after notifying the bishop" clearly implies conferring with the bishop before asking an investigation.'

"'It is impossible for me to reach Washington before October 2. The Brazilians insisted that I remain for annual conferences and I had promised to deliver temperance addresses, thus arriving at Washington November 25, but will be at Washington on whatever date is specified after October 2.'

"'I desire to know the nature of the accusations.'

"They (the three elders) cabled refusing to grant me the right to confer and delining to express an opinion up to the date of my leaving Brazil.

Cabled Friend to See Elders.

"I immediately cabled a friend to see the elders, stating that under the circumstances I considered it improper for me to continue to participate in the Brazilian conference, and that I was sailing on the first steamer, arirving October 1. I insisted that I would contest the legality of the procedure if a request

Police in Norfolk Halt Jail Mutiny

Fifty Prisoners Refuse to Return to Cells and Jeer Guards.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—All available police were called to the Norfolk City Jail tonight shortly after 9 o'clock in quelling disorder there.

About 50 prisoners were said to have refused to return to their cells and were creating a disturbance.

When the trouble first began, two uniformed men were sent to the jail, but the prisoners jeered them and advised them against entering the cell block in an effort to compel them to return to their cells. Reinforcements were immediately summoned, as was Col. S. W. Ironmonger, chief of police.

TRIPLE INQUIRY IS LAUNCHED IN FIFTH HUB FIRE

5-Alarm Blaze, Causing $50,000 Loss, Held Suspicious.

UNDERWRITERS SEEK POLICE COOPERATION

Shelby Comments Upon Employes' Reticence as to Cause.

MAN REPORTED SEEN RUNNING FROM SPOT

Three separate investigations were under way last night as police and fire department officials with insurance underwriters sought the cause of a five-alarm fire which yesterday morning destroyed the Hub Furniture Co. warehouse at First and L streets northeast. It was the fifth fire which has occurred in Hub warehouses since February 8, 1929.

Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the fire, which caused approximately $50,000 damage to the warehouse, was begun yesterday by the Police Department at the request of Fire Marshal Charles G. Achstetter.

Although a preliminary Fire Department report fixed the total damages at $50,000, the loss was placed at about $12,000 by E. M. Kaufman, manager of the firm.

Building Valued at $18,000.

The building, a total loss, was valued at $18,000 by Wilbur F. Nash, owner. Only a shell of the structure remained as the flames died.

Inspector William S. Shelby said last night that three circumstances in connection with the blaze brought the fire-gutted building into the scope of a Police Department probe.

He outlined them as: Failure of fifteen men who were employed in the building when the fire broke out to give any information as to its origin.

Man Reported Fleeing Scene.

A report that a Negro driving a truck was seen to hurry from a doorway from which smoke was seen issuing a few minutes later.

The fact that the blaze is one of a series which have had their origin in Hub Co. buildings in recent months has given rise to the suspicion that an incendiary is at work.

Shelby announced that he has been given a list of every furniture company employe who has access to the building. Their records will be scrutinized and those who recommended them for employment will be questioned in an effort to determine if there is a "firebug" in their number.

Girls Notice Blaze.

The blaze was seen by two girls who notified A. W. Tucker, president of the Washington Envelope Co., in the block occupied by the Hub structure. He gave the first alarm by telephone. Other alarms brought police reserves and many pieces of fire apparatus to the scene. Dense clouds of black smoke filled the atmosphere and firemen were forced to don gas masks as they fought to save nearby structures from the flames.

Buildings threatened included the Jacobs Transfer Co., the Washington Paper Co., the Cook and District Waste Paper Co., Union Storage, Chesapeake & Potomac and Woodward & Lothrop's warehouses.

Two Firemen Injured.

Two firemen were injured, neither seriously. Private J. H. Nicholson, of Rescue Squad No. 2, received a lacerated forefinger of the right hand, and Private Frank B. Donaldson, of No. 13 Truck Co., was overcome by smoke. Both returned to duty after being treated by Dr. L. J. Green, of Casualty Hospital. Both Casualty and Emergency Hospitals

Campbell Says Mrs. Willebrandt Intended to Place Facts in Anselmo Case Before Hoover, but Heard Nothing Further From Her.

Eighteenth of a series of articles by the former prohibition administrator of the Eastern New York district.

By MAJ. MAURICE CAMPBELL.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt told me on March 15, 1929, that she intended to place before President Hoover and Attorney General Mitchell the details of the prosecutions of Peter Anselmo and his cabaret, Peter's Blue Hour, with particular references to his being given immunity.

Whether the matter was actually taken to the President I do not know. He might have found it an illuminating example of how a noble experiment is worked out by Federal appointees.

I will now relate one of the most interesting of the prohibition cases that have been handled by the office of United States Attorney Tuttle, who has lately been busy smelling out rats in the New York City administration.

Peter Anselmo pleaded guilty of possessing liquor and on March 31, 1920, was fined $60. He and his employes have been arrested on liquor charges several times since then, but no other conviction is recorded against him.

How Anselmo Got Off.

Indictments for conspiracy and maintaining a nuisance were returned against Anselmo following the 20 night club raids of June 29, 1928. The vigorous prosecutors sent from Washington (and Mr. Tuttle in one instance) obtained criminal convictions in 19 of these 20 night club cases, but there was none in the case of Anselmo. Anselmo received immunity as a result of being forced by Robert B. Watts, Mr. Tuttle's prohibition assistant, to testify against dry

ACT HAILED IN ISLANDS

(Associated Press.)

Nicholas Roosevelt, New York editorial writer, about whose head a storm of protest raged several months ago when he was named vice governor of the Philippines, resigned from that post yesterday and was appointed by President Hoover as Minister to Hungary.

He will succeed J. Butler Wright, former Assistant Secretary of State, who is being transferred from Budapest to serve as Minister to Uruguay. The post at Montevideo was opened by the resignation of Leland Harrison announced yesterday at the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt's resignation and new appointment came even before he had departed for his Philippine assignment.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Roosevelt said Philippine leaders had broadcast "misrepresentations" of his views, and that this "one-sided propaganda has tended to create in the Philippine Islands a state of mind prejudicial to my present usefulness as vice governor."

Rather than have a controversy over his views complicate fundamental Philippine issues to come up for consideration at the next session or embarrass Philippine-American relations, Mr. Roosevelt said he believed his services would be more useful elsewhere.

In accepting the resignation, President Hoover said he appointed Mr.

ITALO-FRENCH NAVY NEGOTIATIONS FAIL

COUNTER MOVE BLAMED

Geneva, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—While the assembly of the League of Nations was rallying enthusiastically tonight to expedite its disarmament program, the Italian government's representatives announced that their technical negotiations here with French experts have ended in flat failure.

This acknowledgement cast a cloud of gloom over Geneva, where leaders of half a hundred nations have been hopng that some means of adjusting the troublesome Franco-Italian naval differences might soon be reached. There is no hope, according to informed Italian quarters, for anything to be gained by further conversations here which have been conducted between Rene Massigli, the French, and Augusto Rosso, the Italian expert.

When it was suggested that Rome and Paris might pick up their discussions with some hope of an ultimate solution, there was a shrug of regretful pessimism which said, "we do not know."

The course of the negotiations now acknowledged fruitless was described authoritatively from the Italian side somewhat in this way. Recent proposals from the Mussolini government suggested that Italy, under certain conditions, would agree to French superiority in total naval tonnage of 100,000 tons approximately. In craft below 10,000 tons Italy, however, required parity in numbers with a right to shift its tonnage into smaller.

Judge Holds Women Can Sit As Members of Grand Jury

Justice Luhring, Sitting for First Time Since Appointment, Also Upholds Presence of Deputy Marshal in Inquisitorial Room.

Sitting as a judge for the first time since he ceased to be an Assistant Attorney General, Justice Oscar R. Luhring, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, yesterday ruled that women have as much right under the law to be members of grand juries as men.

Justice Luhring, despite the fact that he was inducted into his judicial office several weeks ago, only just now has been called to the bench. At the same time he ruled that the presence in the grand jury room of a deputy marshall does not invalidate an indictment.

The decision was rendered in the case of Ardie Swortzell and John C. Elgin, who with James Crotts, are under indictment jointly on a charge of conspiracy to extort money from a woman who is alleged to have conducted a disorderly house.

Both of these points were raised by Attorney Crandall Mackey, counsel for Swortzell and Elgin, and also encompass similar points raised by attorneys for the F. H. Smith Co. and its former officials and directors who are under indictment.

Justice Luhring declared when Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw presented the Government's case that he believed women were legally entitled to sit on grand juries. In regard to the right of a deputy marshal to be present in the grand jury room he said he was doubtful, but in view of the fact that Justice Peyton Gordon had given his approval of it in a former hearing on a plea he made a similar decision. However, Attorney Mackey was permitted his exceptions, which, according to the lawyer, means the matter will be taken to the Court of Appeals.

Hearing on the pleas in abatement in the Smith company case went over. It was understood that this was because Justice Luhring, at the time of the return of the indictments, was an official of the Department of Justice.

League Commission Has Done Nothing, Says Von Bernstorff.

LORD CECIL, IN REPLY, BEGS FOR PATIENCE

ITALO-FRENCH RIFT IMPERILS PROGRESS

Satisfaction With Results of London Pact Expressed in Assembly Resolution.

Geneva, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—A vehement and sometimes impatient demonstration, urging the hastening of the League of Nations disarmament program and early calling of a general conference for reduction and limitation of armaments, was witnessed in the league assembly's disarmament committee tonight.

From this rally there arose a promise of J. J. Louden, chairman of the preparatory disarmament commission that the commission would meet November 3 and fervidly seek to finish its task of clearing the way completely for a congress of all nations to construct a scheme of general disarmament. Voices from countries that were neutral during the World War joined those from states which were disarmed by the war in the demand that the league should get along quickly its long delayed purpose of inducing nations to lay aside their fighting.

After a frank outburst of impatient criticism from Count Bernstorff of Germany, who declared that the preparatory commission "has done nothing," Viscount Cecil, representing Great Britain, counseled patience and urged that the preliminary work should be well and thoroughly done. Delegates of France and Italy, whose controveray over their relative naval strength constitutes the most obvious obstacle in the way of the disarmament program, did not join in the demonstration. But the lateness of the hour brought to a sudden termination the discussion before an opportunity was presented for all to unburden themselves.

Cites London Treaty.

Meanwhile, in French and Italian quarters it was indicated that the technical conversations which had been going on in Geneva are making no progress and that there is no immediate prospect of a hopeful announcement.

Loudon's statement was provoked by rumors current here that the preparatory commission might not hold its scheduled session in November in view of the Italo-French situation. It disposed of all speculation as to the fact of the meeting, but aroused other talk as to the degree of success the commission could hope to attain. Loudon reminded the assembly committee, which is composed of representatives of all league members, that his commission had not met since spring, 1929. Its work was interrupted, he said, in order to consider certain proposals by the American delegation and to give time for developments at the London naval conference.

He spoke of the agreement reached at London and particularly that dealing with and regulating the use of submarines and asserted that the preparatory commission now was ready to resume.

Lauds Public Impatience.

"Apart from naval questions," he asserted, "there remain the questions of effectives, materials and budgetary expenditures, which the commission must consider. The public is becoming impatient and this impatience is salutary."

He expressed optimism concerning the task before he commission and referred with appreciation to the "initiative of the United States" at the last session. "Our two committees worked well and I have no hesitation in saying the preparatory commission is firmly decided to complete its task in November. Then it will be for the council to fix as soon as possible the date of the disarmament conference."

Christian Lange, Norway's delegate, welcomed Loudon's statement and declared, "it is time for the preparatory work to come to an end."

Hungarian Halls Reduction.

He emphasized the importance of the facts revealed by the construction of the German cruiser Ersatz Preussen. It will be indispensable for a real disarmament that it provides a limitation of expenditures as well as of personnel and materials, he asserted, adding, "we must limit quality as well as quantity."

The general conference when called must provide the mechanism for carrying on the work it begins through further conferences.

Gen. Gabriel Tanczos, a handsome monocled figure who had a distinguished career in the Hungarian army in the World War, also hailed the move to expedite disarmament. He pointed out the striking contrast between the defeated nations and their conquerors, one stripped of arms and the other with powerful military, naval and air forces. This state of unilateral disarmament, he declared, was intolerable.

Accusation by Bernstorff.

Count Von Bernstorff, who was Germany's ambassador at Washington in 1917, spoke with ironical crispness of the present status of armaments, and the league's program.

"The preparatory commission has done absolutely nothing," he said. "The only progress toward disarmament made in the last 10 years has been outside the league." With a grin he thanked his colleagues for the tribute paid to German technical skill in the building of the Ersatz Preussen.

Lord Cecil, closing the discussion, agreed with the German spokesman's desire for hastening the program, but deprecated his impatience.

To say that the preparatory commission has done nothing, he said, bowing to Von Bernstorff, "is, I am sure, an exaggeration. It has done a great deal toward concluding the task committed to it."

Lord Cecil Asks Patience.

The British veteran statesman also asserted that too great impetuosity would injure the cause of world disarmament. He urged that a general conference not be called until thorough preparation for its success should have been made.

"Some of us do not appreciate the immense extent of this task," Lord Cecil said. "Peace is the big work of the league, of course, but I consider that peace can not be secured without disarmament. We are going to do a thing never before done in this world if we succeed. Impatience, however justified, will never assist our progress. Let us be patient."

Before adjourning, the disarmament committee received a resolution drafted by its reporter, Jose Matos, of Guatemala, which expressed the satisfaction of the assembly with the results obtained at the London conference and urged a pursuit of the negotiations to completion in November so that a general conference on limitation of armaments might be facilitated.

The resolution expressed gratification that the London results were of a nature "to facilitate a general agreement on the occasion of the next meeting of the preparatory commission regarding the methods to be applied in the matter of reduction and limitation of naval armaments."

FRANCE AND ITALY NAVY PARLEY FAILS

faster boats, regarded as suited to Italy's defense needs.

This proposal for a ratio below 10,000 tons, however, is said to have failed when the French wished to define more closely than Italy had suggested the categories from and to which tonnage could be transferred.

These proposals contemplated only a period until 1936. By gaining numerical parity in the smaller categories, Italy expected, it is said, to gain recognition of her right to parity, and by having the right to transfer her tonnage freely. She felt her defense needs might still be served in spite of her global tonnage inferiority.

Rome, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Italo-French naval conversations at Geneva have been broken off completely, according to a spokesman of the foreign office tonight. The Hitch was declared here to have come over a French counter-proposal whereby France, between 1930 and 1936, would be allowed to build naval vessels on a basis of one and one-half units to Italy's one. The Italians considered this a backward step from the London conference and turned it down, the spokesman averred.

"It was pointed out here tonight that Italy had proposed the joint meeting of naval experts in Paris August 18. Italy also suggested inclusion of the British, but France objected. The Italians proposed that the number of naval units as well as tonnage be considered. Italy, the spokesman said, made considerable concessions to the French and, on the whole, the French seemed to like the plan, which did not, however, amount to giving parity to the two powers.

The scene of discussion was transferred to Geneva, where the French expert suddenly produced a counter proposal giving France the right to build up to one and one-half of Italy's strength in six years.

The Italians, while admitting that they took the initiative in ending the negotiations, pointed out that it was Foreign Minister Grandi, in a chamber of deputies speech last May, who suggested the discussion, and who, in a senate speech, launched the idea of a naval holiday.

Prescription Forgery Is Charged to Woman

Mariane McCullough, of New Rochelle, N. Y., was arraigned yesterday in Police Court before Judge Gus A. Schuldt and was ordered held for grand jury action on a charge of forging the name of a physician to a prescription for narcotics. Bond was fixed at $2,000.

At the same time the woman and William Leviness, of Mount Vernon, Va., were arraigned on a statutory charge and upon conviction each was given a sentence of $25 or 25 days. In the case of the woman the Government recommended hospital treatment, a suggestion approved by the judge.

HOME OWNERSHIP CONFERENCE OPENS

President Addresses Members of His Committee at White House.

PLAN SURVEY OF FIELD

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday inaugurated his conference on home building and home ownership and in a speech to its planning committee said the "greatest present field for the absorption of our surplus national energy lies in better housing."

Twenty-eight of the 33 members of the committee met and organized at the White House and later heard the President.

The surplus energy Mr. Hoover referred to was the "stream of workers" constantly released from established industry as a result of improvement of method and labor-saving devices. This energy, the President said, must be absorbed in "new or expanding industries if we would have for them employment and the articles or services which comprise advancing standards of living."

Mr. Hoover said the second mortgage system of financing homes was the "most backward segment of our whole credit system," and that it was much easier to buy an automobile on the installment plan than it was to purchase a house.

Asks Complete Survey.

"Part of the difficulty," he added, "lies in inadequate financial organizations and part of it you will find in obsolete laws."

The President asked the committee to survey the entire field of housing, including the apartment and rural phases.

"It should be possible in our country," he said, "for anybody of sound character and industrious habits to provide himself with adequate housing and preferably to buy his own home."

The President said there were some emergency questions arising from the present depression which the committee could assist in solving, and while it obviously was not the purpose to set up the Federal Government in the building of homes there were many questions of local government involved.

"It is my hope," he said, "that out of this inquiry and the conferences that will follow it, we should make so well founded a contribution to our national understanding as to give direction and coordination to thought and action throughout the country."

More Than Comfort Involved.

"Adequate housing," President Hoover continued, "goes to the very roots of the well being of the family, and the family is the social unit of the Nation.

"It is more than comfort that is involved; it has important aspects of health and morals and education and the provision of a fair chance for growing childhood.

"Nothing contributes more for greater happiness or for sounder social stability than the surroundings of their homes. It should be possible in our country for anybody of sound character and industrious habits to provide himself with adequate housing and preferably to buy his own home."

Habeas Corpus Asked To Fight Extradition

William Mayo Humphries, alleged confidence man wanted in New York, and who was ordered returned to that jurisdiction following a commissioner's hearing several days ago, yesterday filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Humphries' plea was acted on by Justice Oscar R. Luhring, who ordered a hearing on the writ September 29, and fixed a bond of $15,000.

Humphries claims that despite the fact he is a resident of the District he is being unlawfully detained and at the removal hearing no lawful papers were presented to warrant his removal.

Atlantan Is Promoted To Railway Post Here

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—E. R. Oliver, vice president of the Southern Railway, announced today promotion of Brooks G. Brown, freight traffic manager of the system, at Atlanta, to general freight traffic manager, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. George H. Wilcox, assistant freight traffic manager at Atlanta, succeeds Mr. Brown as traffic manager.

The position to be filled by Mr. Brown was recently created by action of the board of executives. The promotions are effective October 1, 1930. Mr. Brown has been with the system for 31 years and Mr. Wilcox for 23 years.

Col. Tracy Appointed Army War College Aid

Col. Joseph P. Tracy, now chief of staff of the Philippine department, has been assigned as assistant commandant of the Army War College in this city, it was announced yesterday at the War Department.

Col. Tracy is a native of Washington, having been born here October 4, 1874. He was graduated from West Point in 1896. He served in Cuba in the war with Spain, and later was sent to the Philippines. In the World War, he trained the Thirty-sixth Coast Artillery regiment at Fort Eustis, Va.

Clara Bow Gamnig Report Is Ignored

Paramount Takes Hands-Off Policy as Cinema Star Stays in Seclusion.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—B. P. Schulberg, Paramount studio official, today took cognizance of Reno, Nev., reports that Clara Bow, red-headed film actress had repudiated $13,900 in checks given to cover alleged gambling losses, but said it was a matter of Miss Bow's that did not concern the studio. Simultaneously, Will Rogers, humorist, denied Reno reports he had introduced Miss Bow to James McKay, manager of the Calneva Lodge, at Lake Tahoe, who claimed the gafbling losses.

"I received the letter this mornng," Schulberg said, "from the law firm of Thatcher & Woodburn. I am replying that it is evident the letter refers to a personal matter of Miss Bow's and not to a matter that concerns Paramount."

The Titian-haired actress remained in seclusion today. Louise Dresser, Hollywood actress who was on location at Lake Tahoe, was named by Mr. McKay as having been with Miss Bow. Miss Dresser denied it.

RUMORS HALT EBB OF WHEAT MARKET

Russia Reported Covering on Recent Short Selling; Cooperatives Buy.

SMALL GAINS AT CLOSE

Chicago, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—A sinking wheat market was snatched from the quicksands of stop-loss sales and general uncertainty today by reports that Russia sought to cover its recent short selling, while Government-sponsored cooperatives purchased heavily on the Minneapolis Exchange.

Both reports beat the closing gong by minutes and came as the market floundered in the deepest hole since 1907. The rally carried prices to from ¼-cent under to ½-cent over Tuesday's closing and permitted them to rest at around 2¾ cents above the day's lows.

Bottom for September deliveries in the feverish selling preceding the rally was reached at 76⅜ cents. Rye and oats swept correspondingly downward to record lows. Corn was only slightly firmer, but, as other cereals, it reflected the last-minute wheat rally and finished with fractional gains.

Amount of Buying Not Revealed.

How much grain was bought by cooperative at Minneapolis was not revealed. The operations were in December deliveries. Nor were the reports of Russian buying actually confirmed.

The fact that Russian and Canadian wheat was pressing for outlet at Liverpool contributed to the market's early frenzy, though buyers later found encouragement in a current statement that even if Russia exported 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, the supply would not fill European requirements for one month.

The business conduct committee of the board of trade went into session after the close to continue its investigation of the charges made by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde that Russia was attempting to depress prices by short-selling. The committee heard no witnesses and made no announcement.

Secretary Hyde was reported to have been in Chicago last night. He was not in touch with board of trade officials.

The American Farm Bureau Federation joined the hunt for alleged Russian abuses of the hedging facilities. Its directors announced they would meet October 2 and 3 to hear reports on Communist activities and to consider a proposed legislative program to limit speculative operation.

Reserve Board Word Waited.

Traders tonight were looking to the opening tomorrow for reflection of an announcement from the Federal Reserve Board, which promised to extend ample credit facilities for financing the marketing of the agricultural crops in an orderly manner.

From Grain Member Samuel R. McKelvie, of the Federal Farm Board, came the statement the Grain Stabilization Corporation was buying relatively small amounts of wheat to be sold later for live stock feed. He made it plain the purchases were in no sense a stabilization operation for the 1930 crop.

Falling Worker Strikes Another; Both Injured

John Randall, 46 years old, of Landover, Md., was seriously injured yesterday when he fell from the top of a 30-foot ladder while he was working on a construction job at the Benning power plant. He suffered a broken left leg and possible internal injuries and was taken to Casualty Hospital for treatment.

In his fall, Randall's hurtling body struck William Skinner, 47 years old, of 601 I street northeast, and knocked him 9 feet to the ground. Skinner sustained four broken ribs and was likewise taken to the hospital.

Knowles Cooper to Talk On Journey to Europe

Social, economic and religious trends in Europe will be discussed by William Knowles Cooper, retired general secretary of the Washington Young Men's Christian Association, in a public lecture at the Central Y. M. C. A. building, 1736 G street, Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Cooper and his family recently returned from abroad. Dr. Cooper made a special study of social and political conditions in the countries he visited. The subject of his address will be "New Impressions of Europe." Women have been invited to hear the talk.

Capital Student Made Purdue Cadet Colonel

Sumner Sigsbee Kittelle, of 2229 California street northwest, a senior in the School of Civil Engineering at Purdue University, has been appointed cadet colonel in the Purdue R. O. T. C. and will have command of the brigade of 1,800 cadets, it was announced yesterday.

He is the son of Rear Admiral S. E. W. Kittelle, president of the board of safety and inspection of the Navy Department, now stationed in Washington.

Gasoline Prices Drop Two Cents Per Gallon

Gasoline prices dropped 2 cents a gallon yesterday to reach the lowest figure in effect here in many weeks. The new price makes straight gasoline available to the consumer at 15.7 cents per gallon, and high test gasoline 18.7 cents, or 20.7 cents a gallon, according to the variety. The price includes the tax.

Prices were also reduced throughout the Eastern Coast territory yesterday.

TAMMANNY LEADERS REFUSE TO TESTIFY

Curry and Kohler Decline to Waive Immunity in Ewald Case.

SAY THEY ARE 'INSULTED'

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, and Charles L. Kohler, city budget director and a Tammany district leader, refused to sign waivers of immunity today before the extraordinary grand jury probing alleged office buying in the city judiciary.

Both declared they had been "insulted" on emerging from brief appearances before the grand jury.

"The only 'insults,' if those gentlemen preferred to construe them as such, were contained in the fact that we asked them to sign waivers," said Hiram C. Todd, special prosecutor in charge of the investigation.

Says Tactics Changed.

Both refused to sign and were excused as witnesses, Todd said, adding:

"Mr. Curry has apparantly changed his tactics. Apparently he is no longer backing his statement that he would aid the investigation in every way."

Mr. Curry was red in the face and bristling with anger when he came out of the grand jury room.

"I received a subpoena, came down here prepared to testify before the grand jury and was insulted," he said.

Mr. Kohler's reaction was equally choleric.

"I came down here to testify in answer to this subpoena," he said, waving the paper in the air. "I was ready to answer any question, but the first thing they asked was to waive immunity. I came here to answer questions, not to sign any papers and I wouldn't sign."

Refuses to Testify.

"Do I consider myself insulted? I absolutely do. I have lived in my district for 40 years and have been in politics for that time and nothing like this ever happened to me before."

Earlier in the day Mrs. Martin J. Healy, whose husband, a Tammany district leader, had been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of accepting $10,000 in consideration of George F. Ewald's appointment as city magistrate, appeared before the grand jury and refused to be sworn in as a witness on the ground that her husband had already been indicted by the body.

Mr. Todd's only comment on Mrs. Healy's action was a statement that he intended to take up the matter with the Supreme Court Justice McCook, who empanneled the grand jury.

Charles S. Hand, former secretary to Mayor Walker and now commissioner of street cleaning, was closeted with the grand jury for about an hour. His testimony was understood to have dealt with the general methods at City Hall for handling recommendations for appointments to judicial posts.

Mr. Todd announced later that every Tammany district leader in Manhattan who has not yet appeared before the grand jury will be subpenaed.

INCENDIARY SUSPECT SOUGHT IN HUB FIRE

$50,000 LOSS IS CAUSED

About 8,000 persons, mostly employes of the surrounding buildings out for lunch, watched the firemen as they fought the blaze. At times the smoke was so dense it was impossible to see a man standing 2 feet away. The sun was completely hidden from view for fifteen minutes. No. 4 Engine Company's pumper went out of commission while at work and had to be replaced.

Record Shows Five Fires.

It was the fifth fire which has occurred in the warehouse of the Hub Furniture Co. since February 8, 1929, Fire Department records show. On that date there occurred a four-alarm fire, the resultant damage being placed at $78,300. The next fire took place on September 16, 1929. That was a one-alarm fire and the fire apparatus arrived before the blaze got much headway and the damage was only $400. The third of the series of fires was on November 21, 1929, and the Fire Department took no chances, the first companies arriving sending in a second alarm immediately. The damage from that fire was fixed at $497.

The last fire before that of yesterday occurred on July 29 and had a good start before the fire apparatus arrived. Like that of yesterday the fire last July resulted in five alarms being sounded, but despite the large amount of equipment summoned to fight it the resulting damage amounted to $149,294.

Of the $50,000 damage caused by the fire yesterday, Fire Marshal Achstetter estimated that $35,000 damage was done to the contents of the warehouse and $15,000 damage was done to the building, which is owned by Wilbur Nash. The five fires have caused a loss of $278,491, the Fire Department estimates.

Cause Not Determined.

The cause of the fire yesterday has not been determined and no cause will be set down in the Fire Department records until the Detective Bureau has completed its investigation of the series of fires, Mr. Achstetter said.

While no evidence of incendiarism had been found in the course of his preliminary investigation, the fire marshal said that the frequency of fires in the same warehouse "looks rather funny" and added that the fire and police departments intend to make a more thorough investigation than had been made of any of the fires in the past.

"If the fires have been due to carelessness of employes, then we want to know it and do something about it, and the Hub Furniture Co., which is a reputable concern, should know that and move to correct the situation," Mr. Achstetter said.

Woman Held on Charge Of Possessing Liquor

Eva E. Sanders, colored, was booked at the Eleventh Precinct on possession charges late yesterday after members of Sergt. George M. Little's liquor squad reported finding a large amount of beer and whisky in her home on Sheridan road near Twenty-sixth street southeast.

Fifty-six bottles of beer, 27 quarts of whisky, 3 quarts of wine and 5 gallons of mash were confiscated.

U. S. Experts State Moths Are Harmless Flying Fools

Housewives Advised That Pests Cluttering Windows Are More to Be Pitied Than Blamed; Migrate From South America and Light Here by Mistake.

The swarms of moths that have invaded the city are on a combination good-will tour, endurance record and a projected transatlantic flight. These visitors present a curious problem to entomologists of the Department of Agriculture.

To allay fears of housewives that clothing may be destroyed by larvae, entomologists give the assurance that they will harm nothing. So if they batter against your window screens, just let them batter their fool heads off. The laugh is on them. They are flying in the wrong direction.

Millions of them descended on the city, cluttering up windows and making themselves generally disagreeable. Just what window dressers are calling them can not be said; but entomologists designate them as Alabama argillacei of the family of noctuidae, which sounds bad enough.

Reduced to simple English they are cotton moths hatched in the cotton States, notably in Texas. Every year parent moths migrate from South America to the cotton States. Then in the late summer they propogate.

When their young develop into moths they leave the family hearth which is generally a cotton leaf and shift for themselves. The youngsters then migrate northward instead of staying where they won't perish by the cold.

Swarms of them travel by night and if a particular city seems suitable they will descend and cluster about lamp posts and store windows until it is time to take off again. Most of them perish in the New England cold. Those who survive try to follow the Lindbergh trail, but die in the attempt. Many reports have come to the department from ship masters telling of invasions of these moths while in midocean.

These moths store up sufficient food during the pupa stage to enable them to stop feeding entirely, so that without any difficulty they eclipse the record of Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine.

REED SCORES CLAIM OF ADMINISTRATION

Former Senator Says Hoover Spread Depression by Conferences.

GIVES DRY LAW VIEWS

say "Things must be in a bad fix in the United States that the President should call such a conference."

A second shining example of how the Government can bungle in business, he said, was the Farm Board's announcement "that it was going to stabilize the price of wheat and then going into the market and buying 60,000,000 bushels.

"As a result—and I have discussed this with others—the grain trade was handicapped always with the knowledge that the Farm Board had this 60,000,000 bushels and could dump it into the market whenever it wanted to.

"And now I see Mr. Arthur Hyde's statement that the poor old Bolsheviks are responsible for the slump. It is so absurd as not to be humorous."

"We talk all about the brotherhood of man," he said, "and then set up a tariff wall that prevents starving people from buying what we want to sell."

Declines to Discuss Plans.

As to whether he intends to remain in retirement it is hard to tell. He would not discuss any plans he may have for 1932 or Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's prospects. His friends are urging him to run either for the Senate or the Presidency in 1932. One is inclined to the belief that if the situation looks good he may do the latter. But it is two years off.

Without referring to Gov. Roosevelt's prohibition repeal proposal, Mr. Reed is nevertheless in conflict with him.

He made it emphatically known that what he wants is the repeal of the eighteenth amendment without any constitutional substitute. Gov. Roosevelt is advocating a Federal guarantee for dry States in the Constitution. Mr. Reed wants prohibition taken entirely out of the Constitution and he pointed out that there is a statute bearing his name which provides that any wet goods going into a dry State may be seized by the State authorities immediately they come into the State. Or if any other legislation is needed to protect the dry States it should be provided but not in the Constitution.

Talks About Prohibition.

He talked considerably about prohibition, not because this was uppermost in his mind, but because it was uppermost in the newspapermen's minds.

The Volstead act he described as the codification of all the bad legislation that has ever been written: "A ghastly law that was written in the blood of Draco."

He would repeal it preliminary to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"If the States can not enforce their police laws," he said, "then we might as well just declare ourselves one big government."

The new prohibition commissioner, Mr. Woodcock, he said, certified to the failure of prohibition enforcement when he said that the Federal Government could not enforce the law without the coopertion of State authorities.

Wet Unto Themselves.

"What does that mean?" Mr. Reed asked. "It means that New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and other States where the people will not stand for that cooperation are to be left outside the enforcement pale—that they are to be wet areas unto themselves."

He called on the people in the forthcoming campaigns to demand of all candidates where they stood on prohibition, and indicated that he would have something to say later about this new movement that has sprung up among senators and among senatorial aspirants whereby instead of assuming leadership on a public question they are saying they will do what their people want.

The senator still has the radio trust in his mind. Somebody asked him about Secretary of Labor Davis and his campaign expenditures.

Passes Up Question.

He passed up the question laughingly as he did one relating to Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's expenditures and said:

"The last I heard of Jimmy Davis he was speaking before the radio trust, congratulating them on having given employment to 20,000 men and overlooking the fact that to do this they had to cut off 42,000 men and all in Pennsylvania.

The senator intends leaving for Kansas City this morning. He came here on private business and has had no political discussions beyond those, of course, with his friends who went to New York to meet him.

The indications are that he intends to be right active in the campaign, but that like the independent Senator Borah he will not be booked by national headquarters. It will just be "Jim" Reed himself on his own itinerary and saying what he pleases.

Grain Corporation Buying Feed Wheat

McKelvie Says Purchases Not to Be Regarded as Stabilization.

(Associated Press.)

The Farmers National Grain Corporation was said yesterday by Samuel R. McKelvie, grain member of the Farm Board, to be buying wheat in small amounts to be sold for live stock feed.

Earlier in the day Mr. McKelvie had said the grain stabilization corporation was making purchases of wheat, also to be sold for live stock feed to farmers in the drought areas. While the stabilization corporation did buy wheat for that purpose at the inception of drought relief efforts, Mr. McKelvie said last night its purchases for that reason have stopped.

In no case, he emphasized, were the purchases to be regarded as a stabilization operation for the 1930 crop. The amount of wheat now held by the corporation will be maintained at its present figure, of between 60,000,000 and 65,000,000 bushels. Mr. McKelvie expressed the opinion that from the extent that wheat is now being used and purchased for live stock feed 150,000,000 bushels would be used for that purpose this winter.

Police Seek Missing Girl.

Police last night broadcast a lookout for Miss Eva Shaefer, 17, who was reported missing from her home at 3017 Dumbarton avenue northwest, since 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The girl is of medium build, and has brown hair and blue eyes. Seventh Precinct detectives said that she had wandered from her home on several previous occasions.

TRIALS FOR PERJURY ARE HINTED BY NYE

Statement Is Made as Result of Hearing on Grocer's Nebraskan Candidacy.

LAWYER ALTERS STORY

Lincoln, Nebr., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman of the Senate committee investigating the Nebraska primary, announced today that "if the committee can bring it about, certain persons are to be tried for perjury in connection with this hearing."

Senator Nye's statement followed one of the sessions of the inquiry he has been conducting in the brief candidacy of a second George W. Norris for the Nebraska Republican senatorial nomination. During the session A. Paul Johnson, Broken Bow, Nebr., attorney, had altered his story concerning the filing of the second Norris, a Broken Bow grocer.

Johnson, who had previously told the committee that the grocer's filing had been his own idea, testified today that it was engineered by Victor Seymour, assistant vice chairman of the Western Republican senatorial campaign committee. Johnson said Seymour paid the $50 filing fee for the second Norris and he added that he believed Seymour mailed a $500 bond which he (Johnson) received and placed in the hands of Norris.

The grocer, whose name is the same as that of the senior Nebraska senator, then took the stand and admitted his entrance into the campaign was not of his own volition and that he had received the $500 bond. The committee started an investigation of Seymour's bank account.

Howard Freeman, cashier of the First National Bank of Lincoln, testified that a check of the records of his bank, where Seymour kept an account, and of the records of the First Trust Co., which is affiliated with the First National, showed no transactions with Seymour on bonds within the last three years.

Denver, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Apprised of a statement by Senator Gerald P. Nye at Lincoln that perjury charges might be preferred against "certain persons" in connection with hearings on the Nebraska primary, Victor Seymour today reiterated he had no connection with the candidacy of George W. Norris, "the second."

He talked with Nye by telephone this morning, he added, and assured the investigating committee chairman he would be glad to appear for questioning after the middle of November.

"I told Senator Nye," said Seymour, "I would be glad to appear before the Senate committee in Washington after I complete my duties here as manager of the Western Republican senatorial campaign office and he indicated that would be satisfactory. I telephoned him after seeing an article in a newspaper about the hearing now in progress.

"I know nothing about the candidacy of the second Norris and I can't imagine why I am being dragged into this. In view of the accusations being made, I thought that in fairness to me, my side of the story ought to be made public."

Guilty Plea Is Entered To Save Court Crowding

Roy Huff, Negro, of Hyattsville, Md., pleaded guilty in Police Court yesterday to a charge of larceny and was ordered to serve the next 60 days in jail.

Huff when arraigned told Judge Gus A. Schuldt that he should plead not guilty and demand a jury trial. "But," said the man, "I've heard all about this court congestion in the District, and if I plead not guilty and demand a jury trial I'm liable to be in jail for longer than you'll give me." "Well, under those circumstances," said the judge, "I'll make the sentence as light as possible. Sixty days." Huff was charged with stealing articles from parked automobiles.

Count Against Donahoe Is Dismissed in Court

Charges of taking property without authority lodged against Edward Donahoe were dismissed in Police Court yesterday because of lack of prosecution.

Donahoe claimed that the employer for whom he worked owed him money for plans he had worked on. Later, according to his attorney, Martin F. O'Donoughue, he was unable to collect and confiscated the blue prints. The charged filed in Police Court is said to have been the result. At any rate, the former employer failed to appear in Police Court yesterday to prosecute the charge and the case was dropped.

GROCER NORRIS PLAN DISAVOWED BY FESS

G. O. P. Chairman and Aids of Moses Denounce Move Against Senator.

NYE WILL PUSH INQUIRY

Senator Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the Republican national committee, and assistants of Senator George H. Moses, chairman of the Republican senatorial committee, yesterday disclaimed any effort to undo Senator George W. Norris, insurgent leader of the Senate. They "do not know Victor Seymour," the man who helped to launch the candidacy of George W. Norris, 31-year-old grocer of Broken Bow, Nebr., for the Republican nomination. They think that the effort to force Mr. Norris to run independent was a "smart alec" trick of an amateur political wire puller.

Senator Moses is in the West and was due to visit Minneapolis last night. No one at his office could speak for him, but it was explained that Seymour was not appointed from there, and he drew no salary from the central committee. It was suggested that Senator Frederick Seiwer, of Oregon, who is manager of the Western campaign for the Senate committee, employed Seymour.

Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, said that Senator Nye had done a good piece of work in digging out the facts, and predicted that the Senate would want to know more about the Seymour plan and the testimony.

"I am glad they found out who was behind the plan to embarrass Senator Norris," said he. "It shows the kind of politics that Senator Norris's opponents ried to play to bring about his defeat. It is time such trickery was exposed."

A demand for dismissal of Seymour will be made to Senator Moses and Senator Steiwer. Republican candidates believe that widespread publication of testimony of Grocer Norris, his attorney, and others will hurt them in their contests in November.

Senator Nye is going to Colorado and it is believed here that Seymour will be questioned by his committee on the Nebraska primary campaign and his part in it.

Doctor Petitions Court For Change in His Name

Dr. Bernard Jay Gurevich, of 428 Seventh street southwest, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to change his name to Bernard Jay Gurwin.

Dr. Gurevich tells the court that he is generally known socially and professionally as Dr. Gurwin. He declares that his present name is weighty and hard to pronounce and spell. Attorney Joseph C. Luraci appears for him.

Woman Slightly Hurt When Struck by Auto

Mrs. Geana D. Gibbs, 42, of 1824 H street northwest, was treated for minor sprains and bruises at Emergency Hospital yesterday after she had been knocked down at Nineteenth and G streets northwest by a car driven by Charles S. Dulaney, of 1831 Kalorama road northwest. Mrs. Gibbs is said to have stepped from the curb directly in the path of the machine.

She was sent to her home after receiving treatment.

U. S. OFFICIAL SHOT BY WIDOW IN COURT

Woman, 60, Also Fires at Judge; Was Enraged at Enid, Okla., Decision.

ROOM THROWN IN PANIC

Enid, Okla., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Angered by an unfavorable court decision, Mrs. Dolly Douthitt, eccentric 60-year-old widow, probably fatally wounded H. Z. Wedgwood, United States Commissioner, and fired a wild shot at District Judge Arthur Sutton, of Alva, today in the Garfield County district courtroom here.

Mrs. Douthitt, acquitted 26 years ago of the murder of her husband, W. T. Douthitt, snatched a revolver from her clothing and fired just after Judge Sutton had announced a decision in favor of Wedgwood, whom she had accused in a lawsuit of "persecuting" her.

The first bullet struck the commissioner, wounding him in the abdomen. The next missed the presiding judge. Roy Elam, young attorney, disarmed the maddened woman, with the help of court attaches, as she attempted to shoot him.

The courthouse was thrown into an uproar. About 30 persons were in the courtroom and panic prevailed there. In other parts of the building the shots were heard and it was believed prisoners in the county jail atop the building were attempting to escape.

Mrs. Douthitt was placed in jail and the filing of charges awaited the outcome of Wedgwood's injuries.

H. G. Sturgis, pioneer Enid lawyer, who as county attorney prosecuted Mrs. Douthitt for the slaying of her husband in 1904, said Douthitt was shot as he started out the door of his farmhouse to milk his cows. The Douthitt farm since has been engulfed by the growing City of Enid and Mrs. Douthitt has become a wealthy property owner. The farmhouse, made unhabitable by fire, was shunned by the young and superstitious as "haunted" until it was torn down about a year ago.

Mrs. Douthitt has engaged in numerous lawsuits and of late years has acted as her own attorney. She was sitting at the counsel table today.

Judge Sutton was especially assigned to hear seven cases in which she was a litigant because she charged the local judges were prejudiced. Judge O. C. Wybrant, one of the regular jurists, was a defendant in one of the suits.

Canadian Plant Seen For Crucible Steel Co.

Toronto, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The evening Telegram says there is a possibility the Crucible Steel Co. of the United States will establish a Canadian plant either at Toronto or between Toronto and Hamilton.

If such a plant is established it would be operated by a company incorporated under Canadian laws. The recently enacted tariff raised the duty on iron and steel.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THE season has now arrived when one will frequently read in the papers that Mr. A. Zolowski, president of the American Polish League, or some similar league, was in the Nation's Capital yesterday and issued a statement that all the Poles in this country would support the Republicans this fall, or the Democrats, as the case may be.

These statements constitute one of the lighter and funniest phases of the publicity work of what have come to be affectionately known as our two major parties.

In the case of the Republicans, Mr. Zolowski will be taken over to the White House and permitted to shake hands with Mr. Newton or Mr. Akerson and in some instances the President, for his kind words. It is not known just how the Democrats go about it, because obviously they haven't access to the White House, but presumably they just play on man's weakness for getting his name in the newspapers.

* * * *

WE don't recall that we have seen any of these statements this year as yet from the Democrats, but they will begin coming in soon. The Republican flow has already begun.

In the first place, it is always doubtful if Mr. Zolowski knows what the Poles, for example, intend to do. If he does or intends to use his influence in directing them to vote a certain way then he is, of course, keeping alive a race consciousness which should not be done.

Of more questionable practice we believe, however, is the practice of labor leaders lending themselves to statements for one party or the other.

* * * *

AND seemingly more questionable is the practice of some of them of taking positions in the party headquarters to handle the engineers' vote, the miners' vote or the longshoremen's vote, and so on.

It has been our observation that very few of the men who hang around party headquarters are there because of a sincere desire to render service to the country. They are there because they expect their favor to be returned.

Now if a labor organization indorses a particular candidate or a party then it would seem to be the clear duty of the leaders to do everything possible toward the candidate's or the party's success.

Lacking an expression by the group which they represent, it would seem that a leader who engages himself to a party to try to influence the vote of the people whom he leads is serving two masters, which very seldom can be successfully done.

* * * *

IT so happens that organized labor has a very definite program for the coming elections which in some instances calls for support of Democrats and in others for the support of Republicans.

That being the case, we wonder just what was the mental process of an official of the engineers' brotherhood who yesterday gave the Republicans a statement saying the engineers were for the Republicans.

The Democrats should not begrudge the Republicans any statements, however. They are having enough hard luck.

Monday night Majority Leader Tilson, of the House, delivered a radio broadside against the Democrats. He called it the "Nailing of a Billion-Dollar Lie." It was supposed to be a campaign masterpiece and those who heard it said it was good.

The radio people of New York forgot to send copies to the newspapers, and as a result not a word of it, as far as can be learned, appeared in any newspaper in the United States.

LYNCHING ATTEMPT IS CHARGED TO PAIR

DRAGGED ALONG BY NECK

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 24.—An attempt to lynch an elderly man near a gasoline station in the northern suburbs of Winchester was made last night without provocation, police revealed today, when warrants were issued for the arrest of Buck Cooper and William McAboy, said to be residents of Frederick County, on complaint of William Jenkins, employe of Vernon Rickard, station owner. State and local police were searching for the two men.

Jenkins told officers that while he was alone at the station, Cooper and McAboy came there and acted in a disorderly manner. One of them, he testified, seized a long piece of rope, made a noose and slipped it over his head while the other held him and threatened him to make an outcry. Jenkins declared he had said nothing to offend the men; in fact, they had seized him before he had even spoken to them.

With the rope around his neck, Jenkins said he was taken a considerable distance from the station, first one way and then another, the men saying they were trying to find a tree. There were no trees in sight, so Cooper and McAboy, he claimed, pushed him over and dragged him along the roadway several hundred yards, resulting in the old man being so severely lacerated and bruised that he had to be given medical attention after the men drove off as Vernon Rickard returned to the filling station.

Rickard made a report to the police after Jenkins had told him of the men tying the rope around his neck and dragging him along the roadway. It was learned that before going to the filling station Cooper and McAboy had gone into a tent in the neighborhood, where Glen Ryan, 13 was asleep, and mistreated the boy.

MRS. GAMBLE FACES JAIL STAY TILL TRIAL

GRAND JURY TO GET CASE

Mrs. Lulu May Gamble, La Plata, Md., mother of ten children, will probably remain in the Charles County Jail until November, when the grand jury is expected to indict her for the murder of Mrs. Elsie Davis.

Mrs. Davis, who lived in Washington, was shot through the head by Mrs. Gamble early Friday morning, when she returned from an automobile ride with Joseph Gamble, husband of the prisoner. The woman died in Providence Hospital Tuesday morning, and Mrs. Gamble was lodged in the La Plata Jail shortly afterward, when a coroner's jury held her for the killing.

State Senator Walter J. Mitchell and John F. Mudd, defense counsel, announced Tuesday that they would seek their client's release on habeas corpus proceedings, but reports from the Maryland town yesterday intimated that the woman would be held in jail until the grand jury meets in the third week of November.

Gamble, prosperous farmer and bee keeper, returned to his home yesterday to reiterate his statement that he would not contribute a dime to his wife's defense. "She didn't ask my help when she shot Elsie Davis," he said, "and she can do without my help now." He said that he would care for their four small children "as well as she did."

Dulaney Ordered To Support Child

Former Baltimore Society Man Pleads Guilty of Negligence.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 24.—Arraigned in the criminal court for failing to provide for his minor son, William J. Clarke Dulany, former Baltmoire business and society man, today pleaded guilty to the charge. He was paroled by Judge Robert F. Stanton to pay $12.50 a week toward support of the child or be sent to the house of correction.

Mrs. Mae J. Dulany, Mr. Dulany's second wife and mother of the child, and Mrs. Belle Dulany, of Washington, third wife of the accused, were in court during the arraignment.

After the plea of guilty had been entered, Mr. Dulany was asked if he had anything to say, and replied that when he was before the court before he had posted a sum which he thought would last for about two years. He explained that since the proceedings he had been unable to pay anything in addition to the posted sum.

Presbytery Names Its Commissioners

Church Session Adjourns in Lexington Until Next Spring.

Staunton, Va., Sept. 24.—Election of commissioners to the forthcoming general assembly of the Presbyterian Church featured today's session of the Presbytery of Lexington, which adjourned late this afternoon to meet April 14, at Oxford Church, for the regular spring meeting.

Commissioners are B. F. Wilson, Harrisonburg; J. J. Murray, Lexington; G. Raymond Womeldorf, Chins; J. E. Bear, Chins. Alternates—J. C. Siler, Tinkling Spring; C. R. Lacy, Cooks Creek; C. M. Chumley, Massanutten, all pastors. Ruling elders—C. A. Lowance, Windy Cove; Hugh McClure, Staunton; W. T. Lineweaver, Harrisonburg; Dr. A. L. Tynes, Staunton. Alternates—J. E. Trimble, Hebron; E. F. Shannon, Lexington; A. F. Johnson, Millboro; J. A. Saville, Oxford. Robert B. Campbell, of Lexington, and Cecil D. Kutz, of Warm Springs, were received as candidates for the ministry and taken under care of the Presbytery.

The Rev. H. P. Ruppenthall was dismissed to the Presbytery of Greenville, N. C., and will accept work at Durham. The Rev. A. J. Ponton, pastor of Windy Cover Church, host to this meeting of Lexington Presbytery, was granted leave to resign to accept work outside of this Presbytery.

MIAMI TRIO SOUGHT ON TARRING CHARGE

TIED, TOSSED IN STREET

Miami, Fla., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—City detectives today sought three men who they believe tarred and feathered David Weinberg, 44-year-old tailor, because of his alleged activities in distributing tracts on communism and race equality among Miami Negroes.

Weinberg, described by Chief of Detectives L. O. Scarboro as a "dangerous radical," was released late today from municipal jail where he had been held under a technical charge of investigation. His release automatically canceled habeas corpus proceedings instituted by his attorney.

Weinberg was taken from his home last night, beaten, gagged and given a coat of tar and feathers. He told police that three men attacked him after enticing him from his residence. After disrobing him and applying tar and feathers to his body, he related, they tied him in a white, hooded garment and tossed him from an automobile at a downtown street intersection early today.

After treatment at a hospital Weinberg was removed to jail. Detectives who went to his home found a supply of tracts dealing with communism, race equality and religion. The tracts were similar to one which was found splotched with tar near the place that Weinberg was dumped from the automobile.

The tailor told officers that he had not distributed tracts to Negroes. He said that the supply found at his home had been left there by a friend. Scarboro said he believed Weinberg "is associated with, or at the head of, a group of Communists operating in Miami."

Two men found Weinberg tied and gagged in the sack-like garment after they had been called by a woman in a nearby apartment. The woman said that she heard groans and saw a "bundle" moving about on the street below. The tailor told police that a young man questioned him about the tracts several days ago, and said he told the questioner that he would be glad to give them to him. He said that he could attribute the attack to no other reason.

Federal Reserve Crop Assures Farm Credit

(Associated Press.)

Farmers were assured yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board that the Federal Reserve Banks would provide ample credit for marketing agricultural crops this fall at rates cheaper than ever before.

In an announcement following a conference preliminary to the regular meeting between the board and the governor and chairmen of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks, the board said it had been assured the banks had ample facilities to finance the movement of the crops and that such credit was being provided by them and other agencies interested in the orderly marketing of agricultural products.

CANNON DECLARES NEW MOVE ILLEGAL

for an investigation was presented to Bishop Ainsworth before the elders had heard argument justifying a conference with me beforehand and also again requtsting to know the nature of the charges.

"This friend cables me that both requests were denied. I received a report by ship's wireless on September 21 that the complaints had been forwarded to Bishop Ainsworth without the elders awaiting my arrival for a conference with me.

"This gives you all of the information that I have received and all action taken by me.

Will Protest Legality of Action.

"As indicated, I shall protest the legality of the hurried, premature action taken before my arrival, making impossible a conference with me which, the disciplinary provision 'to carefully inquire' necessarily includes.

"Until I see the official text of the complaints, I shall enter into no discussion, newspaper or otherwise, concernig any matters pertaining thereto.

Investigation Mandatory Under Rules of Church

Richmond, Va., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The filing of new charges against Bishop James Cannon, jr., was announced here Saturday by four traveling elders of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who submitted the accusations to Bishop William N. Ainsworth, of Birmingham, Ala.

Dr. Costen J. Harrell, of Richmond, made public the announcement, which was signed by himself, Dr. J. T. Mastin, also of Richmond; Dr. I. P. Martin, of Abingdon, Va., and Dr. Forrest J. Prettyman, of Baltimore.

They refused to make known the nature of the new charges, which have also been withheld by Bishop Ainsworth. The Baltimore Sun, in a story published Sunday morning, said the accusations included charges additional to the stock speculation and political activity allegations which Bishop Cannon faced and of which he was acquitted last May in Dallas.

Whatever the nature of the charges, the rules of the Southern Methodist Church make an investigation mandatory. Bishop Ainsworth is required to call a committee of twelve who would inquire into the matter, and, if eight voted for a trial, Bishop Cannon would be suspended and his trial be held at the next general conference in 1934.

At the Dallas conference charges were brought against Bishop Cannon accusing him of speculating in stocks and of improper political activities. After an expression of penitence the Bishop was exonerated.

In declining to make public the nature of the charges preferred against the Bishop last week, Dr. Prettyman, of Baltimore, said he had acted for "what I believe to be for the best good of the Methodist Church South."

"For the last two years charges of the most serious nature have been made against Bishop Cannon," he said, "in certain places and in the press, and allegations have been published from which inferences have been made.

"I do not think these charges should be permitted to go unexplained and without investigation, solely because of the effect it will have on our church."

ROOSEVELT NAMED ENVOY TO HUNGARY

Pled for Education.

"I have urged that educational facilities be extended so that, instead of only one child in three attending school as at present, every child should have a seat in school. I have advocated the extension of the suffrage to include the women of the Philippines. I have pointed out that if ever the Philippines are to be self-sustaining greater attention must be paid to economic development and less to politics.

"I have fought the restrictions which selfish American interests have sought to place on Philippine products and Filipino immigrants coming into the United States. Finally, I have urged that so long as the American flag flies over the islands the American administration should be efficient as well as honest and sympathetic.

"Unfortunately, the Philippine leaders have ignored these views and have, instead, broadcast misrepresentations of my writings with an obvious indifference to the correlation between their statements and the facts. In many cases this has been done by persons who apparently have not even read what I have written, contenting themselves, instead, with isolated sentences twisted from their context."

Twice Served Abroad.

Mr. Roosevelt, a Harvard graduate, has served the United States abroad on two previous occasions. From 1914 to 1916 he was an attache in the American Embassy in Paris. After the armistice he was chosen a member of the Austro Hungarian field mission of the American commission to negotiate peace.

He served in the war as captain in the 322d Infantry. In 1921 he joined the editorial staff of the New York Tribune and two years later transferred to the New York Times.

He is the author of three books on America's international affairs.

Filipinos Hail Resignation.

Manila, Sept. 25 (A.P.) (Thursday). News of the resignation of Nicholas Roosevelt as vice governor of the Philippines was hailed today by Filipino leaders as a great moral victory for the island people.

Anacostia Unit Films At Citizens' Meeting

Motion pictures of the executive committee of the Anacostia Citizens Association were taken at the initial fall meeting of the association last night. The film is to be part of a series now being made in Washington of civic activities.

The association spent the major part of the meeting making plans for the October meeting, when it is hoped to have as the guests of honor Capt. W. E. Holmes, new head of the Eleventh Precinct, and his two new lieutenants, F. M. Dent and D. J. Cullinane.

Community Guild to Present Four Plays

The board of governors of the Community Drama Guild of Washington have announced the following plays to be presented during the season 1030-1931. They are: "The Great Divide," a revival of melodrama; the "Queen's Husband," a modern satiric comedy; an original musical revue, and "The Piper."

Dennis E. Connell is chairman of the production committee. He is assisted by William F. Baker, J. Milnor Dorey, Esther Galbraith, Anne Ives, Ethel Prince and Mrs. Maud Howell Smith. All the plays, with the exception of "The Piper," will be staged at the McKinley Auditoriuim.

MUSSOLINI NAMES GIURIATI FOR POST

NEWS SURPRISES ITALY

Rome, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The second most important secular figure in Italy tonight was Giovanni Battista Giuriati, the new secretary general of the Fascist party. He succeeded Augusto Turati, secretary since May, 1926, whose resignation was announced this afternoon. Giuriati was president of the Chamber of Deputies.

Turati, in a letter to Premier Mussolini, said: "Almost five years of the direction of the party are long and exhausting for whomever wishes with all his heart to work in the rhythm that you have impressed on Italian life."

The premier, in the cold, formal Italian third person singular, although previously he had often used the affectionate second person singular, replied:

"I recognize that after nearly five years of uninterrupted fecund activity you have almost the right to ask for a change in order to reenter the ranks of the Blackshirts."

The Duce then nominated Turati to the Fascist grand council, which is the supreme organ of the state.

The formal taking over of office will take place October 8 at Vidoni Palace, at which the premier promised a Fascist demonstration.

News of Turati's resignation and Giuriati's appointment came with startling suddenness. There was no leak of information until the formal announcement was ready.

Turati, whom nearly every one believed to be the second most powerful secular man in Italy, was virtually directing head of the Fascist party, although, of course, he was answerable to Premier Mussolini. It was he who was largely responsible for the new statutes of the party, the constitution of the intersyndical committees (liaison committees linking the employers' and employes' organizations), the enrollment of university Fascists and the development of Fascist groups in the colonies.

Though not one of the leaders of the famous march on Rome, he was among the first chieftains of Fascism, organizing Fascist groups in Brescia. He is 39 years old.

Giuriati, who is 54, was an early leader of Fascism in Venice and led the Venetian legions in the march on Rome. He was nominated minister of public works in 1925 and last year was made president of the chamber of deputies.

Blacksburg Man Dying After Trying Suicide

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Sept. 24.—S. Wyndham Perrin, 35 years old, of Blacksburg, is in a dying condition at a local hospital as the result of an attempt at suicide early this morning in his room at the Princess Anne Hotel. He shot himself under the heart with a .32-caliber pistol and slashed one wrist.

The man left a note addressed to a young lady and to his mother, Mrs. S. H. Perrin, in Richmond, and also to Maj. C. Wallace Sale, of the United States Army Medical Corps, his brother-in-law. The note was not made public. Perrin registered at the hotel yesterday and, according to boys who waited on him, was nervous and excited.

Duke University Opens $20,000,000 Campus

Durham, N. C., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Duke University's new campus, built with funds bqueathed Trinity College by the late J. B. Duke, tobacco magnate, was formally opened today.

The new campus is located aproximately a mile from the old college quadrangle. It has been under construction for several years and, college officials said, cost $20,000,000.

Dr. W. P. Few, president, announced at the opening exercises that 2,100 students were enrolled for the fall semester.

Sunday Picture Shows Planned in Martinsburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 24.—Movies on Sundays, starting September 28, here were announced today by the local manager for Warner Brothers, operating the only theaters here. Two afternoon and one evening showings will be given each Sunday, the announcement said, the time being arranged to avoid conflicts with church services.

The announcement also said local organizations would be beneficiaries under the plan, a portion of each Sunday's receipts being given to deserving projects, such as fire companies, philanthropic agencies and perhaps an "unemployment" fund.

Thompson was one of the organizers of the Navy League and representatives of that organization and also of the Loyal Legion, the Naval Academy Graduates Association and other organizations of which Col. Thompson was a member will have representatives at memorial ceremonies. Col. Thompson's daughter, Mrs. Stephen Pells, of New York City and Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., will be among those attending.

Meeting to Balk Mill Strike Held

Federal, Virginia Officials Hold Parley in Danville With Union Heads.

Danville, Va., Sept. 24.—Federal and State conciliators today made their initial effort looking to arbitration of differences between the textile union here and the local mills in order to prevent a threatened strike. A three-hour conference between the four arbitrators and union officials was held, but all conferees declined to disclose the results. Officials refused to make a statement except that the mills were not represented and that the meeting was preliminary to a general conference the date of which was not stated.

According to plans the next step is a conference between the conciliators and the management of the Riverside and Dan River Mills, provided the latter agrees. Both meetings would be preparatory to a general round table arbitration conference. When the mills were called today to ascertain if they would attend such gatherings, the question was unanswered. All representations by the union to date have been ignored.

Tenseness to the situation was added to as result of a cutting affray last night between two union members, H. G. Cooper and T. . Keziah, the latter sustaining several knife wounds, following an argument in which Cooper accused Keziah of charging him with being disloyal to the union.. Keziah was fined $2.50 at a hearing today and Cooper was dismissed, both being charged with simple assault.

PRINCE'S KIDNAPERS WILL ESCAPE TRIAL

HAD ADDRESSED PUPILS

No action is contemplated against the crowd of about 20 Herndon, Va., residents, who late Tuesday night kidnaped Prince Bullano Cetwayo, after he had addressed pupils of Herndon High School and deposited him unceremoniously on the steps of the home of W. T. Woodson, divisional superintendent of Fairfax County Schools.

Sheriff Eppa P. Kirby expressed the opinion that the perpetrators had performed a service to the community.

Prince Bullano, an Oxford graduate who lived for 28 years in a state of savagerly in South Africa, was stopping at the home of Arch Shirley, colored, at Herndon. The group of kidnapers, organized at a drug store, lured him outside and then carried him by auto to Woodson's home.

The African was told not to return to Herndon, but he was not injured or mistreated, he told Woodson, who later took him to Wiley Station, gave him a dollar and left.

Cetwayo, who is the grandson of a noted Zulu chief, Cheka, claims to have been in the class at Oxford with King George V. He bears indorsements of the British embassies and numerous school and university officials.

Two weeks ago he spoke at the Columbia Baptist Church at Falls Church, Va., and stayed for several days in the town. He had also addressed pupils at the McLean and Fairfax Schools without being molested.

Woodson said yesterday that he had written letters to the several principals in Fairfax County giving them permission to have the prince speak should they desire. He found him very "intelligent and interesting," he said.

Merger Rumors Denied By New York Bank Head

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Reports that steps were being taken to merge the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Co. with another large New York bank were denied today by Walter E. Frew, chairman of the board, in a letter to stockholders.

Wall street had heard that the Chase National Bank was seeking the Corn Exchange, which has a large system of branches in New York City, and that the negotiations had reached a rather definite stage.

Texas Republicans Nominate Talbot

Dallas Insurance Man to Oppose Sterling in Governor Race.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Col. William E. Talbot, Dallas insurance executive, today was chosen by Texas Republicans to oppose Ross S. Sterling, of Houston, the Democratic nominee for the governorship.

Col. Talbot was selected by the State Republican executive committee just one day after Dr. George C. Butte, of Austin and Washington, nominated in the primary, had declined the nomination. Col. Talbot's candidacy will be made official after Dr. Butte's declination has been filed with the secretary of State.

The new nominee was one of the original Coolidge men in Texas in 1924, and one of the early leaders of the movement which gave the Texas Republican delegation to Herbert Hoover in 1928, the only time the State's electoral vote was given a Republican.

French Bank Head Resigns From Post

Paris, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Emile Moreau, governor of the Bank of France, has resigned.

Rumors that this was imminent were confirmed in official circles today where it was said that his successor has not yet been chosen. The name of Clement Moret, first assistant governor under Moreau, was prominently mentioned.

One of the new governor's first official acts, it was said in financial circles, would be to meet the governor of the Bank of England and the governor of the German Reichsbank in New York, for the purpose of discussing with American financiers ways and means of remedying the present depression in world business. This, however, has not been confirmed in official circles.

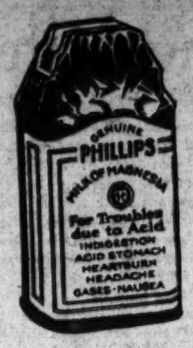
Steel Merger Suit Testimony Closed

Court Sets October 20 to Hear Arguments of Rival Counsel.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The taking of testimony in the injunction suit against the merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation was brought to a close today.

Common Pleas Judge David Jenkins adjourned court until October 20 when he will hear the arguments of counsel. That may require as long as a week, for the judge announced that no limitation would be placed upon the arguments. He is not expected to render his decision until the latter part of November.

A tired group of attorneys, court employes and merger principals filed out of the little room this afternoon just three months from the day they first assembled there for the opening of the hearing. They left behind a transcript of the record numbering approximately 8,000 pages and a total of 918 exhibits. From this evidence Judge Jenkins must decide.



Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

WET CONTROL SEEN OF NEW YORK G.O.P.

DRY BOLT THREATENED

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Inclusion in the platform of a plank advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and the nomination of Charles H. Tuttle for governor, were claimed tonight by influential party leaders on the eve of the Republican State convention.

Spokesmen for the repeal advocates claimed to have nearly 700 of the 991 delegates lined up in opposition to the prohibition amendment.

While declining to permit themselves to be quoted, some of the dry leaders said that their cause looked hopeless, that on the surface there was every indication the repeal plank would be included in the platform and that Mr. Tuttle, United States District Attorney at New York, would be nominated on the first ballot.

Compromise Is Last Hope.

Their attitude was that unless some compromise could be reached regarding the repeal plank they would be forced to voice their protests either at an open meeting of the committee on resolutions tomorrow night or on the floor of the convention when the committee reports the platform at the Friday session.

It was made clear, however, that the dry Republicans in the convention would not bolt the party or support an independent candidate if one should be placed in the running by such dry organizations as the Anti-saloon League or the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Futhermore, the convention drys were not inclined to believe there would be any serious defection to any independent dry candidate. Rather, it was thought that the protests of the ardent dry voters would be reflected by their absence from the polls on election day.

Threatens Dry Bolt.

The spokesmen for one of the two major units of the dry forces, Fred A. Victor, State superintendent of the Antisaloon League, declared the supporters of prohibition would withhold support from any candidate running on a platform calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Victor's statement apparently was the opposite of what he had said 24 hours earlier. Yesterday he had said that Mr. Tuttle, who has advocated repeal of the eighteenth amendment, deserves the "enthusiastic support of all right-minded citizens" if he would "respect, obey, enforce and defend the Constitution." This had been taken to mean that the Antisaloon League would support Mr. Tuttle if he pledged himself to enforce the dry law while it was on the statute books.

Former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth asserted he was assured of support for the wet cause.

Calder Tells Hoover Party Must Quit Policy of Pussyfooting.

President Hoover was informed yesterday by former Senator William M. Calder, of Brooklyn, that the Republican party of New York State can not hope to be successful until it comes out squarely for repeal of prohibition.

Mr. Calder came to Washington as a member of the planning committee of the President's conference on home building and home ownership, which met at the White House yesterday. He had a special engagement with the President, during which the political situation in the State was discussed.

On emerging from the executive offices Mr. Calder was asked by newspapermen what he thought of the outlook for the G. O. P. in the Empire State. Hhe said frankly that the Republican party could not hope to carry the State so long as it insisted on pussyfooting on prohibition.

Senator Sheppard Says Country Will Stay Dry

Senator Sheppard, the Democrat from Texas, who sponsored the eighteenth amendment in the Senate, said yesterday that the drys are ready to meet any assault on it in Congress and are confident of the outcome. He was commenting on recent election results.

"There is as much of a chance of repealing the eighteenth amendment," he added, "as there is for a humming bird to fly to the planet Mars with the Washington Monument tied to its tail. This country is for temperance and prohibition and it is going to continue to elect members of Congress who believe in that."

Germany Denies Onus in Old Blast

Offers Defense at Hearing of Claims Resulting From Black Tom Explosion.

The Hague, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—An echo of the Black Tom munitions explosion that shook a great part of the New York metropolitan area in 1916 was heard before the mixed tribunal hearing claims against Germany for damages incident to the World War.

German's contention that the explosion was not engineered by her agents was presented by Dr. Tennenberg, who attacked the evidence presented by the Americans. He pointed out that the American spokesman before the tribunal had contended that a German named Kristoff had been the sole perpetrator, although he was employed by Capt. Frederick Hinsch, German secret service agent. Tannenberg insisted that Kristoff's "so-called confession" to a detective of the Burns Agency was inconsistent with an established fact.

There is no evidence whatsoever, he declared, connecting Kristoff with the Black Tom disaster or showing that he was employed by the German government. Furthermore, he insisted, there was no proof that Hinsch under the false name of Graendnor had any connection with Kristoff.

LIQUOR BONDSMAN CLAIMS INFLUENCE

agents accused of accepting bribes.

Anselmo testified in the bribery trial that liquor had never been found in his place or sold there that he knew of (he had once consented to a padlock) and though I tried to get him prosecuted for perjury (a procedure indicated in the Volstead act for such cases) there never was such a prosecuti-

Record Is Revealed.

Let us have a brief record of Anselmo's encounters with the prohibition law.

Anselmo formerly had his place at 165 West Forty-ninth street, where the record of raids and arrests (as of May, 1929) was as follows:

November 12, 1921 — Theodore Spolas, waiter, arrested for possession and sale; dismissed.

March 26, 1923—Peter Anselmo and Carlo Gianine arrested in raid in which liquor was seized, case dismissed by United States Commissioner; United States attorney filed information, to which both pleaded not guilty, apparently still pending.

September 18, 1924—Illo Anselmo arrested; liquor seized; search warrant vacated; case dismissed.

January 29, 1925—Theodore Spolas arrested; held for United States District Court; apparently no further action.

September 10, 1925 — Liquor seized on search warrant preparatory to injunction proceedings; no arrests.

Moves to New Location.

Then Peter Anselmo moved to 157-159 West Forty-ninth street.

December 26, 1925—United States Attorney Buckner filed a bill of complaint against Anselmo for padlock on premises at 160 West Forty-ninth street. When this unfortunate mistake in address was discovered it was changed to No. 157-159, but it developed that this amendment was not authorized by the court. Suit discontinued February 5, 1926.

February 4, 1926—New padlock suit started which resulted in six months' padlock decree being entered by consent of Anselmo, May 14, 1926.

Now begins the record of happenings under my regime and Tuttle's.

December 9, 1927—Peter Anselmo and three employes arrested at 157-159 West Forty-ninth street during execution of search warrant. Anselmo dismissed on January 12, 1928, by United States Commissioner O'Neill; others held and pleaded not guilty. Search warrant vacated by Commissioner O'Neill on May 23; order affirmed by Judge Bondy; defendants dismissed May 28, 1928.

Raided Again in June.

Meanwhile five of my agents were obtaining new evidence of the sale of liquor at Peter's Blue Hour, and it was one of the twenty places raided in June.

Peter Anselmo was indicted for conspiracy and maintenance of a nuisance.

July 20, 1928 — Injunction suits started for padlock and against Anselmo individually on evidence of many violations from December 5, 1927, to June 25, 1928.

November 27, 1928 — Judge Goddard signed injunction closing first floor of premises at 157-159 West Forty-ninth street, which also had second floor and basement; order specified that it should not affect Anselmo's plea of immunity.

November 28, 1928—Injunction modified with consent of United States attorney, removing locks and seals from kitchen. Thus Anselmo could continue his restaurant business.

At this point I must complicate the narrative by introducing the bribery trial of Agents Palmer Tubbs and Samuel Kupferman. Kupferman will be remembered as Representative LaGuardia's protege, who had been reinstated in 1927.

Tubbs and Kupferman were acquitted in August, 1928, and after this trial Judge Meekins took occasion to comment sharply on the practice of granting immunity. Against them testified William and George Ochendon, proprietors of Billy the Oysterman's, 7-9-11 East Twentieth street, and Frank Knesz, former manager of the Gypsy Village Club, 203 East Ninety-second street.

Wins Immunity Again.

Peter Anselmo also testified at the trial, and the United States attorney maintained he had not been given immunity, but Federal Judge Thomas ruled on May 2, 1929, after hearing Anselmo's plea in bar, that Anselmo in being questioned at the Tubbs trial, had received immunity from the indictment for conspiracy and maintaining a nuisance, for which my men had carefully built up evidence over a period of several months.

The first intimation I had of this granting of immunity was when I received from Mr. Tuttle a letter "dictated by Mr. Watts," dated June 27, 1928, and marked "Attention, Mr. Donovan and Mr. Bragdon." It said:

"Inclosed herewith are affidavits sent to this office for the purpose of securing temporary injunction on premises 7-9-11 East Twentieth street, known as Billy the Oysterman.

"The padlock and criminal cases made against these premises, concerning which these affidavits set forth the facts, were made by your office, acting in agreement with the special intelligence service and with this office, for the purpose of forcing the proprietors of the said premises to testify before the grand jury concerning certain bribes paid by them to Agents Kupferman and Tubbs.

"The witnesses having testified as desired and having secured immunity thereby, these papers are returned to you in order that you may close out your files and mark both criminal and padlock cases closed on the basis which I have outlined."

Says Tuttle Took Letter.

A day or so after receipt of this letter Mr. Tuttle happened to come to see me in my office. I told him that both Donovan and Bragdon had denied any participation in this matter and I returned the letter to him, thinking that he might like to recall it. Mr. Tuttle took the letter with him, but in a few days it was returned to me with some other papers, so I presume he had decided to let it stand as of record.

Tubbs and Kupferman were accused of having accepted $300 to fail to report an alleged violation at Billy the Oysterman's, and during the investigation by special inspectors from Washington my agents did make another case against Billy the Oysterman, which, it develops, the United States attorney did use as a club to compel the two Ochendons to testify against these two agents before the grand jury.

There was an interesting exchange of telegrams during the Tubbs-Kupferman trial.

Mrs. Willebrandt received a hot wire from La Guardia, friend of Kupferman, protesting that "Government's witnesses, according to record, testify not only promised immunity for past violations, but are now brazenly violating law daily. Seemingly have assurance that they received license to sell liuor indefinitely as consideration testifying this case. Am reliably informed that district attorney instructed prohibition office here to take no action on testimony obtained. Several raids were staged in order to obtain witnesses to testify in this case. In all decency the district attorney should immediately padlock and prosecute these places of witnesses who have testified and boasted that they are daily violating the law. I am not condoning Kupferman's conduct, if testimony true, but such dealings outrage all decency and justice."

Mrs. Willebrandt on August 9, 1928, quoted this telegram in a telegram to Tuttle and went on to say:

"Please wire fully how much of this is true. Understand your office wrote letter regarding some notorious case, saying case dropped because of agreement between you and prohibition administrator in consideration securing testimony against Kupferman, which letter Maj. Campbell repudiated and returned to you personally, which seems to bear out La Guardia's contention. Also understand you are using Peter Anselmo as witness. Does this mean you are promising immunity or permitting the law to give immunity on Peter's Blue Hour case, recently made under direction of this office? Advise if this condition obtains on any other notorious places."

Mrs. Willebrandt knew about Tuttle's letter because Special Assistant Attorney General Morrison was present at my office when I returned the Bill the Oysterman letter to Tuttle. Morrison was expected to prosecute Peter's Blue Hour.

Reply From Tuttle.

Mr. Tuttle on August 10 replied to Mrs. Willebrandt's telegram as follows:

"Kuperman and Tubbs tried for receiving bribes. Mr. Watts tells me following are the facts. Testimony given about three restaurants. Two owners of first restaurant were given immunity before grand jury concerning day when alleged bribe paid and concerning day thereafter when raid made. Owner of second restaurant had had no violation and was given no immunity and testified never sold liquor. Owner third restaurant was given immunity only concerning violation on two days when alleged bribes paid. He testified on cross-examination to recent sales liquor in Eastern district. Peter Anselmo was witness, but received no immunity or promises whatsoever about present indictment and padlock. None of witnesses was given any immunity or promises concerning present or future violations, and this office had no knowledge of any such violation by any of them until the testimony at the trial. Intend to ask Campbell to secure evidence and will immediately prosecute. This office has not instructed prohibition office here or any one else to take no action on testimony given at trial."

Anselmo Had "No Violation."

Apparently the "owner of second restaurant" who "had no violation" was Anselmo. And, although it was maintained that Anselmo had not received immunity, Judge Thomas ruled that he had.

Although I believe there was sufficient evidence to bring Tubbs and Kupferman to trial, in which they were acquitted, I later reinstated Tubb on the strength of a recommendation written by Judge Meekins, who presided at the trial. I don't know how the charges against the agents were brought to the attention of the United States attorney, but in this regard I presented personally to Mr. Tuttle on July 13 a special report by Agent John J. Mitchell regarding a conversation he had (in the presence of Agent L. M. Tyson) with Moe Kahan, alias Levy, proprietor of the Furnace Club. After the June, 1928, raids, Levy pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Thomas to serve three months in jail and pay a $400 fine.

Agent Mitchell related the following conversation with Kahan, alias Levy, on the night of May 13, 1928, about a fortnight after Tubbs and Kupferman were indicted.

"He said that he was professional bondsman for Tex Guinan, Tommy Guinan and John and Nick Johnnidis; that just about a month previous he had had occasion to go on John and Nick Johnnidis' bonds, as well as ten other employes of the European Club. Agents Mitchell and Tyson then told him that they had cards for the European Club but had not heard about any trouble John and Nick got into and asked Kahan to tell them about it.

"He said: 'Yes, a couple of revenuers had slipped in on John and Nick and "knocked them off."' He had immediatelly gotten them out on bond and said: 'Now I have it all fixed up.'

Influence? "I Have."

"Agent Mitchell said, 'You must have considerable influence.'

"He replied: 'I have.'

"Agent Mitchell then asked: 'How did you do it?'

"He said: 'I got the revenuers indicted.'

"Mitchell then asked him: 'How?'

"He said they had accepted some money, $300, from a man running a club; that he had more pull than any other club in New York."

Mitchell related that this conversation took place in the bar of the Furnace Club and that early May 16, with Mrs. Tyson, they were there again and talked to a man who said his name was Epstein and that he was Moe's partner. Epstein, said Mitchell, told "practically the same story" about Moe's getting John and Nick out of a jam and added that he helped Moe do it.

Attention: Mr. Donovan and Mr. Bragdon.

Dear Sirs:

Enclosed herewith are affidavits sent to this office for the purpose of securing temporary injunction on premises 7-9-11 East 20th Street, known as Billy The Oysterman.

The padlock and criminal cases made against these premises, concerning which these affidavits set forth the facts, was made by your office acting in agreement with the Special Intelligence Service and with this office for the purpose of forcing the proprietors of the said premises to testify before the Grand Jury concerning certain bribes paid by them to Agents Kupferman and Tubbs.

The witnesses having testified as desired and having secured immunity thereby, these papers are returned to you in order that you may close out your files and mark both criminal and padlock cases closed on the basis which I have outlined.

Very truly yours,

SOVIET WAR METHODS.

Hundreds of thousands of American citizens who take no interest in world affairs have suddenly become aware, through pain in the pocket nerve, that they can not afford to remain ignorant of and indifferent to the new kind of warfare that the Russian Soviet is waging against the United States and its citizens. Warnings of the machinations of the Reds have fallen upon deaf ears heretofore, but as the enemy of civilization begins to eat into the American pocketbook there is a sudden realization that communism is not mere remote and theoretical foreign politics, but an immediate and practical danger.

If the Reds were still a group of beer-swigging louts hanging about Swiss restaurants their fantastic dreams of provoking world turmoil could be safely ignored; but they are now in possession of one-seventh of the globe, and have fastened upon millions of peasants the yoke of compulsory and unpaid labor. They have immense natural resources at their disposal, and have enlisted the services of keen-witted villains who are quite as competent as any Americans in transforming raw materials into valuable commodities. With despotic governmental power in their hands, the Reds can commander labor, obtain shipping and carry on huge commercial operations under novel conditions against which private industry and commerce are unable to compete.

The wheat that is now being dumped upon Europe by the Soviet is not sufficient to bankrupt agriculture here this year. But what of the future? Predictions that the Communist system in Russia would collapse have not been verified by events. The submerged millions are hungry and sullen, but they lack leaders, and for the time being they may be expected to work under the lash. Their total production, even under adverse conditions, can be enormous. The Soviet is quite capable of flooding the world with lumber products, manganese ore, coal, wheat and other products. Tariffs mean nothing, since labor costs nothing.

The United States will be compelled to meet the Communist challenge. American industry, agriculture and labor will not permit the Government to stand idle while a gigantic organized war is waged against them. Government must grapple with government. Goods produced by Russian slave labor must be barred from the United States. Communists now in the United States must be sought out and expelled. The Amtorg and all other Soviet agencies in this country must go.

The influence heretofore exerted by powerful financial interests seeking profitable trade with the Soviet at the expense of American industry, agriculture, and labor will be swept aside. This influence is supposed to have persuaded the United States Government to close its eyes as to the identity of Communist agents, and to permit them to enter this country under the guise of trade agents. Several hundred of these spies are in this country, working incessantly among workingmen in the hope of stirring up strikes, riots, destruction of plants and other deviltry. The excuse has been offered that the Bureau of Immigration is powerless to expel them, since Russia refuses to receive them, and there is no other country into which they can be dumped.

A little more pain in the pocket nerve will cause American citizens to change this situation. They will find a way to help the Bureau of Immigration to rid the country of Communists.

HOME BUILDING.

President Hoover's conference on home building and home ownership promises to develop one of the most interesting and valuable investigations that he has ever sponsored. Mr. Hoover has a deep-seated interest in home ownership for its civic value, but the study that he has inaugurated has a far more extensive scope. Questions of design and construction, financing, city planning and even transportation to and from home areas will be given attention.

The end in view is to make homes more attractive, to bring home ownership within the means of the average citizen, and to stimulate the production and demand for homes. The problem of acquiring a home has become acute in recent years, especially in the larger cities. Land has become so valuable and the costs of construction so high that people are crowding into apartments. To own a comfortable home is the ideal of nearly every American family, but that ideal is becoming constantly more difficult of attainment. Many residential sections that were once attractive have been spoiled by the expansion of industry, but the automobile has opened vast areas to suburban development. Intelligent planning, economical construction and better financing ought to bring comfortable homes within the reach of virtually every family.

President Hoover is especially interested in the larger economic aspect of the home building industry. "With constant improvement of methods and labor saving devices," he says, "we constantly set free workers from established industry who must be absorbed in new or expanding industries, if we would have for them employment and the articles or services which comprise advancing standards of living. There is no doubt we shall make new inventions and new needs, but the greatest present field for the absorption of our national industry lies in better housing."

Two and a half million men are out of work. Capital is plentiful. Yet thousands are improperly housed. These facts are sufficient to indicate the need for adjustment somewhere. It is not to be expected that a problem so gigantic can be solved by a committee in a few months. But that committee may bring to light valuable information, and may point out a way whereby home ownership would become less difficult. This would automatically stimulate the home building industry. The committee has a unique opportunity for rendering service.

UP FROM THE RANKS.

The appointment of Harry J. Anslinger to be the first chief of the Narcotic Bureau is an interesting example of the opportunity that awaits worthy men in the Government service. His earlier training was obtained in the State Department, in the field of foreign service. As a result of this training he was selected several years ago to head the newly created Bureau of Foreign Control in the Treasury Department's Bureau of Prohibition. Mr. Anslinger specialized on the work of combating narcotic and liquor smuggling. He coordinated the activities of the State and Treasury Departments in this work, and developed a successful system for the detection of smugglers at the base of supplies in foreign ports. To accomplish this difficult task required a rare degree of expertness in bringing about concert of action upon the part of American diplomatic officers abroad, besides obtaining the sympathetic support of foreign governments. The rigid restrictive measures set up, offensively as well as defensively, to combat the narcotic smuggler are due in large measure to the skillful direction of this work under Mr. Anslinger's direction. Just how much liquor and narcotics are smuggled into the United States is not definitely known, but it is certain that these illicit importations have been measurably reduced in the last few years.

When the Bureau of Narcotics was established on July 1 Secretary Mellon found a capable and experienced chief in the person of the young man who had made good in the Government service. It was a case of the job seeking and finding the man. Mr. Anslinger's record inspires public confidence in the efficient administration of the newly created Bureau of Narcotics.

SPRECKELS' PANACEA.

Inasmuch as necessity is the mother of invention, an unusual number of fertile minds are busy these days creating panaceas for economic depression. Politicians have remedies which they advocate for their own special purposes, and even economists make sagacious suggestions now and then, but their advice is usually confined to some special phase of the depression, such as unemployment or overproduction. It remained for Rudolph Spreckels, president of the Sugar Institute, to sweep the whole bothersome problem away with a few simple words and gestures.

Mr. Spreckels tells the Boston conference on retail distribution that it is the duty of the Government to bring industry out of the kinks. State and Federal laws governing business conduct are not conducive under existing conditions to the preservation of vested capital, he says. Nor do they promote the welfare of the people. Mr. Spreckels is thereby led to the conclusion that "immediate steps should be taken by our Government to regulate competition as it did during the World War."

His first step would be to call a "great conference" in which every industry would be represented. These delegates would meet with a committee to be named by President Hoover from the two branches of Congress and the executive departments. Presumably it would be the duty of this body to "allocate to each manufacturing company its legitimate share of the existing demand" and to require every company "to sell at a price fair to consumers which will insure a reasonable profit." When that simple program shall have been carried out, Mr. Spreckels is convinced that "confidence will be quickly restored."

The only preparation that would be necessary to usher in this industrial Utopia would be a revolution in American business methods and careful destruction of the Constitution, together with all the rights of private property. This might inconvenience a few business men and other citizens, but it is not sufficient to disturb the equanimity of Mr. Spreckels. Apparently he has given attention only to the grandeur of his plan; the mere details do not interest him. Since great minds often have an aversion for details, Mr. Spreckels ought to consider carrying his plan to Russia, where it could be put into operation without the bother that would be entailed in remaking America.

THE MILITARY EXPOSITION.

Those who attend the military exposition and carnival beginning today and running through Saturday on the grounds of the Army War College will find unique entertainment and obtain valuable information. The military exposition was inaugurated in 1927 for the purpose of raising funds for the Army Relief Society. This institution cares for the widows and orphans of officers and enlisted men of the Army. Last year it disbursed $106,000 for their relief. The exposition gives the Army an opportunity to demonstrate to the public the progress that has been and is being made in military science and to exhibit the newest weapons and machines devised for the purpose of national defense.

Despite their poor pay the officers and enlisted men of the Army assess themselves for the upkeep of the Relief Society. In great measure its funds come from Army sources. The public, however, is called upon once a year to augment the fund, not through charitable contributions—the Army is too proud and too self-reliant to ask for charity—but by attending an educational exhibition that has no counterpart in this country.

This year the Relief Society has abandoned the practice of reenacting a stirring episode of the World War and instead has prepared a pageant depicting the struggles of the pioneers in covered wagon days. "Perils of the Plains" is historically accurate and is filled with color and interest. In addition to the pageant there will be on exhibition during the exposition huge tanks and other modern equipment of war. There will be artillery maneuvers, air corps demonstrations, a sham battle and other demonstrations and exhibitions of interest to the public. All branches of the service will participate. Washingtonians should turn out in force for the military carnival and exposition.

AMERICAN SHIPS

By S. S. SANDBERG,
Commissioner United States Shipping Board, at the Launching of the S. S. Borinquen at Quincy, Mass., September 24.

Progress in American shipping during the past several years has been highly encouraging. The transfer of Government-owned lines to private interests has been going on at a fast pace and the time is rapidly approaching when all the American flag services will be under private operation.

Let it be definitely understood that when the transfer is accomplished the United States Government will still retain the interest it has had in the ultimate success of a privately owned American merchant marine.

We owe the recent progress, largely, to the beneficial legislation contained in the merchant marine act of 1928. It has not only stimulated interest in the purchase of lines but it has given impetus to the much-needed revival of the shipbuilding industry, which has risen from a relatively obscure position to that of second place in world shipbuilding.

There are, at this time, almost a half million gross tons of seagoing vessels building in American shipyards, setting a new mark for peace-time operations. Despite the numerous handicaps we have again become a factor in world shipping, and the 83 lines now operating in the foreign and noncontiguous trades of the United States have in operation, in established services, a fleet of about 700 ships, aggregating nearly 4,000,000 gross tons, excluding tanker tonnage. This is an increase of 500 per cent in numbers and nearly 550 per cent in tonnage since 1914.

The value of American foreign trade transported in American bottoms has averaged about 35 per cent for the past ten years, as compared with the annual average of 10 per cent for the ten years prior to the World War. The increase in carriage is of special import when it is pointed out that the value of the percentage carried by American ships averaged $2,600,000,000 for the past decade as against $300,000,000 average for the ten years preceding the war.

Substantial gains have been made in the expansion of our foreign trade in regions where American flag services have been inaugurated.

Under the terms of the mail contracts which have been awarded and those in process of award, about 70 new ships, totaling 750,000 gross tons, will be constructed during the next eight years, which will place us in a more favorable position from a competitive standpoint.

The transportation of passengers and cargoes in the foreign commerce of the United States has developed into a billion dollar business, of which the United States is entitled to a fair share, and which can only be acquired by placing at the disposal of the traveling and shipping public facilities at least equal to that furnished by our competitors.

The United States is the object of attack and criticism for adding superfluous tonnage to an existing excess of shipping facilities. The fact is, that the present shipbuilding activities of six of the leading maritime nations total 239 sea-going ships of 2,000 gross tons and over, aggregating over 2,000,000 tons, of which the United States is building 45 of 497,000 tons. At this moment one of these countries is building more tonnage than the United States contemplates building during the next eight years.

For the benefit of those who still believe that the position we occupy is only temporary, let it be said that we are in this business to stay and that no amount of criticism or the belittling of our efforts, or the whims of theorists and short-sighted economists will change our viewpoint. Let the minds of those who have intimated that we intend to dominate the seas be relieved, for America has no such aims. It does, however, firmly intend to again occupy its rightful and economically necessary place upon the seas on a scale commensurate with the position it occupies in world affairs.

The truth of the matter is, had the other countries built as little and scrapped as much as the United States has since 1922, there would be but little idle tonnage, if any, existing today.

The policy of government aid to American shipping has been the target of spirited attack by those who pose as authorities on the subject, principally critics abroad.

The ones who shout the loudest in their denunciation of this policy well know that government aid to shipping is an old story. During the last half century the principal maritime nations have indulged in this practice to the extent of nearly a billion dollars, the United States participating least of all.

Any one thoroughly familiar with the subject knows that the aid rendered to our shipping by the Government is for one specific purpose, and that is to maintain American living standards by enabling shipowners to build their ships in this country and pay American crews the American wage scale and provide them with food and living conditions that they are accustomed to on shore. The policy of the United States is to protect its industries which come in direct competition with the cheaper labor and materials of those abroad.

The aid rendered by our Government to American shipping is merely the application of the protective principle to our shipping and shipbuilding industries, and it is the purpose of this country to uphold and support the American standards of living both ashore and afloat.

We will succeed in acquiring and maintaining an adequate merchant marine. We will provide the facilities enabling us to carry a fair share of our own trade and to compete successfully with other maritime nations in the peaceful pursuits of international commerce.

While Mother Is at the Club Saving Mankind the Children at Home Need Washing.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

AMERICANS have a messiah complex.

When the Nation was young, efforts to render unselfish service were limited to the neighbors. Those who were content with their own righteousness devoted themselves to saving their fellow citizens, sometimes by means of the whipping cart and the gallows, but domestic problems were numerous enough to prevent any thought of saving the world.

As the Nation grew stronger, however, and each succeeding generation was taught to think of America as a haven for the oppressed and a good example for a wicked world, it was inevitable that the itch to serve—that is, to meddle—should prompt a philanthropic interest in the affairs of Europe.

Financing the war to make the world safe for democracy, and taking part in it in time to claim the lion's share of credit for the victory, served to increase our sense of responsibility for the world's salvation; and now the popular mental picture and printed description of America is that of righteous and unselfish strength generously enlightening the world and teaching it the way of salvation.

Unfortunately, the world thinks of America as a Nation of self-righteous and hypocritical busy-bodies mouthing pious phrases while oppressing the unfortunate to increase their wealth, and it doesn't care for that kind of savior.

Unfortunately, too, it seems to be a rule that people who take too much interest in the affairs of the neighbors usually neglect their own.

While Americans make idealistic plans to save Europe from wars and taxes and economic distress and wickedness, their own land is given over to bandits, racketeers, mobs, demagogues, quacks and fakers, and there is no concerted effort to solve the moral and economic problems that threaten our civilization.

It is high time to amplify the slogan: "See America first." Young and old must be taught to save America first; civilize America first; clean America first.

Let the urge to serve find release in a selfish and practical effort to make America safe and respectable.

We have had too much altruistic idealism and not enough good hard sense.

JANET'S SUMMER SCARS.

Little Miss Janet is covered with brown,
Splotches and patches from toes to her crown.
We've painted with iodine elbows and knees,
And curious places where slivers can squeeze,
Fingers and knuckles and forehead and cheeks,
Till little Miss Janet seems nothing but streaks.
Tumbles from bicycles, falls from the swing—
Oh, what disaster such mishaps can bring!
Bruises and cuts from all manner of scrapes.
Where there is danger she never escapes,
Briars and fence wire reach out for her skin—
Run for the iodine, here she comes in!
Little Miss Janet is painted up brown,
People won't know her when she comes to town.
She looks like a soldier just home from the war,
And I'll swear there's no room for a single scar more.
She is iodine painted and court-plaster clad—
But, oh, what a glorious summer she's had!

RECOGNITION.

("President Hoover Recognizes Three New Governments In a Day"—Headline.)

President (a little confused): Now, just where are we now?

Mr. Stimson: We've just recognized Peru and we're considering Argentina.

President: Peru is the one that has Hitler as the new president, isn't it?

Mr. Stimson: No. You're a little mixed up. Peru is the one that overthrew Dino Grandi for Heinrich Bruning, I think.

President: That doesn't sound right. I think the president overthrown by Peru was Hipolito Trujillo.

Mr. Stimson: Maybe we're both wrong.

• • • •

President: Well, anyhow, never mind going back over all those records. What's the next business?

Mr. Stimson: The recognition of Argentina.

President: I suppose we ought to recognize it. This Leguia fellow seems to have set up a strong new government.

Mr. Stimson: Leguia isn't the one.

President: Are you sure. I was under the impression Leguia overthrew Yolanda Pereira.

Mr. Stimson: No. Leguia is the deposed President of Peru. Yolanda Pereira is the Brazilian beauty contest winner who was crowned Miss Universe.

President (wearily): These South American names and events are frightfully difficult to follow.

Mr. Stimson: Possibly it would be easier for us to recognize the new Argentine government without going into the matter of names.

President: I think we ought to get the record straight. There might be another revolution and then we'd be hopelessly balled up.

Mr. Stimson: Well, from the papers here, the situation in Argentina is this: the old president, a man by the name of Hipolito Francisco Uriburu was deposed by Gen. Jose Irigoyen.

President: Wasn't it the other way around?

Mr. Stimson: Maybe you're right.

President: Well, let's recognize whoever is in anyhow and get on to the next country.

Mr. Stimson: Chile is next.

President: Just what's the layout there?

Mr. Stimson: Er, as I recall it, the old President, Aaron Kopman, was overthrown by Prince Baudouin Albert Charles Leopold Axel Marie Gustav.

President: The son of Leopold and Astrid.

Mr. Stimson: I'm not quite clear on that.

President: Well, we'd better recognize him just the same. If we're going to recognize one South American President we've got to recognize 'em all.

CHILDREN OF ATOM.

You preached that love was only lust
Composed of molecules and dust,
And made our summer madness seem
A matter, sir, of endocrine.
And though I warned such hersy—
Reaped loss of faith in ecstacy,
Our dreams you placed upon a slide—
And probed them with a chemists pride,
They filled you with no cosmic dread
But merely turned blue litmus red.

'Twas then that I dethroned the gods
And scoffed at lyricists and bards—
And thought it jolly for a day,
To see in beauty just the clay.
But when you made me one with swine,
My wounded ego drew the line—
So then another man I found
Whose theories aren't quite profound—
He does not defy the glands,
But writes sweet sonnets to my hands.

Yet now you talk of soul and wine
And seek to worship at my shrine—
But, boy, your creed so well struck home
That I too praise the chomosome
And to your charms I'm now immune;
My hormones sing another tune.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Now You Know Who Is Responsible for Everything—Blame It on the Eighteenth Amendment.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The attempt to stampede the peepul in favor of wet candidates running on "States' rights" platform shows signs of reacting against my wet colleagues. The policy of a deceased Tammany chief, which was to "claim everything," has been revised by Messrs. Curran and Raskob, to "blame everything" on the Volstead act.

If a dry senator is beaten on account of disatisfaction over the new tariff levies, blame it on Volstead. If a dry governor is defeated on account of unemployement, charge it up to the "failure" of prohibtion. In fact, if anywhere an obscure dry is beaten by a nationally known wet, acclaim everywhere the growth of wet sentiment. The purifying presence of Saint John Barleycorn may be badly needed, but the people want the facts, not misrepresentations.

Is there a lull in building operations due to the high cost of labor and materials? Blame it on the drys. If tenants in large office buildings erected before the World War, when labor and material were cheap, are still subjected to high rent-schedules maintained and imposed arbitrarily by the National Association of Real Estates Boards, blame it on Volstead. If your automobile installments run you into debt as well as into the ditch. Blame it on the drys. Is the farmer being driven from the farms on account of confiscatory assessments and taxation? Is labor idle because the combat of rival civilizations confound the wisdom of man? Are rival nations with lower standards of living stealing our trade? Is the labor market glutted by an influx of immigrants from South Europe? Blame it on the boobs drought.

If police officers and public officials disgrace their uniforms and betray their trust in deals with crooks, blame their treachery and their treason to our State and Nation on the tee-totaler. Yes, blame the honest man. If the number of people killed by drunken drivers in peace exceeds the number killed in war, blame it on lemonade. If bombers and hijackers roam at large and loaf at will because the laws against vagrancy are not enforced, don't talk out loud, speak easy. If the home-owner must pay twice as much as banks for money borrowed from the "Federal" Reserve concern, blame it on father. And the rest of us? Are we being put out of business by chain stores and mail-order houses? Blame efficiency; blame the drys.

In short, herald the repeal of the eighteenth amendment as a panacea for all our ills. If there is no corn on the cob on account of drought, leave it to Raskob—he knows who is responsible; make a goat of Volstead. The Republican manager of the Democrats is nothing if not positive that a wet-tidal wave is rushing back to restore us to normalcy and happy days. From Elba and exile comes Saint Barleycorn and the full dinner stein!

"Box Fighters" Too Effeminate and Have Lost Their Following Here, Observes Old Sport.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What I would like to know is whether there are enough genuine "fight fans" in the country to justify the large amount of space devoted to the manly are of fisticuffs in our "journals of civilization."

I take some interest in all kinds of sports, but column-long biographies of third and fourth rate prizefighters don't "intrigue" me, if that is the right word.

Among my acquaintances I frequently meet golf addicts, race track bugs and tennis, football and baseball fans who devour the sporting-page literature of their favorite pastimes with appetites that are keen. Prize-fight enthusiasts are made the more conspicuous by their dearth, however.

In Washington, I am not afraid to guess, lively interest in prize fighting is limited to not more than a few hundreds, while most of these would not miss the prize-ring "dope" if it never appeared in their family paper.

There was a good old time in the days of desperate, bare-fisted, bloody scraps of unlimited duration when at least something of the heroic centered in a prize fight. The winner netted a thousand dollars or so for his bruises, while the victim was lucky if he didn't have to borrow carfare back home.

Since then the sport has been shorn of its roughness. It has become heroic. Today's "heroes of the square circle" are in it for one hundred thousand and up, win or lose, and I am proud to observe that Washingtonians take no stock in the fistic ballyhoo.

OLD SPORT.

Wilson Normal School Should Have Late Classes for Teachers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: School officials should not urge teachers to pursue night courses unless such courses are provided for them. Practically all supervisors insist that teachers who are graduates of the Wilson Normal School secure their A. B. degree in education through night study. There is only one institution in the District of Columbia where these courses may be taken, a private institution that is poorly equipped and inconvenient, as well as quite expensive.

The Wilson Normal School has now instituted a four-year course leading to the degree of bachelor of arts in education, and, with little expense, which would be more than overcome by tuition charges, late afternoon or evening courses could be provided for those teachers now in the public school system who have not received this degree. In this way the school authorities could present such courses as they deem best suited for teachers in the District of Columbia, and not only improve the system through uniform training, but do a great service to the teachers as well.

Many teachers have been in the system for a number of years, and additional schooling whereby up-to-date methods could be presented would be of value to them and to the system. If school officials feel that public school teachers should be equipped with a college degree they should provide for the proper course before insisting that the degree be obtained.

JERRY SOUTH DIES; ONCE HOUSE CLERK

Well-Known Political Figure Succumbs to Illness of Three Years.

ATTORNEY IN SLUSH QUIZ

Jerry South, clerk of the House of Representatives throughout the Wilson administration, died yesterday at his home, 2153 California street, following an illness of three years. He was 64 years old and for the past several years had been practicing law.

Long a well-known figure in politics, he last figured as attorney for Reed in the slush fund investigations. He was acting clerk of the House during the colorful days of Champ Clark.

A native of Frankfort, Ky., Mr. South attended the University of Louisville and was graduated with a law degree from the University of Virginia and shortly thereafter went to Arkansas and began a law practice in 1888. He was chief counsel in more than twenty murder trials and later became a member of the Arkansas House of Representatives. Before leaving the State to accept the post in Washington, he was lieutenant governor. He also had been a delegate to the Democratic national conventions from 1896 to 1912.

During the Spanish-American War, Mr. South served as a captain in the Arkansas Infantry. He was a trustee of the University of Arkansas and a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ellen Chappell Hargie South; a son, J. Curtis South; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Trabue and Mrs. Lindsay Blayney, and a brother, Dr. John Glover South.

Funeral arrangements had not been made last night, but it was said Mr. South would be given a military burial at Arlington Cemetery.

Two Boys Are Sought In Dynamite Cap Blast

Montgomery County police of the Takoma substation are looking for two boys who are believed to have set a dynamite cap which seriously injured Charles Guiffre, 14 years old, Tuesday night. The Guiffre boy was reported recovering from burns on the face, hands, feet and body, and last night at the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, where he was taken after the explosion.

Charles stepped over the cap just as it exploded. In a hurry to reach his home, 5 Houston avenue, Takoma Park, Md., he did not heed the shouts of two unidentified boys. Sergt. Earl Burdine, in charge of the Takoma Park substation, is making an investigation.

Former Governor iDes in Charleston

W. A. MacCorkle Was West Virginia State Chief Four Years.

William A. MacCorkle, Governor of West Virginia from 1893 to 1897, died yesterday at Charleston, W. Va.

Mr. MacCorkle, who was an outstanding lawyer in the State, was born in Lexington, Rockbridge County, Va., in 1857. He was a graduate of Washington and Lee University and was admitted to the West Virginia bar in 1878.

From 1880 to 1897 he was the prosecuting attorney of Kanawha, and in 1893 he was elected governor. From 1910 to 1914 he served in the State Senate of West Virginia.

In addition to his degree from Washington and Lee he also held honors from William and Mary College and the University of West Virginia.

He was a member of Kanawha Lodge, No. 20, F. A. A. M., and John W. Morris Consistory, Scottish Rite Masons. He is survived by his son, William D., a brother, Judge John A. MacCorkle, and a sister, Miss Mary MacCorkle.

Meat Dealer Seeks Bankruptcy.

W. D. SULLIVAN RITES SET FOR TOMORROW

Remains of Bank Director Will Be Laid at Rest in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

SERVED IN CIVIL WAR

Funeral services for William D. Sullivan, the oldest bank director in Washington, who died Tuesday night, will be held at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception following brief rites at his home, 1408 Eighth street northwest. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. Sullivan, who was 91 years old, though retired from active business had been director of the Lincoln National Bank practically since it was organized in 1890.

Despite his age, he had been active until about a month ago when he fell from the front door steps of his home. Since then he has failed rapidly.

A native of Alexandria, Va., he began his business career in the Capital with a hide and leather shop, first at Eighth street and Florida avenue and later at Georgia avenue and the old Seventh street road. He was a veteran of the Civil War, serving with distinction in the New York regiment as quartermaster sergeant in charge of supplies.

He was married in January, 1863. His wife died in 1912. Seven of twelve children survive, together with nine grandchildren and eighteen great grandchildren. The children are William J. and George S. Sullivan, Mrs. Ella Wisner, Mrs. Mary E. Thomas, Mrs. W. J. Wagner, Miss Annie Sullivan, and Mrs. Clara Furmage.

Takoma Park Firemen To Buy New Equipment

The purchase of additional fire-fighting equipment, an oil heating plant and a $390 siren to surmount the new $50,000 fire house was authorized at a meeting of the Takoma Park Volunteer Fire Department last night. The new siren will be operated by the Silver Spring-Shepherd telephone operator, and the old siren, mounted on the Review and Herald Publishing Co.'s building, will be dismantled.

Prior to launching a campaign for funds, the department tentatively decided on plans designed to impress citizens of the community with the necessity of maintaining an adequate fire-fighting force.

Carnegie Award Jurors From Europe in Capital

European members of the jury of award for the Twenty-ninth Carnegie Institute International arrived in Washington last night for a two-day visit, during which they will inspect the Corcoran and Phillips Memorial Art Galleries, and be the luncheon guests of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Homer Saint-Gaudens, director of the institute's department of fine arts, is in charge of the party.

The European members of the jury are Henry Matisse, of Paris; Glyn Philpot, of London, and Karl Sterrer, of Vienna.

MUSICIANS MAY END MOVIE STRIFE TODAY

PERSONNEL CUT IS SEEN

Final settlement of the long-standing contract row between musicians and motion picture theater owners is expected to result from a conference in New York today, when a committee of local musicians will submit proposals believed to embody drastic reductions of orchestras in principal houses here and the elimination of all orchestras in smaller houses.

John E. Birdsell, executive secretary of the Musicians Protective Union, will head the delegation to New York today, with full authority to enter into whatever agreement the committee deems best for the musicians' interests. Mr. Birdsell last night denied that any settlement had been reached so far.

Mr. Birdsell refused to reveal details of the offers to be submitted at the New York conference, but it was understood that if the proposals are accepted musicians in local houses will be reduced from 107 to 61. The Fox and Palace orchestras, it is understood, will be cut from about 36 to 21, and only organists will be retained at the Rialto, Columbia, Metropolitan and R-K-O-Keith theaters.

Mr. Birdsell and A. C. Hayden, president of the musicians' union, conferred with officials in New York Tuesday, and it is believed that offers to be submitted by the musicians today are in line with suggestions advanced by New York interests and hence will prove acceptable.

The truce under which musicians were kept in downtown houses expires with the end of current shows today and tomorrow, but in view of the fact that Mr. Hayden advised the Fox management that stage shows could be booked for next week, it seems certain that musicians will still be at work then, even if no final settlement has been reached before that time.

Army Man Takes Life With Bullet

Body of Walter Reed Patient Kills Self in Home in Baltimore.

Walter M. Bird, Army warrant officer, who has been taking treatment at Walter Reed Hospital for a nervous disorder, shot himself to death yesterday at his apartment in Baltimore. His body, partially clad, was discovered by the janitor about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

His left hand clutched a pistol and beside him lay a mirror, which police believe he used to direct his aim. He left an unsigned note which said: "I have the name, why not the game? I have tried my best, but failed. Away with those heralds of chivalry. My ghost shall not taunt those who exaggerate for professional emphasis."

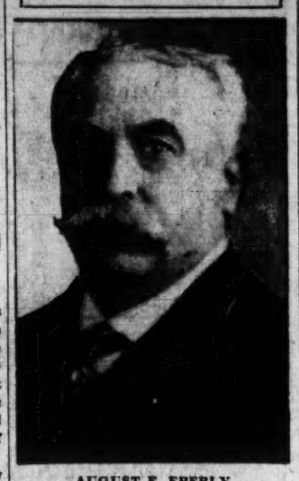
Dr. Otto M. Reinhardt, acting coroner, expressed the opinion that Bird was mentally unbalanced. He was about 40 years old. His wife, Mrs. Charlotte V. Bird, and their 4-year-old son, Richard, were visiting relatives at Upper Marlboro.

Two Killed When Car Is Struck by Express

Corning, N. Y., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Landing in front of a speeding Lackawanna passenger train after their automobile had left the highway and dropped down a 90-foot embankment, two men were instantly killed near here early today.

They were identified through papers in their possession as W. Sterling Maxwell, of Hinsdale, Ills., sales manager of the Maxwell Brothers' Box Manufacturing Co., of Chicago, and J. L. Larsen, 24, of Astoria, N. Y.

DEAD MERCHANT



AUGUST F. EBERLY.

Retired Merchant Expires at Late Residence in Capital.

Funeral services for August F. Eberly, who died yesterday morning, will be held at his late residence in the Dresden Apartments, Connecticut avenue and Kalorama road, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Eberly, who was 75 years old, was a life-long resident of Washington. Before retiring from business he was president of A. Eberly's Sons, Inc. He was the son of Anten F. Eberly, who organized the Eberly firm more than 75 years ago.

Surviving are his widow, a son, August F. Eberly, jr., and three daughters, Mrs. Beverlie J. Smith, jr., Mrs. Harry K. Boss and Mrs. Ralph D. Quinter.

175 Russian Peasants Killed in Earthquake

Stalinabad, Tadjikistan, Soviet Republic, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—An earthquake which wiped out seven villages and badly damaged ten others, killed 175 peasants, injured more than 300 and left about 1,200 families destitute in this region early today. A special relief commission headed by Vice Chairman Gluichak, of the Tadjikistan cabinet, has gone into the devastated region to render assistance.

The earthquake occurred at 4:15 a. m. Many of the victims were buried in the ruins of their homes where death overtook them in their sleep.

Early Snow Blankets Provinces of Canada

Winnipeg, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—One of the earliest snowfalls in years blanketed wide sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan today.

The storm came on a strong wind that broke poles and ripped away wires so that communication was almost entirely disrupted between the two provinces. Temperatures dropped to the freezing point or slightly below and the snowfall ranged from an inch to an inch and three-quarters.

Andree Relic Gunboat Delay Will Halt Rites

Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The Swedish gunboat Svenksund, bearing relics of the Andree expedition to its homeland, has been delayed and will not reach Stockholm Sunday during daylight hours as had been expected.

Consequently it will be impossible to hold funeral rites before Monday.

BODY OF 'VETERAN' WILL BE EXHUMED

Corpse Thought Marcey's to Be Removed Today From Arlington Cemetery.

IDENTITY IS UNKNOWN

The body buried in Arlington Cemetery under the mistaken impression that it was that of Robert E. Marcey, a World War veteran, of Lyonhurst, Va., will be exhumed at 2 o'clock today by War Department officials, who will attempt to identify it through fingerprints.

On Friday, the body, which had been identified as that of Mr. Marcey by his sister and five brothers, was buried with military honors. Several hundred friends attended the funeral. Mrs. Marcey insisted that her son was alive.

A letter received by Mrs. Marcey from her son on Tuesday caused the reunion of Mr. Marcey and his family, which had mourned him as dead.

Every agency of the War Department and Veterans' Bureau, which assisted at the burial, will attempt to identify the man buried.

Mr. Marcey left home several weeks ago to obtain work as a plasterer. Then days ago a man was killed in an automobile accident at Upper Falls, Md. Mrs. O. C. Walker, of Lyonhurst, identified the body as that of her brother.

Maryland authorities had identified the body as that of Joseph H. Thomas, of Winston-Salem, N. C. The body had been mutilated in the accident. Marcey bears a striking resemblance to the dead man. Mrs. Walker could not identify the clothes as those of her brother.

Austrian Prince Operated On.

Bilbao, Spain, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Prince Rudolf, 11-year-old son of former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary, underwent an operation for appendicitis today. His condition was reported satisfactory tonight.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

FOLLOWING his testimony at the Radio Commission, W. K. "Old Man" Henderson, of Station KWKH, Shreveport, La., when the temperature was soaring like a summer day, roamed about the hall of the commission with a pitcher in his hand.

"There is nothing stronger than water around here," the fiery broadcaster ejaculated, "and I can't even find any of that."

By way of spiking the rumor that he was bankrupt, Henderson previously had declared to Ben K. Pratt, commission examiner, that he was worth more than a million dollars above his debts and has nearly a half million dollars' worth of life insurance, which will be doubled in case he dies by accident.

"I hope to God I go that way," he exclaimed, in the manner so well known to listeners.

Henderson declared that 35,000 persons had paid $12 apiece for the privilege of becoming members of the Merchant Minute Men's Association, which he organized to fight the "chain store menace." He testified that he reserved the right to use the money collected from the "Minute Men" as he saw fit.

When asked about "Hello World" coffee, which he sells over his station for $1 per pound, Henderson declared he told his listeners quite candidly that the coffee was not worth anywhere near that amount, but that in buying the coffee they were "donating the difference to the cause," meaning his fight against the chain stores.

IF the Commerce Department feels it has no authority to curb the unearthly blare which comes from planes broadcasting advertising speeches and distorted music into everybody's ears it would seem hospital officials might have something to say about it.

Eliminating the human element and timing races to within one one-hundredth of a second is the feature of the new radio clocking appartus perfected by two Haverford College students.

The report of the starting pistol is picked up by a microphone and starts the electrical device, and when the runner crosses the finish line he intercepts a beam of light sent across the line. Thus a timing record of the race is made.

THERE was a craning of necks when Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt appeared in her first radio case this week as counsel for Dr. Leon Levy, of Station WCAU, Philadelphia.

Facetious announcement over Station WJZ (announcer taking a shot at miniature golf courses):

"The next Olympic games will be matching a couple of Singer's Midgets in a telephone booth."

Dare Interprets the Mode

A very smart coat of a heavy beige and black silk which looks like tweed. The coat is lined in plain beige and collared with brown fox. (Courtesy of Martial et Armand, Paris).

Paris, Sept. 24.

THAT evening coat of two years ago! If you are a procrastinating sort of a person, you haven't done anything with it during these last two years when you couldn't make up your mind whether to actually cut it off and make a little short wrap out of it, or to try to add some sort of a band at the bottom and make a long wrap out of it.

And lo and behold, a nice kind Dame Fashion has answered that question for you! And the truth of the matter is that you don't have to do anything at all with it—because what was a long coat two years or so ago and came to the hem of your evening dress is this season a three-quarter evening wrap, very smart and new in evening wrap language, and very graceful indeed when properly worn and held over a long evening dress!

* * * *

We are going to have to be awfully careful not to put too many fur gobs on things. It's awfully hard not to, with the present popularity of these little flat fur trimmings, but you can restrain yourself.

I have in mind the ermine trimming on black suede gloves which I have seen at several of the big designers, not always alas: very effectively done. It seems difficult to put even the tiniest touch of ermine, or any kind of fur for that matter, on your glove, without getting that heavy stuck-on effect. Actually this effect can be avoided when the ermine is not really stuck on, but incrusted, and the suede part of the glove cut out from under the incrustation.

* * * *

Aprons certainly do a lot for themselves these happy days! In fact, you just wouldn't know an apron if you saw one, so delicately dainty and delightful it would be, so nonsensical looking the while it was every bit as sturdy and practical as its calico ancestors. Better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for twelve tea apron designs and directions for making!

* * * *

Subtle, that's what I would say the Martial et Armand coat was that I have sketched for you today—subtly elegant. As you look at it it looks like a tweed, and a silk tweed, being beige and black, or black with silk threads really. And then the lining was beige, and the collar brown, and, well, I just knew you would want to see it.

* * * *

Heim, the famous furrier and coat maker of Paris, advances the very interesting theory that the reason why women like to wear coats and usually prefer a coat to a dress when (and when not) the weather permits, is because a dress is revealing, actually moulding the body, while a coat is concealing, even though it sculptures an ideal shape which is presumably underneath it.

* * * *

Now, we're back again to our mention of the weekly Dare fashion letter for which you should look every Sunday in The Washington Post.

Au Revoir!

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF September 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:45 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m The danger periods are from 6:30 a. m. to 7:45 a. m. and from noon to 1:30 p m.

The rays of Mercury will cast their influence on your life on this date, and changes may be anticipated, adjustments of mental standpoints, travel and rounds of pleasure. Improved business and domestic conditions. Conjugal ties strengthened through love and understanding.

The child born on this September 25 will have an analytical mind, and will be almost too critical for its own good. It will be better as an imitator than an originator. It will succeed through its industry and persistence and will generally be self-possessed and self-reliant.

If you be a man, your character is two-sided. Socially, you are unfailingly genial and livery witted, and are an easily approached being. In your home you are generous and thoughtful, and an almost "easy mark" for the selfish demands of your family. You take an infinite pride in your family, and nothing is too good for them. To the world at large, and to your business associates, you are a different being—none the less honorable, none the less respected, but much the less loved. You are as hard as nails in driving a deal, and you expect those about you to follow your example of concentrated industry. You never mix business and pleasure—you are very serious about your work. You are unsympathetic with those who can not "fill the bill," but are just to those who please. You have an inflated egotism abroad and a shunken one at home.

If you be a woman, you try to keep your spirit level, and your character is only one-sided. You are generous and courteous at all times and with all people. Your hospitality is renowned, and you are ever ready to serve your friends with material benefits, and also with good laughs, or sympathetic tears. You are seldom "down in the mouth," and when you are you fight your troubles out alone. Your maternal instincts are so strong that you "mother" everybody who needs a sheltering wing.

Successful people born September 25:

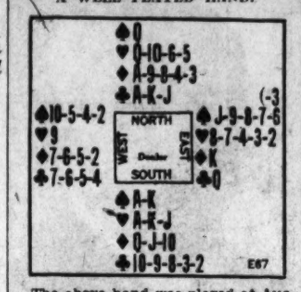
A WELL PLAYED HAND.



The above hand was played at Auction Bridge; South bid one No Trump and obtained the contract.

At Contract South would bid two No Trumps, considering his Clubs to be stopped, and North would have ample strength to suggest a slam. He probably would do it by bidding five No Trumps, but whether South would be justified in bidding six is a question, as all of his strength has been shown by the first bid.

In the play West led the Deuce of Spades, North played the Queen, and South won with the King. South, before trying the Diamond finesse, led a Club and played North's King; postponing the finesse until the second round. He was surprised and delighted to catch East's lone Queen and led North's two remaining Clubs, and then a Heart from dummy to put South in with the Ace to run the Clubs. The fall of the Nine of Hearts and the subsequent discard of a Diamond by West suggested that West's Nine had been his only Heart. The lead of the King of Hearts from South proved that to be the case and marked East with the singleton King of Diamonds (West, from his lead of the Deuce of Spades and single Heart, could be marked with four Clubs and four Diamonds and without an honor in either suit—had he held an honor in either suit he would have led that suit). Therefore, it was an easy matter for the Declarer who had drawn the inferences obtainable from West's play, to drop that Diamond King and make an Auction Grand Slam.

Many opportunities are lost by Declarers who fail to take advantage of information obtainable from the bidding and play of the adversaries.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

Please tell me when and how to fertilize dahlias. I never grew these plants before and am not familiar with their culture or care.

MRS. AMELIA T.Y.

Let me tell you what one of our largest commercial growers recommends. "The dahlia is a gross feeder and any kind of good fertilizer that is most available may be used. Ground bone and tobacco dust are best and any good fertilizer next We use a potato fertilizer. Apply broadcast when preparing the soil. Later apply broadcast when flowers are coming into bud and again when flowers commence to grow smaller.

Is the Kenilworth ivy a wise choice for a rather small pottery hanging basket which has perfect drainage? BLELEAH P. P.

Yes provided you give it plenty of moisture.

Please tell me what to do for my gladioluses. They are in bud, but the leaves are turning brown at the tips. I give them plenty of water and cultivate the soil constantly and have fed them bonemeal.

VERA W. S.

You may have set the bulbs too deep. They should be planted only two or three inches below the surface of the soil. The ground must be literally soaked when watering these plants if it is to do any good. Merely sprinkling the surface is of little use. I am sure your plants need more water. They also must be planted in the sun.

Is it necessary to have large clumps of hardy chrysanthemums in order to have large flowers in the fall?

A REAL AMATEUR.

No; if young plants from two-inch pots with one or two shoots are set in May and pinched several times as the season progresses they will make larger bushes and give better bloom than if clumps two or three years old, even though well established, are used. In the case of old plants, it is best to take them up in the spring, when they begin to grow and divide several times before replanting.

Do verbenas require cultivation? Mine have done so beautifully this season and I am inclined to think it is due to the fact that I cultivated them as long as there was room to work between the plants.

MRS. HARRY G.

Verbenas will thrive in any soil, striking root wherever a point touches the ground. The plants should be set a foot apart and cultivation should be kept up as long as you have space to work.

Please tell me why the buds persist in falling from my camelia plant.

MARY T. R.

This may be due to dryness of atmosphere or insufficient water at the roots. Then, too, remember that the camelia prefers a sandy loam and flower best in a partial shade as well as a somewhat moist location. It is really a conservatory plant and rarely does well in the house.

How often must I water pansies? My plants have done beautifully until this last warm spell, now they are not doing so well. MRS. ANN M.

During hot, dry weather the pansy bed should be watered twice a day—at night and at noon. All plants will not stand water under hot sun, but pansies are not injured by it in any way.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

RULES FOR EASY HOUSECLEANING.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Keep dirt out of the house by cleaning the walks, steps, porches and sills regularly and often, by screening windows and doors near the ground, and by insisting on having muddy shoes and coats cleaned or left outside.

Lessen the number of dust-collecting places, such as unnecessary cupboards, grooved and carved woodwork, floors with cracks, rough-finished walls, elaborately carved and upholstered furniture, superfluous draperies and bric-a-brac.

Remove dirt frequently and systematically. This keeps the house and furnishings in better condition and makes the need of heavy cleaning less frequent.

Clean by taking the dirt away, not by scattering it to settle again elsewhere. Do heavy cleaning a little at a time to avoid the hard work and discomforts of the old-fashioned spring and fall housecleaning.

Have a supply of good cleaning tools, such as your work calls for, and keep them in good order in a convenient place.

Use water and cleaning agents sparingly because otherwise they may spoil finishes and weaken glue, paste or cement.

Be on the outlook for troublesome insects and animals and take prompt measures to get rid of them if they appear.

Make all the family help by leaving things where they belong and in good condition.

Advice to the Very Young

By the Goofus Dodo

Fly paper makes a lovely seat
For Uncles and for Aunts;
You'll find it makes them stick around
Though it is hard on pants!

Chewing gum is lovely, too;
Girls love it in their tresses
And if well chewed, then rolled in balls,
Will ornament their dresses!

When splashing ink upon the floor
Or jam upon the ceiling,
Be sure the colors match the rug—
Show some aesthetic feeling!

Mrs. Freyer Will Give Up Home in City

Apartment to Be Taken During Display of Objets d'Art.

WITH her family scattered and her furniture going "on tour," Mrs. Frank B. Freyer has decided to give up her house at 1771 Massachusetts avenue and to take an apartment at Stoneleigh Court for the winter months. She and her daughter, Miss Engracia Freyer, will take possession of their new home on October 1.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Freyer's residence housed a most rare and beautiful collection of ancient Peruvian furniture, paintings and objects d'art, assembled during the several years which Capt. and Mrs. Freyer spent in Lima while he was serving as a member of the American naval mission to Peru. Connoisseurs wax lyrical over her collection, the finest in this country, and it has been decided to exhibit it in several cities of this country as a gesture toward cultivating friendly relations with Latin America through a better understanding of the cultural achievements of some of our sister republics.

The thought of remaining in the house without her beautiful things around her was distasteful to Mrs. Freyer. Moreover, with Capt Freyer on sea duty, in command of the U. S. S. Trenton, and with Frank B. Freyer, jr., a student at Lawrenceville, the little family would have rattled round in the big mansion. So Mrs. Freyer and her daughter made up their minds to try apartment dwelling for the winter. Miss Freyer was a debutante last year and had a brilliant season.

"The Freyer collection" will be shipped from Washington to Toledo, Ohio, and will be shown first as part of a marvelous collection of Spanish and Spanish colonial art to be held at the Toledo Museum under the direction of its assistant director, Mme. George Stevens Rivere, whose husband is assistant director of the Trocedero Museum in Paris. An authority on the art of Spain and her colonies, Mme. Rivere has brought together what is described as a "stupendous" collection, in which Mrs. Freyer's rare and lovely things will be prominently displayed. They will occupy four rooms, fitted up as drawing room, dining room, bed chamber and chapel.

Each piece is rare and authentic and many of them are examples of the art of painting with gold leaf, inherited from the Incas and lost to modern artistic development. It was a wonder to Mrs. Freyer's friends that she could fill her house with these museum pieces, each displayed to the most perfect advantage and yet retain the informal charm of a home. From Toledo the collection will go to the Brooklyn Museum and arrangements are now being made to display it later in several other cities.

Departing Envoy Calls on President.

Before sailing yesterday for his country on official business, the Roumainian Minister, Mr. Charles A. Davila, was received by President Hoover, to whom he presented his new credentials sent by H. M. King Carol I after his accession to the throne. The audience took place on Monday. Mr. Davila was also received by Gen. Pershing and by Mr. Ogden Mills, Under Secretary of the Treasury.

Representative Katherine Langley, of Kentucky, is in Washington for several days.

The American Ambassador to Germany and Mrs. Frederic M. Sackett arrived in Washington Tuesday night from New York and will be guests at the Mayflower for a few days before going to their home in Louisville, Ky. They will return to Europe about the middle of October.

Mrs. C. S. Mitchell, Miss Elizabeth Mitchell and Miss Harriet Mitchell, who have been spending the summer at their country home on Cape Cod, Mass., have returned to their Washington residence.

Former Senator William M. Cadler, of New York, is at the Willard.

Mrs. Robert Crain and her daughter, Miss Eleanor Crain, who have been at Mount Victoria, their country home in southern Maryland, will return on October 15 to Baltimore, where they propose to pass the coming winter. Miss Margaret Crain has resumed her studies at the Holton Arms School.

Miss Laura Tuckerman and Miss Loranda Prochnik were the guests of Miss Crain at Mount Victoria over the last week-end, but have now returned to town.

Mrs. Calvin Matthews will leave Washington shortly to join Col. Matthews, U. S. M. C., in Nicaragua. Her sister, Mrs. Philip Patchin, has come from her home in California for a brief visit in Washington and will place her two daughters in Gunston Hall School. She is the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mason, at Gunston Hall. Mrs. Matthews was Miss Julia Mason and Mrs. Patchin, Miss Polly Mason.

Miss Grace Burton, niece of the late Senator Burton, has returned to her apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue after passing the summer at her home in Ohio.

Mrs. T. T. Ansberry Returns to Capital.

Mrs. T. T. Ansberry and her son, Peter, have arrived in Washington and are at the Hay-Adams House, where they will be joined tomorrow by Judge Ansberry. They will make their home here this winter instead of going to Florida, as they have for several years.

Mrs. Ralph Worthington and Miss Marian Worthington, of Washington, are among arrivals at the St. Regis in New York.

Mr. A. W. Neal And New York Girl Will Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Announce Daughter's Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. John deBarth Walbach Gardiner, of 161 East Seventy-ninth street, New York, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Emily Ritchie Gardiner, to Mr. Alvin Willard Neal. Miss Gardiner is the granddaughter of the late Mrs. Donald McLean, formerly president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and is a cousin of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland. She attended the Brearly School in New York.

Mr. Neal, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Bailey Neal, of Chattanooga, Tenn., was graduated from the United States Naval Academy, class of 1930, and is at present associated with the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss J. P. Chapman, of Watertown, Mass., is at the Carlton for several days, accompanied by Miss S. F. Silman, of Watertown; Miss M. C. Haskins, of Boston, and Miss E. D. Lawson, of Somerville, Mass.

Young People Will Have Fun At Army Fete

Special Plans Arranged for Entertaining Juveniles.

Children of all ages, including those "children of a larger growth" who never lose their sense of enjoyment of pleasant foolishness, will have special entertainment provided for them at the military exposition and carnival, which opens this afternoon at the Army War College. There will be a merry-go-round and a Ferris wheel, with a stimulating view of the exposition grounds. Boys and girls will find appealing the archery booth and the baseball throwing stands. And a miniature golf course will be running both night and day, presumably with oldsters and youngsters clamoring for a chance to play. The "links" will be gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns, shrubbery and colored lights.

One of the most interesting features will be the pigeon races in the afternoon, the pigeons having been brought from the Signal Corps lofts at Fort Monmouth, N. J. The birds will be placed on exhibition before and after the races at the Signal Corps exhibition tent.

The carnival spirit will reign throughout the children's section of the grounds, which will be gay with flags and balloons and colored buntings.

Mrs. George Gibbs, wife of the chief signal officer, United States Army, assisted by Mrs. E. A. Kruger, wife of the judge advocate general, Mrs. William C. Everson, wife of the chief of the Militia Bureau, and the ladies of the Militia Bureau, judge advocate general's department and the Signal Corps, are in charge of the entertainment for children.

Diplomats and dignitaries attending the fete will assemble with the bridge players at the Officers' Club at the tea hour each afternoon. Today Mrs. Charles P. Summerall and Mrs. Odus C. Horney will preside at the tea table and each day there will be groups of distinguished ladies in the role of hostesses.

Mrs. William D. Connor, wife of the Commandant of the Army War College, heads the committee which will serve a chicken dinner between the afternoon and evening performances of "The Perils of the Plains," headliner on the program of entertainment. Two large mess tents, comfortably seating 500 persons, have been erected. Between them is a Salvation Army tent, where doughnuts and coffee, beloved of the A. E. F., will be served. Ensign and Mrs. Charles Dodd, of the Salvation Army, will be assisted by a number of workers who fried doughnuts for the soldiers in France.

Mrs. Connor will be assisted in the dinner tent by Mrs. J. W. Anderson, Mrs. J. C. Bartholf, Mrs. Herbert J. Brees, Mrs. Simon B. Buckner, Mrs. Paul Bunker, Mrs. Charles M. Busbee, Mrs. James E. Chaney, Mrs. Andrew D. Chaffin, Mrs. R. C. Cotton, Mrs. H. C. Gibner, Mrs. E. F. Haines, Mrs. L. P. Hartley, Mrs. F. B. Haynes, Mrs. S. J. Heidner, Mrs. John K. Herr, Mrs. C. W. Jenkins, Mrs. Henry Jewett, Mrs. A. L. P. Johnson, Mrs. H. W. Lystad, Mrs. C. H. Miller, Mrs. William H. Morris, Mrs. Earl Naiden, Mrs. R. T. Phinney, Mrs. Walter M. Robertson and Mrs. Sidney Williams.

Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning, jr., has rejoined Mr. Chewning in Washington after a visit with her parents, Senator and Mrs. James Couzens, in Michigan. Mr. Chewning was with her but returned a week earlier. Their cousin, Miss Carrol Gordon Herndon, who will be in college in Virginia through the coming winter, will spend her holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Chewning and they expect to give a coming out party for her in the Christmas season.

Mrs. Chewning, who showed her "ponies" in several of the horse shows this summer, was injured in a fall from her horse shortly before returning home, but is now entirely recovered.

Miss Sallie Williams, daughter of Mrs. Russell B. Williams, has entered Bradford Academy, at Bradford, Mass., the oldest institution for the higher

AIDS' TRIAL TO GIVE HITLER VIEWS AIRING

Fascist Leader May Seize Opportunity to Talk on Politics.

EXCITEMENT IN COURT

Leipzig, Germany, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Adolph Hitler, head of the German National Socialists (Fascists) party, may get an opportunity tomorrow to express his views and plans regarding Germany's political condition before the court which is trying three Reichswehr lieutenants on charges of high treason in connection with Fascist activities.

Today's session in the trial of Lieuts. Richard Scheringer, Hans Ludien and Hans Friedrich Wendt, proceeded quietly. There was an exciting interlude, however, as Capt. von Pfeffer, a Fascist, who had been summoned as a witness, failed to appear when his name was called in court. He later was brought in forcibly under police escort.

Another witness, Capt. Wagner, described himself as "chief of staff of the Fascist storm troops." The three lieutenants are accused of having had dealings with him.

"The time now has come for us to take over the army," Capt. Wagner asserted in court. "We have 107 members in parliament. When we get into power we shall lay down two conditions—namely, new elections for the Prussian diet and the taking over of the Reichswehr ministry by us." Several fellow officers of Scheringer described him and Ludin as rather muddle-headed idealists. The Reichswehr's ministry's order forbidding officers to have anything to do with subversive movements was produced in court. The three defendants admitted that they knew the contents of the order.

A charge of high treason also is pending against Hitler. However, the charge is not a post-election development, the Reichswehr ministry explaining that the complaint dates back more than a year. The counsel defending the trio of lieutenants also is attorney for Hitler.

Program Is Arranged For Play Club Season

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
OCTOBER 5—11
IT PAYS TO OBSERVE IT
AGAIN by proclamation, the President of the United States and the Governors of the states declare the importance and significance of Fire Prevention Week. This year it is the week of October 5-11. Communities which have earnestly observed Fire Prevention Week have profited by substantial reductions in the number and amount of fire losses occurring within that week and the period immediately following it.
Year-round Program in 700 Cities
Under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, more than 700 cities are competing in continuous programs of fire prevention and protection. In these cities Fire Prevention Week is merely the occasion for a fresh yearly start.
Civic organizations, realizing that preventing the destruction of existing industrial plants is just as important as the winning of new enterprises for the community, are giving the fire prevention movement a constantly increasing measure of support.
STOCK FIRE INSURANCE
represents highly organized facilities for the encouragement of this work. These have been extensively used and are constantly available, without charge, to any individual, organization or community.
Comprehensive fire prevention campaigns have become decided factors in enhancing personal and material safety in this country. It will pay you to take an active part in such worthy efforts.

MISS MYSTERIOUS

By LARRY LAWRENCE

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Thelma Townley, affectionately called Babe by her friends at the university, is given a terrific shock when she gets a letter from her guardian, Clement Forseith, saying that he has lost all her money and is going to take his own life. The letter adds that her name is not Townley, and predicts that she will never learn her real identity. Babe tells this to her chum, Violet. A handsome young man, who calls himself Morgan, proposes to her, saying that he knows of her trouble. She suspects him of having a selfish motive, but does not know what it is, thinking that she is penniless. Peter Jones, Milwaukee sculptor, begs Babe to marry him, but she refuses, feeling that she has no right to marry until she has learned her identity. She is kidnaped. Pete rescues her. While in Milwaukee seeking work, a man, who gives the name of Mac, offers her a strange job. She accepts, meets Morgan at a rambling dive, and goes with him to his apartment. He tells her that Forseith is not dead, and she suspects that he is the man who is trying to capture her, but can not guess the reason. Morgan attempts to hold her in his arms, and Babe accidentally shoots him. Mac arrives at this moment, sees that Morgan is not seriously wounded, searches and finds two old breeches that had been stolen from Babe. She now realizes that she is in love, and can't tell whether she loves Mac or Pete the more, and is worried for fear she has inherited a moral taint from her unknown parents. It only strengthens her resolution to learn her identity. Mac reveals his peculiar game. He is seeking vengeance on a man who murdered some one dear to him many years ago. Babe tells her story, and they realize that the man Mac seeks is Forseith, her guardian and the man suspected of plotting against her. In order to get a line on Forseith, she feigns amnesia, and is arrested and held for mental observation. Forseith tries to get her out of the Emergency Hospital. Pete and Violet rescue her from the police, and Pete and Mac see that they are rivals. Mac is captured by a member of Forseith's gang and taken to the hideout of a Chicago gangster, where Forseith is staying. Babe finds the place, and is hurt in a wreck. Pete helps her, and they come near to love and an understanding, but when she insists on going to Mac, they quarrel. She runs away, and goes alone into the gangster's lodge. Mac is being tortured when she arrives. She is held prisoner. The gangster known as Scareye and the Boss is full of whisky. He fears that a rival gangster is trying to kill him. Forseith attempts to take a pistol from Lugo, drunken bodyguard of the Boss.

CHAPTER 26.

The drunken Lugo dropped to the floor. Forseith bent over to pick up Lugo's automatic that had clattered to the floor. Babe took a quick step forward and kicked the gun out of Forseith's reach and toward Mac, who had hobbled close to the center of the fray. Mac dropped to both knees and grasped the gun. He brought it up aimed true at Forseith.

"Just stay where you are. Don't move," Mac commanded. Forseith laughed. He seemed to be able to laugh in any situation. It was his best bluff. "How quickly tides turn," he remarked.

"Now put up your hands, slowly," Mac ordered. "That's right. Keep them there. Miss Townley, please remove my ankle bindings."

Babe hastened to unbuckle the straps. Mac got slowly to his feet keeping his eyes on Forseith and the drunken Lugo.

Sambo came to the dining room, saw the tableau and disappeared as fast as his legs would carry him.

"Now, Duke, if you're cramped you can sit down on the floor. Steady does it. That's right." Forseith shifted his weight until he was sitting flat on the floor, his hands still high above his head.

"Pretty agile at that for an old man," he tried to jest.

"You are at that," Mac came back in kind, but there was no humor in his voice. "It's a broad seat for royalty. Now, Duke, it is your turn to do some talking. I'll get to the point immediately. What's your game?"

"Game? Why, my dear fellow, I don't understand you."

"Don't stall. Snap your answers! What's your game?"

Forseith refused to be hurried or seem to be worried. "You must be more explicit," he said. "I do not understand you at all, for I have no game."

"Why did you kidnap me then?"

"I could see that you would be an amusing fellow to have about. I wanted company. Here in this lovely lodge there was practically no one of my mental caliber. I needed a companion."

"Cut the smart talk and get down to truth."

"And I am complimenting you, too. I'm amazed that you are not flattered."

"My finger is itching, Forseith."

Forseith lost a little of his sangfroid as this threat was hurled at him, but he regained it almost instantly.

"You are an amusing person to have around," he commented. "But tell me, is this a game or what is it? You were asking about my game, what is yours?"

"You will answer questions now," Mac snapped, "not me. And keep those arms up. Keep 'em up."

Lugo stirred from his position on the floor near Forseith. He blinked his eyes and sat up. "Don't move, Lugo," Mac barked. Lugo took in the situation in a dazed sort of way and lay down again. He was still too far gone to be worried by such trifles as his own automatic being pointed at him. But this one return to consciousness indicated that he might soon become fully awakened and be a hard person to handle. And there was also the menace of the sleeping Scareye. He had had several hours in which to recover from his drunken stupor. He might emerge from his room at any moment waving one of the many weapons he kept perpetually loaded and ready beside his bed.

Mac and Babe had the upper hand for the moment but how long they might be able to keep it was only conjecture and Mac knew this. That is why he tried to hasten Forseith into a revelation of his plans.

Babe had taken little part in the play as yet but she had been watchful, anticipating a move from the room to her right. She had taken her eyes away from the door long enough to look closely at Forseith when Mac flung the name Forseith at him. She had seen the momentary effect it had upon the dandy. She admired the way he threw off the charge and kept his even temper and smiling manner.

This seemed to enrage Mac, but it caused her only to feel sympathy for the man who had stood in the place of her father all her life. Certainly he must have a rotten spot in his brain that he could have treated her as he had and yet she remembered that he had taken good care of her for 20 years, even if he had not seen her himself. He had seen to it that she attended schools, had the best of clothes and treatment. He had done her no wrong of which she could be certain until he lost her money and had thrown her in doubt of her own identity.

Queer and unnameable sensations were fighting for mastery of her as she watched this fastidious man with his distinguished looking gray hair sitting on the floor parrying questions with a coolness that no young man she had ever known could show. A feeling of sympathy for him emerged at last triumphant over the feeling of hate that had previously held sway. Babe was happy now to be able to define her feeling after that turbulent flux of strange emotions. Yes, she actually felt sorry for him. But this emotion, she determined, would not make her show mercy until she had wrung from him the secret of her parentage if he held it, and she believed he did. Therefore, she said nothing, letting Mac handle the situation as he saw it.

But questioning was getting Mac nowhere. Forseith was only laughing at him, refusing to take the situation as serious. Mac was losing his temper again. That would not do, Babe knew. Here she was, perhaps within touching distance of the solution of the question that tormented her soul and she was doing nothing, standing idly by, letting another fight for the answers she wanted.

Unless Forseith weakened in a minute or two it would be too late. Lugo now was undoubtedly aware of what was going on. Forseith was showing no signs of weakening.

"Why did you kidnap this woman?" Mac shot at him.

"I didn't. She walked in here alone for some reason or other. Surely that is obvious. You saw her yourself."

"I always wanted to choke you to death," Mac said slowly and deliberately, emphasizing each word. "Now, I believe I will do it. If you do not tell the truth and tell it quickly I will choke it out of you. It would be a pleasure."

"How quaint a pleasure," Forseith remarked, as if he were little interested.

"Do you know who I am?" Mac asked.

"I have no notion, except that you are one of the great army of Macs."

"I'll tell you, then. It would be no pleasure to choke the life out of you, unless you knew me. I am Vincent McNeff."

"Glad to know you, Mr. McNeff," Forseith showed no more emotion than he put in the snear.

"Babe, take this gun. Keep that worm covered with it. If he makes a move kill him. I have business with Mr. Charles Frankle, alias Mr. Clement Forseith, alias the Duke." Babe took the heavy automatic, but her eyes were on Forseith. He did not weaken. The names caused no flicker of emotion. Not once had he been startled, except the second he had displayed concern when he first was called Forseith.

"Get up," Mac ordered, "You'll have your chance. But when I once get my fingers on your throat I'll choke the life out of you."

Forseith came to his feet slowly, dropping his arms as he arose. "It's a relief, anyway," he remarked. Mac dived for his throat, but Forseith was, as he had said, agile for one of his years. He was near to 50. Mac was 20 years younger. Neither was trained in this sort of fighting. For a second they moved like wrestlers, maneuvering for holds. Mac kept pressing closer. Forseith was yielding ground, sidestepping, but avoiding corners. He had no intention of being trapped. He had lost some of his ease of manner, but was calm and unafraid.

Mac bored in again. Forseith swung a smashing blow at Mac, who ducked under it and came up with a hold on his enemy's arms. Forseith twisted and was free. Both men were panting, but Mac was much fresher than the older fighter.

Again they sparred, then Mac, seeing an opening, caught his opponent square on the jaw. He went down. Mac was on him quicker than a cat on a crippled bird.

"Now, Frankie, murderer, talk while there is breath in you. His fingers were tightening about Forseith's throat.

"What do you want to hear?" Forseith gurgled.

"Everything, you black cur. All that you know about this girl whose money you stole, whose life you tried to ruin."

Forseith was breathing with difficulty now, but he only gasped, "You're a fool!"

The years of hatred, the years of thirst for vengeance were putting strength in Mac's fingers. The word "fool" heightened his rage. Forseith's face was getting purple. Babe, who had been watching, almost forgetting that she was to keep Lugo covered, now screamed, "No, no, Mac! No!!"

Mac released his grip. His hatred lessened as he heard Babe's cries. He thought of his promise to her and he was ashamed he had gone as far as he had. Forseith lay there as if dead.

Babe dropped the automatic and stepped quickly to the side of the prostrate man. She laid her head on his heart. It was still beating. Frantically she began pressing on his diaphram as she had seen lifesavers work to revive a drowning person.

"Get whisky," she ordered.

Mac picked up the automatic, then hastened to obey. He went to a cabinet and produced a decanter and glass. Babe forced a drink between Forseith's lips. His heart pumped harder as he began to breathe more freely.

Babe was congratulating herself. The danger was past, she believed. She sank down, almost exhausted by the strain of the past few minutes. Lugo had not moved. Scareye had not intruded despite all the noise of the battle. Her fears had been unfounded. Her back was to Scareye's door.

Mac was standing to the right of the door, holding the automatic by his side, keeping his eyes on Lugo when the door opened. Scareye stepped out. He had a six-shooter of the police positive type in his hand. As he lumbered out he screamed, "You can't take me! You can't take me!" then started shooting wildly.

CHICAGO BONDSMEN FACING QUIZ BY JURY

News Tells of Effort Being Made to Learn if Ralph Capone Is Linked.

YEAR GIVEN GUN TOTER

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Reports that records of a number of bonding companies specializing in the bailing of criminals were being scrutinized by the Federal grand jury today marked the latest development in Chicago's war on racketeers.

Although United States District Attorney George Q. Johnson refused to comment, the Daily News said it had learned that an effort was being made to determine if Ralph Capone, brother of Scarface Al, was interested financially in one of these firms.

Profits in the bail-bonding business amount to several million dollars annually the News estimated.

Almost simultaneously with the reported start of the Federal inquiry, Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, who has taken a leading part in the campaign to jail hoodlums and gangsters, moved to discipline bondsmen operating in his court. He ordered E. N. Baty, secretary of the Chicago and Cook County Bankers Association, to show cause tomorrow why he should not be held for contempt of court for criticising his handling of the case of a bond runner.

Judge Lyle also held a bondsman, Samuel I. Katz, to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 for perjury, and ordered another to keep away from the courts.

Frank "Duke" Battaglia, alleged member of the notorious "42" gang, was sentenced by Judge Lyle to one year in the Bridewell and fined $300 and costs today for gun-carrying.

A State's attorney's squad raided the Central Cleaners & Dyers, a firm controlled by George (Bugs) Moran, in an effort to obtain information concerning the slaying of Alfred Lingle, Chicago newspaperman, and Jack Zuta, Northside gangster, who was killed several weeks ago at a resort near Delafield, Wis.

John H. Alcock, acting commissioner of police, said he would go before city council November 5 with a plan for the reorganization of the Chicago force.

Republicans Scan Registration List

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 24.—Although Democratic leaders today scoffed at the suggestion that improprieties were practiced at the recent registration of voters in Anne Arundel County, local Republicans, with the aid of a representative from State headquarters of the party, continued their investigation of the voting lists. Half a dozen clerks are employed at the task, under the direction of Mayor Walter E. Quenstedt, of Annapolis, and Joseph M. Armstrong, W. Hallam Claude, candidate for State's attorney, and Ernest F. Fadum, of Baltimore, detailed from the camp of Mayor William F. Broening, of Baltimore, Republican candidate for governor.

The investigators are concentrating their efforts on books of the Second, Seventh and Eighth districts, it being claimed by the Republicans that many persons from Washington, Baltimore and elsewhere, who own shore properties in those sections and pass the summer seasons there, were enrolled.

Frank S. Revell, recognized as the leader of the Democratic "organization" forces, who is also clerk of the circuit court, said today that he is satisfied that every name on the books rightfully belongs there.

20 Years Is Term In Ambush Killing

Judge Overrules Motion to Set Aside Verdict Against Smith.

Boydton, Va., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Judge N. S. Turnbull today overruled the motion of defense counsel to set aside the verdict of guilty of first degree murder given by a Mecklenburg Circuit Court jury against Garland Smith, twice convicted of murder in connection with the ambush slaying last December of two officers, and sentenced the North Carolina youth to 20 years imprisonment in the State penitentiary.

Smith was convicted Saturday of the murder of Officer Mack Tuck, on December 29, 1929. The sentence of 20 years imprisonment was recommended by the jury.

He already had been convicted of murder in the slaying of Officer R. A. Puryear, fatally wounded at the same time Tuck was slain. He was sentenced to die in the electric chair, but was granted a writ of error by the Supreme Court of Appeals. The two officers were shot from ambush as they were returning from a raid on a still near Clarksville.

Ritchie Heads List Of Rally Speakers

Governor and 3 Others to Address Democrats of Montgomery.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, former Representative David J. Lewis, who is a candidate for member of the House of Delegates, former Mayor Howard W. Jackson, of Baltimore, and Andrew J. "Cy" Cummings, of Chevy Chase, who four times was elected a member of the State legislature, will be speakers at a meeting of the Democrats of Montgomery County to be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Manor Club, Norbeck.

The meeting is being held under the auspices of the Democratic State central committee for Montgomery County, of which Berry E. Clark, of Rockville, is chairman, and the candidates' committee, of which Stedman Prescott, of Rockville, candidate for State's attorney, is chairman. Invitations have been issued to all organization as well as antiorganization candidates and workers to be present at the meeting to discuss plans for securing a heavy registration on the two registration days before the general election.

It is hoped to establish harmony between the two factions so that a united front can be presented to the Republican party, which is putting forth a more strenuous campaign this year than probably in all of its history in the county.

Smoking, Shaving Lad, 6 Puzzles School Heads

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—What to do with a 6-year-old boy who has a moustache, shaves regularly, smokes cigars inveterately, talks in deep voice and does strong-man stunts is puzzling Toledo school officials as well as his parents.

The boy is Clarence Kehr, who is 3 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 84 pounds and has been acting like a grown-up since he was 3. He has a high intelligence quotient. Physicians attribute his early development into manhood to superactivity of the ductless glands.

The boy-man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kehr, arranged today to go to Columbus to take up with the Ohio department of education the matter of his education.

Toledo public officials declined to enter Clarence, jr., in any first grade, and schools of the Catholic diocese of Toledo have taken a similar stand after examinations by a physician and psychiatrist. There are no provisions in Ohio for education of a boy of Clarence's type in special classes.

PLAN TO CUT LEASES

Blaine, of Wisconsin—to take a hand in the fight. These two finally led the Senate to create a committee to investigate postoffice leases.

Senator Blaine, who is chairman of the committee, has announced that the investigation will begin in St. Paul in two weeks, he is convinced, he has said, that the disclosures will be as sensational as those in the Teapot Dome case.

In his report to the President, Postmaster General Brown said that "there was no ground for the charge that the owners have generally secured an exorbitant return on buildings leased to the Government for postoffice purposes."

6.8 Per Cent Held Average Return.

A special survey, he said, showed that the average return to the owners of the leased buildings was 6.8 per cent of the "present sound value" of the property.

In connection with the St. Paul building he admitted that the rental of $120,775 represented a gross return of about 15 per cent on the capital invested in the building.

Where Representative Maas contended that the real value of the St. Paul building was that set by the court—$334,000—Postmaster General Brown told the President that there was no doubt that the cost of the land and the cost of the building totaled in the neighborhood of $800,000. This statement is expected to bring a sharp comeback from the senatorial investigating committee.

Postmaster General Brown defended the elimination of the cancellation clause in the St. Paul lease on the ground that in consideration for the cancellation of this clause the owner of the building reduced the rent by $775 a year.

"It should be said, however," the Postmaster General added, "that due to a clerical inadvertance in the department, the new lease, when drawn, omitted the provision for the reduction of the rental on the original space from $1.70 to $1.50 per square foot."

This reduction, which would have taken effect if three additional stories were added to the building, was admitted by the Postmaster General to be potentially the most valuable part of the consideration."

Puts U. S. Agents in Clear.

While it was clear that the owners of the St. Paul building had issued bonds in excess of the sound value of the property, the Postmaster General said, there was no evidence of wrongdoing on the part of any agent of the Post Office Department.

Professional bidders, that is, men who have made it a busines to lease buildings to the Post Office Department, appeared about the time of the World War, when the department was in urgent need of quarters. The quarters constructed by these men, Brown says, were among the most satisfactory structuers leased by the department.

The cricism of these professional bidders, he said, resulted from their methods of financing. After securing a contract from the Government, he explained, they would raise the money for the building through the sale of mortgage bonds, the security for these being the lease given by the Government.

While there have been cases where these bonds have been in excess of the physical value of the property, he said, he knew of no case where bonds were issued in an amount too large to be amortized out of the rental income during the life of the lease contract.

Five-Year Program Cited.

The Postmaster General's five-year program is as follows:

"First, immediate purchase of 78 buildings now being leased, which would cost $16,500,000; second, immediate or early purchase of 14 buildings now used as garages, at a cost of $5,300,000; third, the purchase of sites and the construction of buildings to house 91 postoffice stations, at a cost of $18,300,000; fourth, the purchase of sites and the construction of buildings to house 15 postoffice garages."

This program would not dispose of the lease problem altogether, Brown pointed out, as there are at least 90 leases which do not expire until after 1935. Further appropriations of not less than $30,000,000 would be necessary to shift these leased buildings to Government-owned structures.

The Postmaster General blamed Congress for the extravagance involved in the leasing system, pointing out that the department had repeatedly asked it to authorize Government-owned buildings.

Burglars Take $115 From Store.

Jimmying their way through a rear window of the store at 537 Eleventh street northwest early yesterday morning, burglars stole $115 belonging to Mrs. Annie B. Eich, proprietor, she reported to the police.

ALL QUIET on the WESTERN FRONT

The LIVING NOVEL THAT SHOULD BE SEEN TIME AND TIME AGAIN BY EVERY MAN WOMAN & CHILD

WASHINGTON NEWS
By MABELLE JENNINGS
I can't help saying that it is a superb picture, and it will no doubt knock you for a collection of hat-checks when you see it at the Rialto. "All Quiet on the Western Front" is more than the finest war picture that has come out of Hollywood—it is one of the most pregnant preachments against war as an institution, that the American entertainment field has produced.

DAILY NEWS
"It is so magnificent, so powerful, that it hardly behooves mere words to tell of its heart-rending appeal, of its dramatic fire, its breath-taking battle-shots. Milestone takes the directorial throne for 1930. His treatment is superb. His sense of the dramatic is unparalleled. His understanding of the true and tender details which play on the spectator's sympathy is perfect." ★★★★ (Rated Four Stars).

MORNING TELEGRAPH
"I would like to marshal all the superlatives that have been heaped on the book and apply them to the film, for everything said about the novel goes—and then more so—for the picture . . . two hours of gripping emotion that cannot be exceeded in this or any other town . . . Mr. Milestone has given the movies back to the camera . . . Far and away the best motion picture that has been made—talking or silent."

NEW YORK JOURNAL
"It is a dramatic production . . . well cast, intelligently directed and splendidly made . . . a credit to its producers and those concerned in the filming of Remarque's sensational document . . . Battle scenes tremendously vivid. Milestone has done excellent work in treatment of the story and his handling of the sweeping action . . . an impressive production."

New York Herald Tribune
"An enormously compelling talking motion picture . . . Not only a brilliant transcription of the most famous book of a decade, but a splendid achievement for the audible cinema . . . Intelligently adapted, magnificently directed and given an assured and even performance. 'All Quiet' is something to get definitely excited about."

The New York Telegram
"In 'All Quiet' the cinema has produced the finest war picture since characters first began to flicker across the screen, one that has never, I believe, been surpassed either here or abroad. Here is a war picture beside which all others seem trivial. Magnificently directed. Beautifully portrayed . . . It fascinates you, holds you spellbound. It is tremendous . . . It simply MUST be seen."

The New York Times.
". . . presented before an audience that most of the time was held to silence by its realistic scenes. It is a notable achievement, sincere and earnest with glimpses that are vivid and graphic . . . All of the players do capital work . . . One is gripped."

The Sun
"The film presents a more or less stupendous achievement in movie making. It is stupendous in its picturizations of trench battles, of men under fire, of youth caught up and snuffed out . . . The spirit of the book is whole-souledly in the film . . . All of the acting is good . . . See 'All Quiet' and think it over, or rather try to prevent yourself from thinking it over—if you can."

INVESTIGATIONS END IN RAILWAY SLAYING

HELD MURDER, SUICIDE

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—With official investigations at an end, the body of Maxwell C. Byers, president of the Western Maryland Railway, slain yesterday in his locked office by Dudley G. Gray, the traffic vice president, who then took his own life, was borne on a special train tonight to his old home at Point Pleasant, W. Va. There the funeral will be held tomorrow.

Gray's body was scheduled to leave in a private car for his native Columbus, Ohio, where his funeral will be held Friday morning.

A coroner's verdict of murder and suicide, a police postmorten entry of a murder charge against Gray, and announceemnt by the coroner that Gray's widow could shed little light on the background of the tragedy brought to a close all of the action.

Believed Unbalanced.

But associates of the railroad president, known as the youngest in the country when he took office in 1919, and Gray, nine years his senior, expressed the opinion that the vice president had permitted business disagreements to prey on his mind until he became temporarily unbalanced.

One of the major officials of the company, who declined to permit use of his name, revealed that Byers, a forceful man, frequently of late had overruled suggestions in the traffic department advanced by Gray, its chief.

"None of those in contact with them dreamed that these business disagreements had been construed as personal affronts, however," this official said.

Investigation today established that the antagonism of Gray for Byers was confined entirely to their relationships in business. The coroner, Dr. Otto M. Reinhardt, after questioning Mrs. Gray and examining correspondence, expressed the opinion that the differences between the two men antedated the last few years.

Had Been Very Nervous.

Gray, it was said at the general offices of the railroad, as the result of recent illness had been so nervous recently that the slightest slip or divergence from routine was sufficient to upset him. There were no witnesses to the shooting in Byers' private office, separated by a partition and a corridor from a number of secretaries and stenographers.

The tragedy disorganized the Western Maryland headquarters here. T Herbert Fee, assistant general freight agent, collapsed when returning from New York when he was told of the shooting and was taken home in a private ambulance. The offices will be closed tomorrow until 1 o'clock.

Gen. Weyler Has Relapse.

Madrid, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Capt. Gen. Valeriano Weyler, who appeared greatly improved when he was transferred to Madrid from his Balearic Islands estate, where he had suddenly become ill, today was slightly worse. His physicians expressed concern over his condition due to the fact that he is 93 years old.

Behind the Screens

With DON B. REED

IT is a pleasure to announce that Washington's long-deferred opportunity to witness "All Quiet on the Western Front" will arrive, come Friday midnight. The Rialto theater on Ninth street is the place. It will be a reserved seat opening for an invited few but to the general public, the wide open spaces of the Rialto will be available through the regular box office channels.

Having been privileged to view this Universal picture while on a recent vacation, it is no more than fair to tell you that in all probability it will have a punch that will hit you somewhere. There is no getting away from the drama of the piece and whether or not you are in favor of war, peace or arbitration, some scene as the story unfolds is going to touch close to your heart.

There is one certainty about "All Quiet." When you get up and walk out of the Rialto you won't go down and enlist in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps. At least I'd wager 100 to 1 that you won't. It is a story of what happens when your side is losing the war. Without the use of gloves, Universal has handled a delicate subject in a manner that will leave a lasting impression on all who see the film.

Don't get the idea that it will send you home in tears because of its drab nature. There is enough comedy in it to keep most audiences in an uproar for many minutes. All in all, it is my humble opinion that Lewis Milestone has done an excellent job and as for the people in the cast, well I thought they were great but that is for you to decide.

As has been intimated in this column for lo, these many weeks, the musicians-theater owners controversy has been settled without a walkout by the men who have been performing in the pit and on the stage. While the terms of the settlement are not what might be termed a glorious victory for the musicians, the members of the union have retained orchestras in three of the seven first-run houses, which is more than appeared would happen when the boys were flayfully tossing threats at each other early in the battling.

Although final ratification by the national officials of both sides is lacking, the terms of the settlement may be announced. The Fox Orchestra will be reduced from 36 to 20 men; the Palace will have 20 also and the Earle will operate with an orchestra of 16 men instead of 28. Organists will continue to play in all the first-run houses, but there will be no other music in the Columbia, Metropolitan, Rialto and RKO Keith's.

The windup of this perplexing question will bring great relief to all concerned, for now the booking of shows, the preparation of publicity and sundry other details can be accomplished without fear that some new crisis might upset all the well laid plans. And I venture to say the dear old "general public" is tickled pink.

Before this column runs beyond its allotted space it might be well to outline the program for the week commencing tomorrow and Saturday, depending on where you want to go, "All Quiet on the Western Front," starring Lew Ayres and Louis Wolheim goes on Friday midnight at the Rialto; the Palace offers Richard Arlen, in "The Sante Fe Trail;" at the Fox, "Heads Up," with Buddy Rogers and "Boop-boop-a-doop" Helen Kane is the attraction; the Earle lists "Man Trouble" with Milton Sills and Dorothy Mackaill, while RKO Keith's feature will be "Half Shot at Sunrise" with Wheeler and Woolsey. Two holdovers are on the cards. George Arliss in "Old English" remains at the Metropolitan, and the Marx Brothers in "Animal Crackers" continue on the screen at the Columbia.

Because Leon Brusiloff is on leave and the second leader of the Fox Orchestra is ill; Tom Gannon mounted the rostrum to direct the band last night. And to many of the old-timers in Washington it recalled the days when Tom led the Palace Orchestra. Since that time Tom has been performing at the piano in the Fox organization and has also led bands in Richmond. His return to the baton last night indicated that he still maintains his old mastery, and his many friends in the audience enjoyed his work.

Al Lyons succeeds Eddie Peabody as master of ceremonies at the Fox beginning tomorrow. Hailed as "the Aristocrat of Jazz," Mr. Lyons is heralded also as a "whiz" on the piano. However, he will have competition of the keenest kind at the Palace where Alex Hyde will be bowing a mean fiddle. Having seen Mr. Hyde in action, I know he's good, and if Mr. Lyons is all Tom Olsen claims for him, F street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth is going to resound with snappy tunes all week. Go to it, fellows. Let the notes fall where they may.

Hope your furniture was not stored out on L street where George Watson's boys had such a grand time answering five alarms yesterday.

Secretary of Treasury To Return $7 Train Fare

(Associated Press.)

Since Secretary Mellon doesn't have to take a train ride to Philadelphia, he is going to return $7 given to him for car fare.

Subpenaed as a witness in the trial there of several persons charged with diversion of industrial alcohol, the Treasury head was handed the train fare. Since the Prohibition Bureau has been transferred from the Treasury to the Justice Department, he won't have to make the trip.

Roosevelt Guard Is Dead.

Continuance Given Pair Penalized for Contempt

Despite the fact that their cases were continued at the request of the Government, Irving Sellers and Wilber Dorsey, charged with a gaming offense, were fined $10 yesterday by Judge Gus A. Schuldt on a contempt charge.

Both men, according to Police Court records, failed to appear in court at the time their cases were called. Judge Schuldt immediately held each in contempt of court and despite the fact that they appeared later and the case was continued they were found guilty of contempt.

Smith Co. Hearing Set for October 3

Court Will Act on Petitions Asking Receiver and Book Examination.

Special to The Washington Post.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 25.—Morris A. Stewart, of Washington, has filed a new petition which asks for the appointment of a receiver pendente lite in the court of chancery for the F. H. Smith Co., of Washington and New York. Hearing has been fixed for October 3, at which time oral testimony will be presented.

A petition seeking permission to examine the books and records of the company will also be heard on that date by Chancellor Wolcott.

The new bill alleges three grounds: That the company paid to a firm of attorneys last January $250,000 ostensibly for services to the company, but in reality, it is alleged, for services in behalf of G. Bryan Pitts, of Washington, and Samuel J. Henry, of near Washington, in their difficulties with the Government as directors of the concern; that the company has failed to act against Mr. Pitts for alleged defalcations, or against his bonding company, and that the company last year exchanged $40,000,000 of bonds, selling at par, for stock of the Mattox Hotel Co., which, it is contended, is worthless.

British Mail Profits $45,000,000.

London, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The British postoffice will show a profit of well over £9,000,000, or $45,000,000, this year, M. B. Lees-Smith, postmaster general, stated today. The announcement is expected to arouse the advocates of penny postage to fresh efforts.

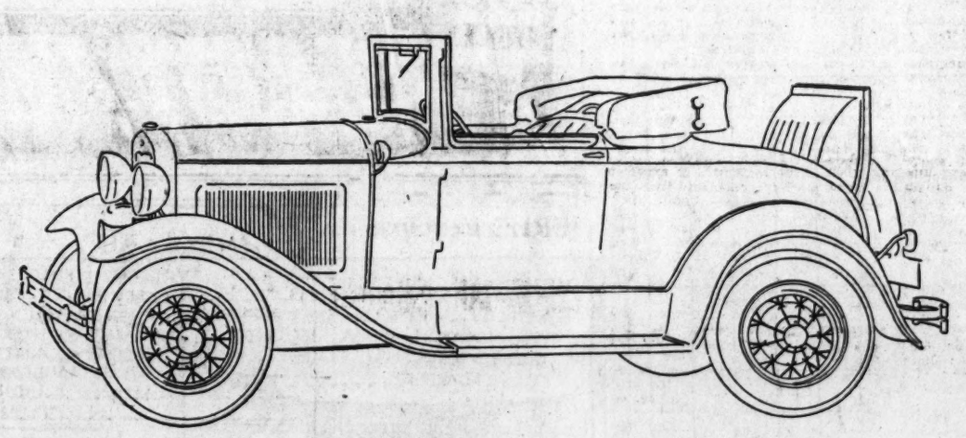
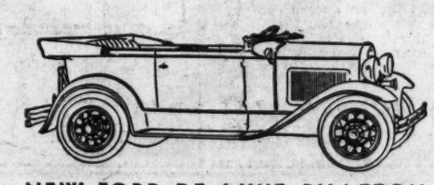
NOW ON DISPLAY

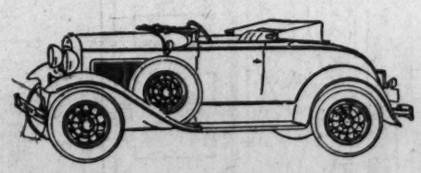


NEW FORD CABRIOLET (CONVERTIBLE)



NEW FORD DE LUXE PHAETON

DISTINGUISHED by its low, fleet lines, and attractive sport treatment. One wide door admits to front and rear seats. Driver's seat is adjustable. Upholstered in genuine leather. Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield and windshield wings fold flat. Cowl lights, side fender-well, trunk rack and front and rear bumpers are standard equipment.



NEW FORD DE LUXE ROADSTER

A STRIKING sport car. Finished in Raven Black, Washington Blue, and Stone Brown, with steel-spoke wheels in a harmonizing color. Upholstery is genuine leather. Distinctive tan top has natural wood bows. Rumble seat, cowl lights, trunk rack, side fender-well for spare wheel, and front and rear bumpers are standard equipment.

THE WORDS DE LUXE are a fitting description of the beautiful new body types now on display at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Everywhere they have met with distinguished favor because of their striking lines and colors and the quiet richness of the upholstery, trimming and appointments.

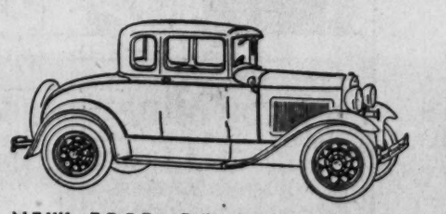
These new de luxe bodies are offered in addition to the standard Ford line and include the De Luxe Roadster, De Luxe Phaeton, De Luxe Sedan, De Luxe Coupe, Town Sedan and Convertible Cabriolet.

The De Luxe Roadster and De Luxe Phaeton are upholstered in genuine Bedouin grain leather, in tan harmonizing with the swagger tops. The spare wheel is carried forward on the left. The new colors for these two types are Raven Black, Washington Blue, and Stone Brown. The wheels are finished in a complementary color. The De Luxe Sedan, De Luxe Coupe and Town Sedan are upholstered in soft luxurious mohair or Bedford cord, optional with the purchaser.

Plan to see these new de luxe bodies this week and arrange for a demonstration. You will find much to admire in their sprightly appearance and the high quality so evident in every detail.

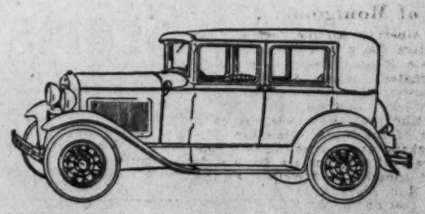
NEW FORD TOWN SEDAN

A POPULAR FAMILY CAR because of its reliability, economy and easy-riding comfort. Equipped, as are all the Ford cars, with four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers. Other features include quick acceleration, ease of control, 55 to 65 miles an hour, silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, and Rustless Steel.



NEW FORD DE LUXE COUPE

WOMEN will be quick to note the rich interior of this beautiful closed car. You may choose upholstery of brown mohair or Bedford cord. Hardware is of distinctive scroll design. Dome light and cowl lights are standard equipment. Selection in body colors includes Maroon, Kewanee Green, Chicle Drab and Black. Seat is adjustable.



NEW FORD DE LUXE SEDAN

A STRIKING EXAMPLE of the rich finish that characterizes all of these new Ford de luxe bodies. For upholstery you may choose either fashionable Bedford cord or luxurious mohair. Driver's seat is adjustable. Wide rear seat has a folding center arm and side arm rests. Cowl lights are standard equipment. There is a wide variety of body colors.

SHARKEY-CAMPOLO PREDICT KNOCKOUTS IN TONIGHT'S BATTLE

Bostonian Is Choice; Fight Seen Certain Financial Failure.

By NED BROWN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Okehed by a corps of physicians, Jack Sharkey and Victorio Maria Campolo await the gong that will send them into the battle of the century notes in the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night. There is absolutely nothing at stake.

Maybe Messrs. Sharkey and Campolo will disagree violently with that statement, averring that their own sweet fistic prestige hangs in the balance, but there is no title dangling from the locks of either of the contestants in tomorrow night's mill, even though it is scheduled to go the full championship route, fifteen rounds.

It is just a handicap match. Sharkey is giving away size and mayhap condition, and Campolo is bartering experience and skill for these. On the whole, it looks as if Sharkey's superior boxing skill and greater experience should be able to overcome Campolo's natural advantages. Hence the Boston gob rules the favorite to win.

Campolo Facing Hardest Test.

Campolo is a strong, game young fellow, who has developed a great deal in the last year, but still he is far from a finished product. In the past he has shown a disinclination to keep on top of his man and punch continuously and this has cost him many a knockout victory. In Sharkey Campolo will be meeting the toughest opposition he has been called upon to face to date.

The South American weighs about 220 pounds and Sharkey weighs about 200. Sharkey looks fat compared to the slim Campolo.

Manager Lou Fink plans to send Campolo out to box for the first four or five rounds against Sharkey, then along the sixth round give the order to let fly with both guns in a relentless attack. Guiterrez, Fink and Gus Wilson will be in Campolo's corner. Guiterrez will be a necessary man in the corner because of his ability to speak Victorio's language.

The Navy and Marine Memorial Fund, a movement for the erection in Washington of a national memorial, will share in the profits of tomorrow night's fight, if there are any profits, which seems dubious at this writing. The fact that the United States Government refused to remove the Federal tax on the tickets was a body blow to the financial success of the fight, for Sharkey is to receive $100,000 and Campolo $7,500. What with the overhead expenses for preliminaries, rentals, &c., plus the high tax, it seems a certainty that the promoters will go into the red.

Argentine to Box In Early Rounds.

Both fighters spent the final hours before the fight predicting what they would do to one another, and each declared himself intent on scoring a knockout.

All through the preliminary training period, Sharkey comported himself as one who thought he had an easy victim in his opponent, but Campolo has put his nose to the grindstone, and as a result is in excellent physical condition.

Only a last minute rush will push the fight out of the list of financial failures, according to those who profess to know the condition of the Garden coffers as far as the advance sale is concerned. With good weather, the promoters might break even.

Refusing to settle after an automobile accident, Alexander drove off, but was caught after a 6-mile chase.

PHILS SHOVE ROBINS TO FOURTH

Two Homers in First Clinch Game for Tail-Enders.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The Phillies closed their home season today by defeating Brooklyn by a 6-to-3 count and sending the Robins down to fourth place in the National League standing.

The Phils clinched the game in the first inning as successive home runs by Chuck Klein and Don Hurst overcame a two-run Brooklyn lead. Both wallops were off the pitching of Ray Moss and traveled over the right field wall. It was Klein's fortieth homer of the season.

Lefty Milligan made a bad start as two hits, followed by Whitney's error and Bissonette's sacrifice fly gave the Robins two runs. But he steadied after Philadelphia had taken the lead and, although he was hit rather freely, pitched shutout ball until the ninth.

The Phils hammered Moss from the mound in the fifth as they tallied their fifth and sixth runs, getting in a few good licks against Ray Phelps before he stopped their scoring. Thurston hurled the last two innings.

The defeat dropped the Robins a half game behind the New York Giants, who were idle, but left them with a good chance of regaining third as they have three more games to play and the Giants only two.

A's Take Steps to Check Ticket Speculators

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Ticket speculators who hope to earn some money during the world's baseball series here next week will have a hard time of it, if plans of the Federal Government and the management at Shibe Park work out.

After a conference today among representatives of the Federal district attorney's office and the Internal Revenue Bureau, it was announced that ticket speculators will be allowed to operate only on condition that they register with the Internal Revenue Bureau, stamp their names and prices on the backs of the tickets they sell and pay the Government 50 per cent of the excess price.

But, it was announced at Shibe Park, any ticket so stamped will be evidence that it was purchased from a speculator and the holder will be denied admission to the ball grounds.

To see that speculators do not operate unless they comply with the conditions laid down by the Government, 50 to 100 Government agents will circulate through hotel lobbies, pool rooms and other places where tickets are likely to be sold by speculators.

Red Sox Rally In 5th Beats Nats, 6-3

Crowder Is Thumped for Five Runs in Big Inning.

3 Sox Double Plays Help Lisenbee to Beat Old Mates.

Special to The Washington Post.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 24.—Acting like a champion outfit, the Red Sox trampled on their Washington rivals, 6 to 3, today while opening their final home series of the year at Braves Field. Brilliant bits of fielding and solid hitting made Horace Lisenbee, who labored for the home clan, a veritable Gibraltar after the third inning. It took only one hour and 26 minutes to complete the pastime, which is close to the record for league games in this town.

Three double plays with Rabbit Warstler, Bobby Reeves and Phil Todt bearing the burden, aided materially in putting over the Sox verdict. In the third inning, when Washington looked very dangerous, it was a Reeves, Warstler and Todt feature that nipped things.

Twin-Killings Hurt Nats in Sixth and Ninth.

Again in the sixth with a runner on third and only one out, Warstler started with Reeves and Todt to finish out, while the game closed with a double scalping, Warstler and Todt again doing the knifing. It was a pleasing feature and it's too bad there were no more on hand to enjoy it.

Gen. Alvin Crowder did the pitching for Washington, and until the fifth he looked like a happy choice. In that frame six successors and solid hits, one a triple by Russ Scarritt, ruined his aspirations. Thereafter it was only a question of margin.

Before Joe Cronin was hit by Lisenbee, he provided a thrill while cutting off Phil Todt in the second and in the same inning a great catch by Sam Rice more than tickled the gathering. Even Sheriff Harris, who used to labor in a Brave uniform, got his one-handed shoestring catch and ruin it went all the way through and the same teams will labor tomorrow afternoon with Milt Gaston pitching for Boston against Bump Hadley, Lynn boy, who made history while pitching for Brown University.

Crowder Doubles Home First Run of Game.

In the second, the visiting parade got under way. Harris struck out, but Jack Hayes got a single to center, Hargrave walked and Crowder doubled to left, sending Hayes over. In the third Manush boosted a hot one to right as an opener. Cronin took a wild pitch on the shoulder and Shires smashed a single to right that brought Manush home. Harris hit into a double play and on it Cronin tallied. For a time, these runs looked very promising, but the Boston deluge in the fifth ruined the story.

The Sox were thumping the General's offerings rather solidly but not with much success until Bunny Warstler grounded out in the fifth. Then Heving singled sharply to left and Lisenbee drove a hit off Crowder's shins. Oliver singled to left and Heving was over for the first run. Lisenbee and Oliver came over with a rush when Russ Scarritt rattled a triple off the center-field wall. Miller's single to center put Scarritt over. Webb kept up the fusillade and his single sent Miller to third and, as Reeves forced Webb at second, Miller came home with the fifth and final run, enough to win the ball game.

Big Welcome Home for Cards

City "Greeter" Heads Thousands Meeting Train.

Street Calls Cards One of Gamest Clubs He Has Seen.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Gabby Street and his Cardinals came from the East tonight and were greeted at Union Station by several thousand cheering fans. The Cardinals leading the Chicago Cubs by three games in the National League pennant race, open a four-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates here tomorrow, their final series with the Pittsburgh Pirates here tomorrow, their final series of the season.

Many of the fans who made the trip to Union Station to see the fast-flying Redbirds, were disappointed. The train arrived 15 minutes ahead of the announced time and was shunted on to a west track, the players leaving through a west gate, whereas most of the crowd was waiting in the midway.

Card Players Hustle To Homes.

A few minutes after their arrival, most of the Cardinals were on their way to their homes. A battery of newspaper cameramen, however, managed to line up the players before they departed.

"Now for Pittsburgh," was Street's first comment, and apparently all he wanted to say. But Jack Grosse, the city "greeter," was there and pressed Gabby for details of the Redbirds' sensational drive through the east.

"We beat out those other clubs because every man on the team was hustling and giving his best," he remarked. "It was team play and the fighting spirit of one of the gamest clubs I ever saw."

Today's reception was informal. Street had told Grosse he wanted no formal reception until the pennant was won. If the Cardinals have the championship clinched by Friday night, a parade and elaborate reception will be held Saturday.

Street will send the veteran spitballer, Burleigh Grimes, to the mound tomorrow in the first encounter with the Pirates. The Cards can clinch the pennant by winning two more games even if the Cubs take their remaining four, while one victory in their four start starts as-

Singer-Mandell Bout Sought in Chicago Oct. 4

Chicago, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Matchmaker Nate Lewis, of the stadium, is negotiating for a ten-round bout between Al Singer, world lightweight champion, and Sammy Mandell, the man from whom Singer won the title, to be held October 4.

Lewis said he had the verbal agreements of both fighters and expected to sign them up this week. The bout, if it goes through, will be at catchweights, leaving Singer's title out of the argument.

EL KADIR SUSPENDED.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The State Athletic Commission today announced the indefinite suspension of El Kadir, Washington, D. C. boxer. No reason for the action was given.

This is the eleventh of a series of articles analyzing the strength of the possible world series rivals.

By AL MUNRO ELIAS

(Famous Statistician).

IN Lefty Grove, Connie Mack has possibly the outstanding pitcher in the game today at his beckoning. To date Grove has won 27 games and dropped but 5 for the amazing average of .844.

Grove appeared against the Cubs in the world series last year only in relief roles, much to the surprise of the experts who expected the gangling southpaw to be Mack's southpaw starter. Grove, along with George Earnshaw, practically pitched the champions to their second straight pennant. Grove has been well-nigh invincible all year, fanning 189, and allowing but 268 hits in 286 innings. George Earnshaw, the big right-hander, is right on Grove's heels with 23 wins to his credit, but has dropped 11 tough decisions. In addi-

Mandell's Ex-Trainer In Foe's Corner Friday

Chicago, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Barney Furey, veteran trainer, who was in Sammy Mandell's corner in all of his championship battles, will be in the opposite corner when the former lightweight champion meets Tommy Herman at the Coliseum, Friday night.

When Mandell broke off relations with Eddie Kane, his former manager, he also dispensed with Furey, who was behind him when he lost his title to Al Singer. Herman immediately asked Furey to prepare him for his bout with the Rockford shiek.

Mandell, however, today was an 8 to 5 favorite to defeat the welterweight from Chicago's West Side.

GEORGE VON ELM

MAURICE J. McCARTHY

Atlantan Gains Third Round, Eliminating Two Canadians.

7 of 8 Seeded Players Meet Defeat at 18 Holes.

the seventeenth green of his first round Monday and a play-off last night and again this morning, downed Watts Gunn, 1 up in 19 holes in the first round.

Finally, Johnny McHugh, a snappy little Californian, who has been pretty warm in a golfing way for some years, shot the Johnny Goodman balloon full of holes. All this occurred, mind you, in the first round of play so that only George Voigt, Von Elm and Jones, by virtue of their morning victories, were left among the seeded folk.

17-Year-Old Detroiter Defeats Ouimet.

Young Charles Seaver, a Los Angeles kid, soon attended to Mr. Voigt. He had the North Hills veteran three down over the first nine, lost three consecutive holes to him and then came back and had him three down again as they went to the sixteenth. Mr. Voigt won the sixteenth when Seaver topped his second shot and landed in the quarry. But he couldn't win the seventeenth and went out.

Then came that McCarthy-Von Elm epic. Let us have a bit of the background to this struggle. McCarthy had played badly on the first day of the qualifying round, so badly that he got an 81 and that only by virtue of a hole in one on the 210-yard seventeenth. Then he turned around and shot a 74 on the second day, but that just let him in among the 155 of whom there were 11 to be jammed into eight places left among the charmed 32. It was the old proposition of the square peg in the round hole. Something had to be done to fit the thing in.

Voigt Eliminated by Coast Youth.

There came the play-off. McCarthy topped his drive off the first tee and rolled about 150 yards. He slammed his second far up the fairway, but it skewed off and landed in a trap. Then he pitched up to within 3 feet of the cup only to miss his putt and take a five. Fortunately, Chick Evans had a 6 and Leonard Martin had the same thing and there were several other 5s. They couldn't finish the play-off last night on account of darkness, so he had to get out here at 8:30 this morning and belt himself into the one remaining position in the 32.

Having taken one hole to do that he encountered Watts Gunn, who likewise had been in the play-off, in his first eighteen-hole match. When they had completed eighteen holes, they were all square, so they went on out to settle it. They did an 8 on the first extra hole, Gunn getting his second shot into a trap and failing to get his par. McCarthy got his and thus came his opportunity to assist Mr. Von Elm in establishing a new record.

Von Elm Never Ahead.

At no time during the 28 holes was Von Elm up. He lost the first hole when McCarthy got a 4 while he was 3 putting and for the rest of the day he occupied himself in getting even and then slipping back. Five times he was 1 down and five times he squared the match and at no time was he more than one hole behind.

Finally, after Von Elm had squared the match with as fine a spoon shot as ever one did see on the eighteenth hole, he went down once too often and that was the end. You can't lag behind after you've passed the prescribed eighteen and the taciturn coast star learned that too well today.

VOLTAGREEN, FAVORITE, WINS FEATURE AT GRAV

Blazing Cinch Pays $44.80 Mutuel in the Fifth.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 24—The Nevada Stock Farm's Voltagreen, 2-year-old bay daughter of Volta—Shamrock Green, held at the short odds of 1 to 2 in the wagering, justified that confidence by winning the Good and Gay Purse feature, a 5½-furlong sprint on a program that attracted 25,000 spectators here today.

The crowd sweltered under a mid-summer's sun, still they forgot their discomfort when Voltagreen sped under the imaginary wire to register her sixth consecutive triumph.

Fair Missie Helps Hold Up Start.

Her score today was not accomplished so easily. She was a bad actor at the gate and with Fair Missie helped hold up of the start five minutes.

When the webbing shot skyward Voltagreen broke on top, but Jockey R. Morrison had to use the whip freely to keep her on even terms with Fair Missie, who was in a running mood.

The pacemakers ran head and head down the back lane, around the elbows to the home stretch, but at that point Voltagreen showed her class by running into a length lead.

Down through the home lane Voltagreen rushed without shortening her stride, while Mrs. K. E. Hitt's Madam Queen, an early trailer, closed resolutely to take the place from R. W. Collins' Fair Missie.

Voltagreen ran a corking race and will very likely improve off today's effort. Her score also enabled Jockey R. Morrison to register his second win of the day, as he had previously won the opener with Nile Maiden.

Betty Beau Captures Fourth in 1:12 3-5.

T. J. Beauchamp's Betty Beau showed a corking three-quarters in 1:12 3-5 to take down the purse in the fourth.

Away slowly Kennedy worked his way up on the outside of the field and, once straightened out in the home stretch, he gave Betty Beau a powerful hand ride to have her home a handy winner over the Sagamore Stable's Al Green and W. W. Finn's Line Rider.

Charles M. Weaver, of Lexington, Ky., claimed All Hail out of the second race for $3,500. He then dropped $5,500 into the claiming box and led away E. K. Bryson's Jimmy Moran, one that started in the fourth race.

The procession of long-shots continued in the fifth when G. W. Campbell's Blazing Cinch, paying $44.80, led home W. P. Gaines' Come On and Frank Hayes' Bounding Deep in the order named.

Come On outran the field of eight until straightened out in the home stretch, where Blazing Cinch passed him to win going away. Bounding Deep closed very fast and might have won, but for being cut off at the far turn.

Mary McNeil Spurts To Win Sixth.

Tommy Sullivan's Mary McNeil, favorite in the big field of platers that battled over the mile and one-sixteenth route of the sixth. R. Tilden kept Mary McNeil back of Joe Engle until straightened out in the stretch, where he let out a wrap and she went on to an easy score. Cut Steel and Ring On, field horses, were second and third, respectively.

Nile Maiden, 3-year-old chestnut daughter of Friarrock-Cleopatra, racing for W. R. Coe, took down the purse in the day's mile and seventy yards opener to net her backers $7.40.

Away slowly, Nile Maiden was taken over the overland route and once straightened out in the homestretch, she closed very fast to win from the Audley Farms Conamore. Third money went to P. M. Walker's Brown Erin.

The stewards suspended Jockey R. Fisher for the remainder of the meeting for rough riding astride Conamore.

A field of fourteen 3-year-olds paraded in the three-quarter-mile dash of the second, with W. S. Kilmer's Darkedwina leading home Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords's All Hail and P. M. Walker's Fervid after they had covered the distance in 1:12 3-5.

Leischman Hand Rides Dark Edwina.

Dark Edwina rushed to the top half way down the back lane and from there she received a powerful hand ride by R. Leischman to scamper under the wire an easy winner. The daughter of Trumer-Edwina was overlooked in the wagering and netted her backers $29.30 for the usual investment.

Wayfarer, favorite in the betting and piloted by Jockey Bejshak, won the seventh race in a driving finish with Yosan, gaining a margin of one-half length. Yosan was six lengths in front of Hobcaw for second place.

Bejshak kept Wayfarer in close pursuit of the pacemakers to the home stretch, where he sent his mount to the front and hooked up with Kennedy on Yosan in a gruelling final furlong duel.

Yosan, after shaking off Hobcaw at the 3-furlong pole, couldn't respond to urging, while Hobcaw appeared used up by showing too much early speed.

Wayfarer paid $6.80 for each two dollars invested and Yosan rewarded its backers at better than 6 to 1 for second place.

Havre de Grace Notes

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 24.—It is understood that J. E. Griffith, of Baltimore, who operates the well-known Griffwood Farm in Mount Washington, will sell out next month and that his manager, Harry Rites, will train and manage the stable of Leslie Keefer, whose breeding farm is located at My Lady's Manor.

Mayor Frank Hayes of Waterbury, Conn., who has been sojourning in Europe, arrived in New York today and will visit this course tomorrow. His string is here in charge of "Honest Pete" Fitzgerald.

The veteran Mac Garner arrived this morning from New York and breezed J. E. Widener's Curate. Trainer Pete Coyne accompanied the Widener string here.

Johnny McCabe, who formerly rode Old Rosebud and other good ones, is here galloping horses for W. R. Coe.

The Brandywine Stable has purchased the 2-year-old Intractable at private terms. He will be turned out at the Ross Farm in Delaware until next spring.

Harry Knoder, wellknown sportsman, of Louisville, Ky., is here in charge of material for winter racing. Knoder plans to take in the forthcoming session at Miami.

Bud Stotler, who has been having fine success this year with the thoroughbreds which Mrs. Margaret Amory, of Baltimore, races under the nom de course of the Sagamore Stable, was an arrival from New York.

Zeal, Merry Mack, Ward O'Way, Cogwheel and Cherokee Maid have been added to the schooling list.

The apprentice allowance was waived on Rock Queen today and the plater carried 111 pounds instead of 106 as sent out in the overnight entries.

Ed Flynn is making the riding engagements for Jockey H. Morgan, who is under contract to Frankie Seremba. Morgan, who has the apprentice allowance, can ride at 97 pounds.

Boots Dickerson, who did excellent work as a starter during the summer meeting at Arlington Park, Ill., was a visitor.

MAJESTICS DRILL AND PLAY.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 24.—The $20,000 added Potomac Handicap, one of three big features to be decided during the course of the Harford Agricultural & Breeders Association's current 11-day meeting, will be the outstanding attraction here today. Seventeen entries were received overnight for the race and, should the track remain fast, it is very likely all will start. Neither Gallant Fox nor Questionnaire came here for the race, thus leaving it a very open affair.

George W. Foreman's NED O showed a return to his best form when he raced one mile and seventy yards in the good time of 1:43 1-5 to win the Baltimorean purse here opening day of the meeting. This son of Campfire was almost unbeatable in Maryland last fall. This is his season and Foreman has given him a special prep for another fall campaign. With a little luck NED O is going to be hard to beat in the Potomac.

Joseph E. Widener's MR. SPONGE will have plenty of friends. His recent New York record speaks for itself. Only recently he beat Questionnaire after the latter had raced Gallant Fox to a nose finish in the Lawrence real

GEORGETOWN FACES NO SET-UP IN OPENING GAME

Green Eleven To Oppose St. Mary's

Invaders Pointed for Fray; Have Offered Hard Battles.

G. U. Expects to Win But See Margin as Uncertain.

Mills in Deep Gloom After G. U. Practice

Expressing utter dissatisfaction with the showing of his squad in practice yesterday, Head Coach Tommy Mills, of Georgetown University, declared last night: "The hopes I held for this team in training camp have been completely shattered by what I saw today. If they win two games the whole season they'll be doing well. The situation now is pretty bad."

By JACK ESPEY.

On the face of things, Georgetown appears to have one of the well-known set-ups in Mount St. Mary's, its opponent for the Blue and Gray football inaugural Saturday at Griffith Stadium, but a close inspection of the situation shows the contrary, although not forecasting a Georgetown defeat.

Little Mount St. Mary's; big Georgetown—that's the picture the casual observer might see when the names are mentioned. And he's right so far as mere classification is concerned. Mount St. Mary's admittedly is not in Georgetown's class in football.

The truth is that Georgetown faces a hard game. The Hilltop eleven is a new one and this is to be its initial test. It is schooled in a new system of football, the Notre Dame system, and it has yet to prove that it has learned its lessons well.

Coaches Work Hard On New System.

Georgetown is, it may be said, a green team, for it retains few of the veterans that played such a big role in its success last year and 1928. If it shows traces of stage fright Saturday, do not be surprised.

Coaches Mills, Colrick, Smith and Murphy have worked like beavers trying to install the new system the last three weeks, but they're not quite sure what the results will be Saturday. They expect Georgetown to win, but by what margin they hesitate to say.

Mount St. Mary's is not an ordinary first-game opponent in this case. The history of Mount St. Mary's-Georgetown games illustrate that fact. Almost unfailingly, the Emmitsburg team has caused Georgetown to display its best football. On one occasion the gridmen from the Mount came dangerously close to getting away with the decision.

Saints Always Point For Georgetown.

Coach Malloy's men always point for Georgetown. From the beginning of the practice season they think of nothing else but "beat Georgetown." A victory over the Hilltop would make a successful season for them.

The 1930 Emmitsburg Eleven is not different in these respects from its predecessors. It is cocky; it promises to uncork midseason football. It knows, too, that it will be meeting a new Georgetown Eleven.

Georgetown will have the advantage of greater manpower Saturday and this may be a telling factor in the result. Three teams of nearly equal strength will get into the fray, Mount St. Mary's has one good team but only six or seven capable reserves.

A light scrimmage between the varsity and freshmen at Griffith Stadium yesterday was Georgetown's final important preparatory effort. Signals, passing and punting will be practiced today and tomorrow.

Seven Players Idle With Injuries.

Landrum, Richmond Grid Star, Ineligible

Richmond, Va., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Coach Frank Dobson, of Richmond University, announced today Capt. "Cotton" Landrum, end, is ineligible to play football this season owing to "scholastic difficulties."

Landrum, however, is expecting to play again next season and plans to remain in school throughout this scholastic year in order to comply with Virginia Conference rules for eligibility next fall. He will serve during the 1930 season as assistant freshman coach.

BENEFIT FOR HULL.

The double-header between Bauserman Motor Co and the Green Valley Quicksteps, to be played Sunday on the Arlington diamond at 1:30, will be for the benefit of Calvert Hull, stellar flinger for the Motormen. Hull will pitch the first game.

NORTHERN PREPS PRACTICE.

Northern Preps will be sent through a football drill tonight at 7:30 on the gridiron at Georgia avenue and Piney Branch road.

Little World Series Opener to Louisville

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—One big inning in which they scored six times was sufficient to give the Louisville Colonels, American Association flag winners, a 7-to-3 victory over the Rochester Redwings, International League champions, here today in the first game of the 1930 little world series. The inning was the fourth.

League 150-Pounders To Organize Tonight

Organization of the new 150-pound section of the Capital City Football League will be completed tonight in a meeting of the team representatives at French's store, starting at 7 o'clock.

Rules to govern the competition of the forthcoming campaign will be made and franchise fees of $10 per club will be posted.

The new 150-pound group at a meeting on September 5 dropped its old designation of 135 pounds and adopted a scale of weights which will allow each team two players weighing over 150, six weighing from 150 to 160 and seventeen under 150.

The teams represented at that meeting, expected to have delegates on hand again tonight, are: Palace, champions of the 135-pound division last year; Brentwood Hawks, Del Ray, Meridians, Wolverines, Northern Preps, Centennials, Northeast Columbias, Petworth Pennants and Stantons.

McGuffin, Net Luminary, Performs Here Today

Harold McGuffin, sixth ranking player in the Middle States District, is paying a short visit to town with Tom Frydell, former Wardman pro, now stationed in Easton, Pa.

McGuffin is a hard base line driver who nearly scored one of the major upsets of last season by leading "Bunny" Austin two sets to none in the national singles.

He is expected to play a practice match against Bob Considine, District champion, today.

Auditorium Wrestling Features Tiny Roebuck

Promoter Joe Turner has lined up an imposing array of gentlemen of the wrestling industry for his mat program at the Auditorium tonight.

"Tiny" Roebuck, giant featured grappler, will meet an unnamed opponent, but one who will force the diminutive one to the limit, Mr. Turner avers. The Billy Bartuan-Dr. Frank Wilson tussle should please the fans, while Chief White Feather's match against Frank Brunowicz should also draw attention.

MARYLAND U. LOOKS FOR BATTLE

Veteran Wash. College Eleven to Be Met Saturday.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND will face a better than usual Washington College team in its opening game at College Park Saturday. The eleven from Chestertown, over on the Eastern Sho', will have nine vetrans in the line-up Saturday against the Old Liners and the other two will be recruit backs who have shown much ability.

The Washington College squad, which is coached by Tom Kibler, who has been on the job for seventeen years, and Gus Grothers, former Maryland lineman, also is heavier than usual. The Shoremen will be able to present a line averaging 175 pounds and a backfield that will average 160. This is a considerably heftier bunch than they usually can boast.

Maryland to Have Little Weight Advantage.

This will not give Maryland much of an advantage in poundage, as the Old Liners' forward wall will not average more than 182 pounds and the backfield around 164, and any changes or the use of the second team at any stage would lighten the College Park Eleven.

However, Maryland is not worrying particularly about Saturday, and is hoping that the Eastern Shore team will be strong enough to test out the aggregation that must face Yale on October 4 and North Carolina a week later.

Coach Curley Byrd has not determined his plan of action Saturday. He may or may not start his tentative first team, but doubtless will use two elevens or more if conditions permit. He would like to use the game to test out some of his material and will if it is logical to do so.

Following the rather extended scrimmage of Tuesday, the Old Liners indulged only in fundamentals and signal drills yesterday, but the floodlights were again brought into use before they left the field.

Mangin Defeats Lott In Coast Net Upset

Los Angeles, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Two 19-year-old Southern California youths today upset seeded stars Nos. 1 and 3, respectively, in the quarter finals of the men's singles of the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament when Ellsworth Vines defeated Wilmer Allison and Keith Gledhill eliminated Sidney Wood.

Vines, Pasadena youth, who holds the New York Metropolitan grass course championship, won over his Austin, Tex., opponent, a Davis Cup player, 5—7, 6—3, 6—3, 10—12, 7—5.

The upset followed Gledhill's surprising straight set victory over Wood, of New York, by scores of 6—2, 6—4, 14—12.

Cliff Sutter, national intercollegiate champion, seeded No. 2, defeated Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., 7—5, 6—3, 6—2. Sutter will meet Vines in the semifinals tomorrow. The third outstanding upset of the day came when Gregory Mangin, former Georgetown University star, of Newark, N. J., seeded No. 7 in the tournament, defeated George Lott, Chicago fourth ranking player in the nation, in straight sets, 6—1, 6—3, 6—2. Mangin meets Gledhill in the semifinals.

Picked D. C. Nine Plays At Richmond Sunday

"Win" Connell will take a team of local minor league and semiprofessional ball players to Richmond Sunday to play Burke & Co.'s Nine at Mayo Park.

The team will leave Sunday morning at 9 o'clock from Eleventh and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

PALISADES BRANCH OUT.

The Palisade A. C. has organized a 135-pound eleven to be coached by A. E. Farquhar, besides a bowling team under the direction of John Powell.

Yanks Silent As to 1931 Manager

Barrow Is Evasive; McCarthy Seen as N. Y. Pilot.

Chicago's Handling of Manager Shift Surprises.

By G. W. (MONITOR) DALEY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—"Come around on November 1 and I'll tell you the name of the Yankees' manager for 1931," was all Edward G. Barrow, general manager of the New York American League Club, would say today when his attention was called to the announcement of the appointment of Rogers Hornsby to succeed Joe McCarthy as the leader of the Chicago Cubs.

On Monday, Mr. Barrow wouldn't discuss the rumors that McCarthy might become the manager of Col. Ruppert's team on the ground that McCarthy is still under contract to the Cubs. When the fact that the man who led the Cubs up from eighth place and to a pennant in four seasons had been definitely superseded was made known today, he was still averse to any comment.

But he wouldn't deny reports from the West which said that the Yankees, among others, would be in the herd for the Cubs' pilot if he lost out with William Wrigley, jr. They say another American League Club is the Boston Red Sox, which hasn't done so well with Heinie Wagner as boss this year. And there were also reports that the Pittsburgh Pirates or the Cincinnati Reds might be interested. McCarthy won't be out of a job long—that is a sure thing.

League Head's Office Taken by Surprise.

At the offices of John A. Heydler, president of the National League, there was amazement that the Cubs' officials had made the announcement of the appointment of Hornsby with the Cubs still in a fight for the championship. Had Mr. Wrigley waited until the last mathematical chance for the Cubs had faded it wouldn't have been so bad, but with hope of beating out the Cardinals remaining, the National League headquarters was puzzled.

There was almost as much surprise in baseball circles at the announcement that Hornsby had succeeded McCarthy as there was when Hornsby suddenly was shifted to New York in exchange for Frank Frisch after winning a pennant and a world's championship to the Cards in 1926, or when he was sent to Boston by Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, after admittedly making a most able substitute for John J. McGraw when the latter was ill in the midst of the campaign of 1927.

Hornsby fell out with Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, over money matters, extra salary for playing in exhibition games, but the reason for his departure from the Giants has been the cause of a lot of guesswork. Hornsby claimed that he didn't know the real reason himself.

"Just what a baseball club owner wants a manager to do, after the record McCarthy made as the leader of the Cubs, is hard to understand," said a prominent National Leaguer today.

McCarthy Took Charge Of Poor Ball Club.

"McCarthy took charge of a club that finished absolutely last in 1925—a bad ball club, so bad that it finished behind the Phillies and the Braves. That club lost 86 games. McCarthy made some changes and kept his team well up in the race in 1926 and finished fourth—and lost only 63 games. In 1927 he also finished fourth and lost 68. Then he jumped to third in 1928, though he lost 72 games. And in 1929 he finished first, winning 98 and losing 54.

This year, in spite of a lot of injuries—that to Hornsby alone was a most serious one—he won't be worse than third, ought to be second and still has a hope of coming in first. No team leaders in baseball except John McGraw, the late Miller Huggins and Connie Mack have done any better with teams over any five-year stretch.

"Wrigley admits all that McCarthy has done, gives him credit for building up a hopeless team and making a lot of money for his employers—more than any National League team has made in recent years—and still lets him go. Apparently the flavor didn't last."

Roslyn Poloists Beat Sands Point Four, 12-9

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Roslyn, playing the two Texans, Cecil Smith and Rube Williams, overcame Sands Point, 12 to 9, in the first semifinal of the Monty Waterbury high goal polo tournament at Meadowbrook today. Sands Point, which had young Earl Hopping, American Internationalist, at No. 2, was spotted 3 goals on the handicap. Roslyn meets the winner of tomorrow's Old Aiken-Greentree match in the finals Saturday.

Hornsby Is Unenvied By Walter Johnson

Walter oJhnson, manager of the Nationals, is one who does not envy Rogers Hornsby his new job as pilot of the Chicago Cubs next season. "Most club owners would be satisfied with a pennant or a club putting up a good scrap for honors in its league," said oJhnson, "but Owner Wrigley says he must have not only a flag-winner, but a world's champion and puts it u pto Hornsby to deliver—or else. That's what I call a tough assignment."

The Nat leader also declared that he thought Owner Wrigley's announcement that McCarthy was to be let out in favor of Hornsby to be mighty bad move just at this time. "The Cubs still have a slight chance to beat out the Cards and an announcement of this kind undoubtedly will get the players up in the air and help kill any chance which they had of winning out."

Six Grid Teams on Field In Record G. W. Turn-Out

Half of Squad Freshmen Out for Initial Drill; Coach May Name Cocaptains for Each Game; Chambers Good at Center.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY football followers rubbed their eyes twice yesterday. For, practicing before them on the Colonials' drill field at the Tidal Basin were no less than six of the school's teams running through signals, in addition to some dozen reserves standing about—the largest number of grid players ever assembled at one time as George Washington University representatives.

It made little difference to them that half of the record squad were freshmen, called out for the first time yesterday. It used to be hard enough for George Washington to scrape together two full teams, including freshmen, and six—well, it was a revelation.

Coaches May Name Cocaptains For Each Game.

However, Head Coach Jimmy Pixlee took time out long enough from the three-hour practice to make an announcement almost as interesting as the sight of the size of the squad. The Colonials will be captained this year by leaders appointed by the coaches prior to each game. And there is a strong possibility that there will be two captains directing the team in each game.

Pixlee is considering at the present time the feasibility of choosing both a line and a back field leader for each fray. Although the latter will supersede and generally direct the team, the line leader will have charge of the forwards, leaving the responsibility of the backs up to his coleader.

With their full squad intact once more, Prixlee and Line Coach Len Walsh made two more changes which seemed to add more power to the line-up. Wayne Chambers, a 190-pound end, was shifted to center, a position still unclaimed, and made as good an impression as any who have hitherto attempted to fill that post.

Chambers, 6-Footer, May Land Center Post.

Chambers is a big, strapping lad, standing over 6 feet and may make the grade. The other shift found Carl Eakers, a 193-pound half back, being sent to guard. A good supply of half backs now uncovered made possible the opportunity of Eakers' new position.

Lee Carlin, freshman half back last year, returned to practice after being idle for a week and drew forth admiration from all who watched him work. The sophomore gives promise of developing into one of the Colonials' most dependable backs, being a most impressive ball carrier and a capable kicker.

FOES AT FORT VETERANS OF RING

Finnegan and Balduc Backed by 9 Years of Experience.

DICK "HONEY BOY" FINNEGAN and Georgie Balduc, who clash in the feature bout of eight rounds next Monday at Fort Washington, are veterans of the prize ring, each with nine years of campaigning behind him.

Finnegan has appeared in Washington and Baltimore on a number of occasions and is well known to local fans. His last local appearance was ni 1925 when he met Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, in a no-decision bout in Washington Auditorium.

Not including bouts he has fought this year, Finnegan has engaged in 64 fights and has won 49, 13 by knockouts. He has been knocked out once, according to the records, being beaten in this manner by Armand Santiago in May, 1929. The Boston boy has kayoed, among others, Joe Glick, Freddie Williams, Lew Palmer, Chick Ward, Babe Ruth, Andy Chaney and Phil O'Dowd.

Balduc, who at present holds the lightweight championship of the national guard organizations of New York and New Jersey, has fought more than 140 bouts with approximately 70 victories and 30 losses. He lost on a questionable foul last year to Jackie Kid Berg, crack English lightweight, who is one of the leading contenders for Al Singer's crown.

American Hockey Loop Lifts Salary Limit

Chicago, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The American Association Hockey League, which will operate independently of the National League this season, has decided to abandon the salary limit.

The association at its meeting in Duluth, Minn., October 4, also will vote on the proposal to change its name to the American League of Professional Hockey Clubs, Tom Shaughnessy, president of the Chicago Shamrocks, one of the new members of the association, said today.

The player limit will be eleven men for each club.

Commenting upon the advent of a new league, Shaughnessy said that while it would be independent of the National League, each would respect the others contracts and that so far as the American Association was concerned there would be no conflicts.

KELLER SOCCER HEAD.

KARL EITEL'S EARLY PACE SCORES

Culloden Is Beaten by Head in Chicago Feature.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—A slightly dulled track, the result of showers during the morning, prevailed for today's racing at the Crete Oval. The condition suited Karl Eitel, J. J. Coughlin's 4-year-old son of Polymelian. Meeting five from among the better 3-year-olds and older horses in the Kappmeyer Purse, which featured the mid-week offering, the Coughlin colt got home for his first win of the year by a head over J. J. Camden's Culloden. Third honors went to Calf Roper.

Giving good speed from the very outset, Karl Eitel forced Doctor Parrish's early pace under strong reserve and when called upon was not long at racing into a safe lead. Culloden, after breaking fast, dropped far out of contention, but after trailing for three-quarters, came through with fine belated speed and his great rush through the stretch all but resulted in the overthrow of the victor. Calf Roper wore down the faltering Doctor Parrish to be third.

Fleche D'Argent and Golden Prince gave way after meek bids at the stretch turn. Backers of Karl Eitel came for odds better than 3 to 1. The purse was worth $1,200 to the winner and the time for the mile was 1:39 3-5.

On Tap, Outsider, Wins at Aqueduct.

Aqueduct Race Track, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Neglected in the betting and away last in a field of five, J. H. Louchheim's On Tap scored an impressive victory in the Woodmere Claiming Stakes, 6 furlongs, feature here today. On Tap opened at 2 to 1, but because there was no play for her, her price advanced to 16 to 5 and finally closed at 3 to 1. Black Watch was second with Everytime third. On Tap stepped the distance in 1:12 4-5, very good time. She picked up 107 pounds.

The start was delayed three minutes due to the bad actions of On Tap and Prometheus, who refused to line up. The start was poor. Black Watch, which had the rail position, broke running, while On Tap was away last. However, On Tap with her brilliant early speed rushed to the front and the rest was easy. The daughter of On Watch just galloped along three or four lengths in front. At the end she tired some, but easily held Black Watch safe to win by 1½ lengths. The race was worth $2,750.

Aqueduct Stewards Set Down Smith.

Aqueduct Race Track, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The stewards at Aqueduct are on the job. After the running of the fourth race, the Mars Handicap, 1 mile, which was won by Curtsey, the stewards ordered the further entries of W. R. Padgett be refused for the remainder of the meeting.

He was represented in the race by Lahor, and Jockey W. Smith, who rode the horse, was set down for the rest of the meeting.

Dutch and Irish Will Coach Penn State Team

State College, Pa., Sept. 13.—The Dutch and the Irish will vie in shouting orders to Penn State's football squad this season. Of the three varsity coaches, two are Dutchmen and one is an Irishman. Bob Higgins, new head coach, finds himself outnumbered, two to one, by the Dutch contingent, represented by Hermann and Bedenk, the assistant. Curious'y enough, both of the assistants bore the nickname of "Dutch" as students—"Dutch" Hermann and "Dutch" Bedenk they were as Penn State undergraduates and still answer that call.

Penn State, the first Eastern football team ever to play at Iowa City, is being further honored this season as the opponent for the nineteenth annual homecoming of the Iowans.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 20.—Erwin Walker is only a sophomore, but he's been standing out above a half-score other candidates, four of them lettermen, in early line scrimmages at North Carolina. The Charlotte boy won the winter practice medal for best offensive end play and stands a good chance of beating a veteran out of his post this year. Walker comes from Charlotte, N. C.

HANDICAPPED C. U. ELEVEN IN OPENER

Loss of 1929 Stars and Injuries Felt as B.C. Game Nears.

A REPETITION of their close battle with the Eagles last fall can not be expected of the Catholic University Cardinals in their opening game with Boston College in the Hub on Saturday. Recent reports telling that Catholic U. possesses nine players who could "make" any team in the country are not based on facts.

Catholic U. was barely beaten by Boston College last year, a touchdown and extra point late in the game giving the Eagles a 13-to-6 decision. This touchdown was of a questionable nature, involving a penalty for interference on a pass, so the final result was anything but a disgrace to the local team.

This year the Cardinals will go to Boston minus seven 1929 veterans and with replacements admittedly not as capable as the players lost. Furthermore, Boston College has retained practically its whole regular array of last season.

Injuries Have Curtailed Scrimmaging.

Due to many injuries, the Brookland squad has not indulged in as much scrimmage as Coach Bergman thought necessary, the consequence being a team that is unprepared for a strong foe. Last year the Cardinals had their full strength ready for B. C.

But in spite of prevailing conditions, the Cardinals themselves are confident of performing creditably. Confidence bordering almost on cockiness has pervaded their camp ever since training began four weeks ago.

Four holdovers from the 1929 C. U. Eleven will face the Hub City outfit. They are Capt. George Menke, guard; Nick Monaco, tackle; Johnny Ambrose, center, and Johnny Oliver, half back. The last named, however, is a doubtful starter, a weak ankle bothering him not a little. In the other positions will be Rocco Blast and Johnny Lyons, ends; Ed O'Brien, tackle; "Moon" Mullen, guard; Lou Bertoni, quarter back; Carl De Mello, half back, and Lester Sheary, full back.

3 Night Games Listed By Allegany High

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 24.—Three night football games are assured on Allegany High's football schedule with the possibility of a fourth this season. Two are with Hagerstown and Martinsburg and the third with Ferndale (Pa.) High. The fourth, with the Mercersburg Reserves, is pending.

The season opens Saturday afternoon at the local park with St. John's Academy of Petersburg, W. Va. Allegany's schedule comprises ten games, seven of which will be played here. Five of the games are Cumberland Valley Athletic League contests. The schedule:

September 27, St. John's, Petersburg, here.
October 3, Mercersburg Res. (night, pending), here; 10, Ferndale High, night, here; 17, Hagerstown High, night, here; 25, Winchester High, here; 31, Martinsburg High, night, here.
November 8, Keyser High, away; 15, Waynesboro, Pa., High, away; 22, Charles Town, W. Va., High, away; 27 (Thanksgiving), La Salle Institute, city championship.

GROVE OUTSTANDING HURLER FOR SERIES

tion, Mack has Shores and Mahaffey, a pair of promising youngsters; Rommel, Quinn and Walberg, capable veterans, and a kid named Perkins.

The Cards have Wild Bill Hallahan, the Grove of the National left-handers; Burleigh Grimes, who is again pitching stellar ball after a poor start; Jesse Haines, and Sylvester Johnson, composing Gabby Street's big four. None of them has been outstanding, and all have been fairly consistent. Flint Rhem, Bell, Lindsey and Grabowski will do any rescuing the Card regulars might need.

Joe McCarthy's staff consists of Buddy Teachout, a southpaw, who is on his way to stardom; Pat Malone, veteran right-hand speed ball pitcher, who has won 18 and lost 9; Charley Root, who has had an in and out season, being laid up at present with a sore arm, and Fred Blake, who is known as a tough luck pitcher, as mainstays. Bob Osborn, Jess Petty, recalled from the minors; Lynn Nelson, and Al Shealy, who has been mostly a relief hurler, would likely see service only as relief pitchers.

now. But there seems to be no wish to force any money upon Victorio to impair his amateur standing and sully his purpose, and I should say that if he continues along this course toward the championship, as he has been going to date, he will arrive at his goal, if he ever does arrive, almost free of the commercial taint.

Incidentally, David Belasco, the play producer, has just let himself go in a letter asking a square deal and gentle consideration for Mr. Sharkey on the ground that he is an artist of sensitive mind whose efforts on some occasions have been marred by the unkind comments of the crowd. I was not among those honored with this appeal and I feel a little slighted by the omission. However, I will get even by neglecting to mention Mr. Belasco as being among those present among those who go to prize fights to be mentioned as among those present.

STOCK PRICES LOSE FROM 1 TO 6 POINTS

Late Rally in Wheat, Along With Short Covering, Checks Decline.

3,442,000 SHARES SOLD

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The stock market barely had time to draw its breath today after Tuesday's technical recovery when it plunged into a fresh and pronounced decline. Although short covering came to the rescue in the late trading, eating substantially into the extreme losses of 3 to 10 points, the close was generally 1 to 6 points net lower.

So heavy was the selling during the afternoon that the turnover was pushed to 3,442,000 shares, the largest volume since June 23, when it aggregated 3,836,000 shares. Rallies were feeble and only the final spurt was able to accomplish much.

The break appeared suddenly around noon after the market had been making some headway with the aid of better reports from the steel industry, whose operating ratio was said to have increased 3 per cent during the past week. A collapse in wheat, which had been going along rather steadily in the morning, and an announcement that an extra or increased dividend by American Can need not be expected, plunged speculative sentiment into a fit of bearishness and brought out vigorous selling throughout the list.

Leaders Drop Sharply.

U. S. Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Radio, Anaconda, American Telephone, Atchison and others, together with such pool favorites as United Aircraft and Vanadium, went skidding, and several—among them steel common—dropped to new lows for the reaction before important support was uncovered.

The steel reports doubtless would have been received with some enthusiasm by a market less susceptible to skittishness. Iron Age, in announcing that ingot output had reached 61 per cent against 58 in the previous week, said improvement in demand was sustained and that prices continued to stiffen, although the automotive industry and the railroads were still hesitant about making inquiries. "Steel" found the moderate demand encouraging, and characterized sentiment as buoyant.

Professional stock traders, however, refused to be encouraged, finding the renewed outburst of selling in wheat, a reduction in copper to 10¼ cents by a few custom smelters and a smaller than seasonal gain in freight car loadings sufficient excuse to resume liquidation. In addition, the street was crowded with rumors.

Wheat Stimulates Advance.

The rally in wheat proved to be the cushion against which the market finally bounced. When fractional net advances were posted on that grain stock price turned up and although there was another flurry of selling thereafter, covering became more active in the last ten minutes. U. S. Steel, which had been down to 158¼, closed at 161¼, off 1⅛.

American Can's 4-point loss was reduced to a similar amount and Westinghouse, off 7 points at the bottom, regained all but 3 points of the drop. Nevertheless, the averages based on final prices closed at 159.7, the lowest since August 12. The composite decline was 2.6 points.

One of the reports that found ready circulation said Federal Reserve member banks were liquidating security loans at the suggestion of important circles, but this was quickly and authoritatively denied. Rumor also had it that an economic conference was to be called in Washington to consider the general economic situation.

Corn Rises Slightly.

Wheat snapped up violently in the last fifteen minutes of the Chicago market. May, after selling close to 86 cents, recovered to above 89, and gains of similar proportions appeared in the other futures. The closing was unchanged to ¾ higher. Corn's net gains were ⅛ to ⅝. Cotton ended the day irregularly, 3 points higher to 8 lower.

Vanadium Steel was heavily liquidated, breaking more than 14 points and closing 10 off. Foster-Wheeler and Case lost 6 on the day, Johns-Manville, 4; Stone & Webster, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Gillette, American Telephone, Du Pont, North American and Union Carbide, 2 to 3, and General Electric, Radio, Bethlehem Steel and General Motors, 1 or more. Radio had equaled its year's low, American Smelting, in sympathy with the weakness of the coppers, tumbled 7, but ended the day with a loss of around 4.

Domestic bonds were strong and foreign issues, especially German governments, improved. Exchanges firmed and most of the continental rates rallied slightly.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Cotton prices moved in a rather feverish and irregular manner over a comparatively narrow range today, largely as a result of October liquidation for over first notice day tomorrow. A good part of the day's business was in the form of exchanging of interests from October to the later position, with leading spot houses on the buying side of October at widening discounts as the day progressed.

The South sold less vigorously during the day, and at one time the market displayed considerable stability, the new December position advancing to 10.87, a gain of 10 points from the previous close, but later this advance was lost, December closing at 10.77, a decline of 2 points, while the general market closed steady, 8 points lower to 3 points net higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 2 points and, after a slight hesitation, advanced on a continuation of the recent buying movement by the trade, which was said to include the placing of contracts ahead by some spinners, in some cases as much as one to two years, probably attracted by prevailing price levels. The weakness in the stock market and the early break in wheat, as well as some further declines to new low levels in a number of the other commodities, seemed to bring out a little selling during the day, but declines encountered renewed buying, which held the market within comparatively narrow limits. New October sold up to 10.66, declined to 10.51 and closed at that figure, while March advanced to 11.14, declined to 11.03 and closed at 11.04.

The weekly weather and crop bulletin was about in line with expectations and had no noticeable influence on prices. Press reports from Washington quoting E. F. Creekmore, president of the Cotton Stabilization Corporation, as saying that holdings of the corporation would not be dumped on the market, and reports that Federal intermediate credit banks are ready to make available their facilities for financing farmers' notes secured by properly stored cotton, came in for considerable discussion during the day and brought out some favorable comment.

Liverpool cabled that local buying was absorbing local and continental liquidation in that market. Exports today, 20,336, making 967,203 so far this season. Port receipts, 49,716. United States port stocks, 2,411,329.

36 DOMESTIC BONDS CLIMB TO NEW HIGHS

GERMAN LIST IMPROVES

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—In sharp contrast with the trend of equity issues today was the bullish tone of the bond market when buying, stimulated by the paring of time money rates, carried more than three dozen domestic obligations to new highs for the year.

Railroad bonds were especially strong. The broadened inquiry for both high grade and some second grade issues brought advances that in some instances ranged from 1 to 4 points, whereas movements ordinarily are fractional. The volume of trading was at a high level, total transactions for the session surpassing $11,000,000.

The feature of the foreign list was the improved tone of key German issues as the uneasiness over the political situation in the Reich waned. The recovery was only partial, however, some bonds continuing under pressure to reach new year's lows, and there was considerable irregularity also in the South American group of bonds that have been sold because of uncertainty over the outlook.

Convertible List Weakens.

Convertible bonds felt the unsettling influences of a sagging stock market. United State Governments were steady to firm, Treasury 3½s and Liberty 3½s making small gains.

Bond investors accepted the reduction on four months paper to 2½ per cent as additional assurance that the easy tone of the money market will not be disturbed for the present despite earlier predictions that the usual seasonal outflow of funds to the interior would have a firming influence. Call money remained at 2 per cent and the volume of new offerings was negligible.

Several large issues are in prospect for tomorrow. The Argentine government has arranged for refinancing of notes due October 1 through issuance of $50,000,000 one-year notes bearing 5 per cent interest which probably will be offered tomorrow, together with at least two other large issues.

New Utility Flotation.

These are the $12,000,000 4½ per cent mortgage bond issue of the Cincinnati Union Terminal, which has been expected for sometime, and a $21,000,000 financing program of the Chicago District Electric Generating Corporation, formerly known as the State Line Generating Co. The financing will be in the form of a $15,000,000 4½ per cent bond issue, and $8,000,000 in 5-year 5½ per cent debentures.

The change of sentiment in investment circles towards the German situation was reflected in a sharp rally of German 5½s and 7s, and advances in several other municipal and industrial obligations. On a large turnover the 7s rose 1¾, and the 5½s 1½ to 83, a gain of 3 points from the bottom reached Monday. German Central Agricultural Bank bonds also were well bought. Italian governments and municipals more than recovered the losses of yesterday. Chilean issues were the weak spot in the Latin American group.

STOCK PRICES LOSE FROM 1 TO 6 POINTS

Late Rally in Wheat, Along With Short Covering, Checks Decline.

3,442,000 SHARES SOLD

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—The stock market barely had time to draw its breath today after Tuesday's technical recovery when it plunged into a fresh and pronounced decline. Although short covering came to the rescue in the late trading, eating substantially into the extreme losses of 3 to 10 points, the close was generally 1 to 6 points net lower.

So heavy was the selling during the afternoon that the turnover was pushed to 3,442,000 shares, the largest volume since June 23, when it aggregated 3,836,000 shares. Rallies were feeble and only the final spurt was able to accomplish much.

The break appeared suddenly around noon after the market had been making some headway with the aid of better reports from the steel industry, whose operating ratio was said to have increased 3 per cent during the past week. A collapse in wheat, which had been going along rather steadily in the morning, and an announcement that an extra or increased dividend by American Can need not be expected, plunged speculative sentiment into a fit of bearishness and brought out vigorous selling throughout the list.

Leaders Drop Sharply.

U. S. Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Radio, Anaconda, American Telephone, Atchison and others, together with such pool favorites as United Aircraft and Vanadium, went skidding, and several—among them steel common—dropped to new lows for the reaction before important support was uncovered.

The steel reports doubtless would have been received with some enthusiasm by a market less susceptible to skittishness. Iron Age, in announcing that ingot output had reached 61 per cent against 58 in the previous week, said improvement in demand was sustained and that prices continued to stiffen, although the automotive industry and the railroads were still hesitant about making purchases. "Steel" found the moderate demand encouraging, and characterized sentiment as buoyant.

Professional stock traders, however, refused to be encouraged, finding the renewed outburst of selling in wheat, a reaction in copper to 10¼ cents by a few custom smelters and a smaller than seasonal gain in freight car loadings sufficient excuse to resume liquidation. In addition, the street was crowded with rumors.

Wheat Stimulates Advance.

The rally in wheat proved to be the cushion against which the market finally bounced. When fractional net advances were posted on that grain stock price turned up and although there was another flurry of selling thereafter, covering became more active in the last ten minutes. U. S. Steel, which had been down to 158¼, closed at 161¼, off 1⅛.

American Can's 4-point loss was reduced to a similar amount and Westinghouse, off 7 points at the bottom, regained all but 3 points of the drop. Nevertheless, the averages based on final prices closed at 159.7, the lowest since August 12. The composite decline was 2.6 points.

One of the reports that found ready circulation said Federal Reserve member banks were liquidating security loans at the suggestion of important executives, but this was quickly and authoritatively denied. Rumor also had it that an economic conference was to be called in Washington to consider the general economic situation.

Corn Rises Slightly.

Wheat snapped up violently in the last fifteen minutes of the Chicago market. May, after selling close to 86 cents, recovered to above 89, and gains of similar proportions appeared in the other futures. The closing was unchanged to ¾ higher. Corn's net gains were ⅛ to ⅝. Cotton ended the day irregularly, 3 points higher to 8 lower.

Vanadium Steel was heavily liquidated, breaking more than 14 points and closing 10 off. Foster-Wheeler and Case lost 6 on the day. Johns-Manville, 4; Stone & Webster, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Gillette, American Telephone, Du Pont, North American and Union Carbide, 2 to 3, and General Electric, Radio, Bethlehem Steel and General Motors, 1 or more. Radio had equaled its year's low, American Smelting, in sympathy with the weakness of the coppers, tumbled 7, but ended the day with a loss of around 4.

Domestic bonds were strong and foreign issues, especially German governments, improved. Exchanges firmed and most of the continental rates rallied slightly.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Cotton prices moved in a rather feverish and irregular manner over a comparatively narrow range today, largely as a result of October liquidation for over first notice day tomorrow. A good part of the day's business was in the form of exchanging of interests from October to the later position, with leading spot houses on the buying side of October at widening discounts as the day progressed.

The South sold less vigorously during the day, and at one time the market displayed considerable stability, the new December position advancing to 10.87, a gain of 10 points from the previous close, but later this advance was lost. December closing at 10.77, a decline of 2 points, while the general market closed steady, 8 points lower to 3 points net higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 2 points and, after a slight hesitation, advanced on a continuation of the recent buying movement by the trade, which was said to include the placing of contracts ahead by some spinners, in some cases as much as one to two years, probably attracted by prevailing price levels. The weakness in the stock market and the early break in wheat, as well as some further declines to new low levels in a number of the other commodities, seemed to bring out a little selling during the day, but declines encountered renewed buying, which held the market within comparatively narrow limits. New October sold up to 10.66, declined to 10.51 and closed at that figure, while March advanced to 11.14, declined to 11.03 and closed at 11.04.

The weekly weather and crop bulletin was about in line with expectations and had no noticeable influence on prices. Press reports from Washington quoting E. F. Creekmore, president of the Cotton Stabilization Corporation, as saying that holdings of the corporation would not be dumped on the market, and reports that Federal intermediate credit banks are ready to make available their facilities for financing farmers' notes secured by properly stored cotton, came in for considerable discussion during the day and brought out some favorable comment.

Liverpool cabled that local buying was absorbing local and continental liquidation in that market. Exports today, 20,339, making 967,203 so far this season. Port receipts, 49,716. United States port stocks, 2,411,329.

GERMAN LIST IMPROVES

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.)—In sharp contrast with the trend of equity issues today was the bullish tone of the bond market when buying, stimulated by the paring of time money rates, carried more than three dozen domestic obligations to new highs for the year.

Railroad bonds were especially strong. The broadened inquiry for both high grade and some second grade issues brought advances that in some instances ranged from 1 to 4 points, whereas movements ordinarily are fractional. The volume of trading was at a high level, total transactions for the session surpassing $11,000,000.

The feature of the foreign list was the improved tone of key German issues as the uneasiness over the political situation in the Reich waned. The recovery was only partial, however, some bonds continuing under pressure to reach new year's lows, and there was considerable irregularity also in the South American group of bonds that have been sold because of uncertainty over the outlook.

Convertible List Weakens.

Convertible bonds felt the unsettling influences of a sagging stock market. United State Governments were steady to firm. Treasury 3¾s and Liberty 3½s making small gains.

Bond investors accepted the reduction on four months paper to 2¾ per cent as additional assurance that the easy tone of the money market will not be disturbed for the present despite earlier predictions that the usual seasonal outflow of funds to the interior would have a firming influence. Call money remained at 2 per cent and the volume of new offerings was negligible.

Several large issues are in prospect for tomorrow. The Argentine government has arranged for refinancing of notes due October 1 through issuance of $50,000,000 one-year notes bearing 5 per cent interest which probably will be offered tomorrow, together with at least two other large issues.

New Utility Flotation.

These are the $12,000,000 4½ per cent mortgage bond issue of the Cincinnati Union Terminal, which has been expected for sometime, and a $21,000,000 financing program of the Chicago District Electric Generating Corporation, formerly known as the State Line Generating Co. The financing will be in the form of a $15,000,000 4½ per cent bond issue, and $8,000,000 in 5-year 5½ per cent debentures.

The change of sentiment in investment circles towards the German situation was reflected in a sharp rally of German 5½s and 7s, and advances in several other municipal and industrial obligations. On a large turnover the 7s rose 1⅞, and the 5½s 1½ to 83, a gain of 3 points from the bottom reached Monday. German Central Agricultural Bank bonds also were well bought. Italian governments and municipals more than recovered the losses of yesterday. Chilean issues were the weak spot in the Latin American group.

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Acquisition of Kirkman & Sons, laundry soap manufacturers, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was announced today by Charles F. Pearce, president of Colgate Palmolive-Peet. The consideration was not made public, but it was understood to be a cash purchase proposition.

Stockholders of the Celotex Co. today approved a refinancing and reorganizing program, which includes provision for a revolving credit and for reconstitution of the board of directors. The stockholders also approved an offering of 55,302 shares of common stock pro rata to stockholders to be underwritten at $9 a share.

Cotton gray goods markets were quiet today. Prices on print cloths were very firm. Further interest in sheetings was shown, and there was a scattered trading in other coarse and in fine yarn goods. Burlap markets were reported unchanged, cables from Calcutta repeating the previous day's offerings. Buying of wool goods was resumed more generally.

Raw silk futures closed weak; sales, 1,250 bales. September, 250; December, 245; March, 246. Open market quotations (100-day basis) Shanghai steam extra B, 310; Canton double extra, 14-16s, 180. Japanese crack dauble extra, 295.

The Argentine government has sold to Borwn Bros. & Co., Bonbright & Co., and the New York Trust Co., $50,-000,000 of one-year notes, the proceeds to be used to pay off the existing credit due October 1. The notes probably will be offered tomorrow on a basis to yield about 4½ per cent to maturity.

A. H. Neisner, president of Neisner Bros. Inc., chain store operators, said before sailing for Europe that the current business trend indicates the last six months results will show an increase in dollar volume of sales approximately 14 per cent over last year. He said the final quarter will exceed substantially the corresponding quarter of 1929.

Stockholders of the Celotex Co., at a special meeting approved the reorganization and refinancing program, which includes provision of a revolving credit, reconstitution of the board of directors by decreasing the number and changing its personnel to include representatives of White, Weld & Co. and associates, abolition of the executive committee and setting up of a finance committee to have supervision of the finances of the company.

The General Bronze Co. has received a contract to furnish Swedish wrought iron work for the new 27-story Brooklyn building of the New York Teiephone Co.

McKeesport Tin Plate Co. reported today that its mills were running at 100 per cent, after working at more than theoretical capacity for the greater part of the year to date. The statement said that while operations for the final quarter probably will decline to between 60 per cent and 70 per cent, representing the seasonal character of the company's business, the falling off from the preceding months will be considerably less than in former years.

E. W. Stetson, chairman of the reorganization committee of International Combustion Engineer cost said today that the Foster Wheeler Corporation has suggested a tentative plan which contemplates an offer for International Combustion assets providing it meets with the approval of the reorganization committee and the several committees representing creditors, preferred and common stockholders. The tentative suggestion was considered by the preferred stockholders committee, which suggested a modification, but it has not been acted upon by the reorganization committee and the several committees representing creditors, preferred and common stockholders. The tentative suggestion was considered by the preferred stockholders committee, which suggested a modification, but it has not been acted upon by the reorganization committee, the creditors' committee or by the common stockholders committee, Mr. Stetson added.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Canadian Marconi Wireless.

L. C. D.—Please give me information regarding Canadian Marconi Wireless and your opinion of it at current prices.

Answer—Toronto advices indicate a continuance of gains in traffic from the company's beam service. Sales of the manufacturing department so far this year are understood to be below the high level reached in 1929. The new factory at Mount Royal has doubled productive capacity of the old plant and is likely to reduce costs.

It was announced recently that the British government had approved an agreement between the Canadian Marconi Co. and the Imperial Communications, Ltd., an affiliation of Cables & Wireless Ltd., respecting the handling in Canada of overseas cables and wireless messages. Under the agreement, the Canadian Marconi Co., operating under the name of the Canadian Communications Co., would take over the cables and work them in conjunction with wireless services.

The company reported for the year ended December 31, 1929, net income of 3 cents a share, comparing with 4 cents in 1928. No dividends are paid and the stock can not be considered from an investment basis.

Electric Power & Light.

J. W.—Please advise me regarding Electric Power & Light 6 per cent preferred. Is it a good, safe and sound investment?

Answer—While the stock undoubtedly has considerable to commend it for holding over a period of time, it can not be classified as a "safe and sound" investment. Dividends on the issue have only lately been inaugurated, with the initial declaration, August 28, 1930, of $1.50 a share, payable October 1 to stockholders of record September 13, 1930. Net income for twelve months ended June 30 last was $9,709,395, or $2.87 a common share, compared with net for corresponding 1929 period of $9,242,693, or $2.79 a common share. Fixed charges were earned 1.62 times in 1930 period, compared with 1.69 times in 1929 period. Company has continued expansion policy with acquisition of most of the stock of United Gas Co. and other securities by United Gas Corporation, a subsidiary formed early in 1930.

Devoe & Raynolds.

B. K. W.—I am writing for some facts and an opinion of Devoe & Raynolds "A" stock.

Answer—The company is expected to about earn its $1.20 annual dividend requirements in the fiscal year ended November 30. The outlook is still clouded until conditions pick up in the automobile and building industries. For the first six months of the fiscal year, income amounted to 32 cents per share of class "A" stock.

Earnings for the 12 months of the last fiscal year were equivalent to $4.52 a share. The stock is regarded as rather speculative.

International Telephone.

B. K.—What is the outlook for International Telephone?

Answer—Earnings for the first six months of 1930 were equivalent to $1.04 a share, as against $1.56 for the initial half of 1929 on a smaller amount of stock than at present. There has been considerable speculation over the $2 dividend, as earnings for the 12 months of 1930 are not expected to be much more than $2 a share.

I. T. & T. has obtained a large amount of new capital for expansion through the sale of stock, and maintenance of a dividend is important in keeping this avenue open for getting additional funds for future expansion. You must decide for yourself, however, what to do in connection with the stock.

International Nickel.

B. G.—Please give me some information, through your interesting column, on International Nickel.

Answer — The company controls more than 90 per cent of the world's nickel. Through development of the Frood mine, the company is becoming a large factor in production of copper. Output from this mine in the first eight months this year was 83,000,000 pounds of nickel and 90,-000,000 pounds of copper. First half year earnings were 50 cents a share, as against 74 cents for the same time last year.

Present indications are that the current dividend of $1 a share will not be covered this year. International Nickel is regarded as a speculative investment, whose prospects at the moment appear clouded in view of the low metal prices.

Curb Review

New York, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—More than a dozen stocks including electric bond and share and several other pivotal issues broke into new low ground for the year today as the Curb Market was unsettled by a bear drive that netted losses of from 1 to 5 points.

The selling movement brought out considerable liquidation and the volume of trading reached the best level in four months transactions involving 845,400 shares. The day began and ended with covering operations, the movement at the start being a resumption of the upward trend that was in effect at the previous close. Price movement was narrow and trading dull on the rise, but business picked up steadily as prices receded. Short selling and liquidation combined to force prices down to the low levels of August in the afternoon before a nominal rally erased a portion of the losses.

In the heaviest turnover in many weeks, Electric Bond & Share toppled from its opening of 73¾ to 69½, ¾ under its year's low, and closed at 70⅝ for a net loss of 3½ points. American Superpower reached its year's bottom price on the reaction, and American Commonwealth A and Cosden Oil reached new low ground, but made a partial recovery.

At the close about a dozen issues rested in new low ground for the year, including American Cyanamid B, American States Public Service A, Dow Chemical, new; Diamond Match, New Fajardo Sugar, New York, Rio-Buenos Aires Line, Insull Utility Investment, Ford Motor of Canada, Gulf Oil, Standard Oil of Kentucky, Standard Oil of Ohio, Technicolor and Vacuum Oil.

The whole list was unsettled by the selling, but the utility group was in the forefront. Losses of 1 to 3 points were registered by American and Foreign Power Warrants, American Superpower, Brazilian Traction, Tampa Electric, Electric Power Associates A, Hydro Electric Service, American Light & Traction, Missouri-Kansas Pipeline, Northern States Power A, St. Regis Paper, United Gas, new, and United Light & Power A. In a thin market Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and Duke Power rose 4 and 6 points, respectively.

The bearishness of professional traders toward petroleum stocks was accentuated by the cuts in gasoline by prominent companies. Standard Oil of Ohio broke 2⅞ to 70, and Gulf, Vacuum, Cosden and Humble yielded a point or more. Cities Service and Standard of Indiana resisted the decline and were only ⅜ off at the close.

Mercantil Stores and Aviation of Americas, lead the decline in the industrial section, down 5 points each. Technicolor, Mead Johnson, Newmont Mining, Driver Harris, Dresser Manufacturing B, Diamond Match, Aluminum Co. of America, Glen Alden Coal receded 1 to 3 points.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Grain prices rebounded excitedly in the final minutes of trading today after having smashed low price records because of wild selling to stop losses of holders. The sudden final upward jerk of the wheat market was due to a buying stampede which accompanied reports that Russia had begun repurchasing millions of bushels of wheat future deliveries that she had recently sold here. There were also late reports that United States Government-sponsored agencies were buying December delivery of wheat at Minneapolis.

The wheat market closed stormy and irregular ranging from ¼c lower than yesterday's finish to ½c net advance. Corn closed ½@⅝c up, oats, ¼c off to ¼c gain, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 25c.

In the feverish trading which preceded the abrubt late upward rush of the wheat market here, prices made a maximum jump of 2⅞c a bushel. The close was at virtually the day's top level whereas only a few moments previously the market had plunged down to the bottommost point reached since January, 1907, and had eclipsed the memorable collapse of values in July, 1914, which immediately preceded war-time advances to the peak of $2.49⅜. Today's tumble of wheat prices dragged rye and oats down to new low-record levels, and also brought about acute temporary weakness of corn.

Nervous unsettlement of the wheat market in Chicago today was manifest at the opening of business, owing largely to freak downturns in quotations at Liverpool, where Russian and Canadian wheat was reported to be pressing urgently for an outlet. However, a transient dearth of future delivery offerings here on the initial downturns in price led to a recovery which lasted until nearly midday, with buyers encouraged over statements current that even if Russian exports of wheat this season totalled 50,000,000 bushels the amount would not satisfy European importers' requirements for one month. Official reports of need of rain for large areas of domestic winter wheat territory were also at times something of a stimulus to buyers.

On the other hand, persistent heavy selling set in later from Eastern holders who were said to have bought at 10c a bushel higher prices and who saw a favorable opportunity to stop losses. It was at this juncture that the bottom appeared to fall out of the market, but only to be followed by the sudden upward whirl of values which afterward took place.

Corn and oats prices displayed independent strength at times owing a good deal to likelihood of frost tonight in Nebraska and elsewhere, where injury to the corn crop is still regarded as possible in the values of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December, 81⅛@81½, 85¾@85⅞; March, 84⅛@84⅜; May, 87⅛, 91¾@91⅞. Corn—September, offers, 88½; December, 81@81¼, 84⅛@84¼; March, 82, 85½; May, 83⅛, 86⅞@87.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

"A Hero and Lonely."

THIS world is a funny place. And a lonely place, too. Thousands of girls all alone, working all day, sitting home all evening dreaming dreams of what life would mean if only——. And thousands of fine chaps, grinding at the job all day and roaming around at night wondering if there ever will be a one-and-only girl. What is it all about, anyway? Here is a letter today from a man who has "been looking for a mate" for four years! Can you imagine patience like that? But at last he is calling for help. At last he is ready to admit that he is lonely. One of the thousands. And he is a hero, too. He can not dance "because of an injury received in the war." As he went marching by a few years back, the girls waved, and thrilled, and the band played, "Smile, Smile, Smile." Remember? Well, now he is back. He has a good job (lucky boy) and he wants to find a one-and-only girl, but because he can not dance, he is left to his loneliness.

Must every man dance? Are there no girls who have danced enough? No girls who do not care whether they ever saw another dance floor? What is there so enticing about gyrating around to blares of music? One does it, of course, as one gives up bridge and turns to backgammon when the situation seems to demand such a course. But to take the matter seriously? To select one's life partner with such accomplishment in mind? Always the men who refuse to dance even when they can are the most fascinating. And invariably the ones who pride themselves upon their skill on a polished floor are the ones of least consequences. So why is this boy back from the war seeking in vain for the dream girl? Is it really because he can not dance any more or is it the workmanlike way he goes about his quest? "Seeking the mate" he calls it. That sounds so do-or-die. Girls are as easily scared as men when "rushed" alterward. Read the letter that tells of that four years of search and see what you think leaves this seeking lover, lonely still.

"Dear Miss McDonald: I have been a reader of your articles for a long time in hope that I might find something to fit my case. I have been looking for a mate for about four years, but have not as yet been able to find one.

"Due to an injury which I received in the war I am unable to dance, which makes it doubly hard for me to get any dates with the girls, except those who like to go out on gin parties and the like, which I do not approve of for any one.

"I am a young man who has a good position. Am earning a good salary, with good prospects for advancement to a much higher position, with a substantial increase in pay.

"I would like to meet some girl of the wholesome type, but as I do not dance I find it very hard to meet any one whom I would care to have.

"I would like for you to tell me how I can meet some nice girl who would care to go out with me under the conditions that I have explained.

"LONELY."

"There's the story. Is the girl he wants sitting in her room wondering how many more years the loneliness is going to last? Is she wondering why there seem to be no more men left in the world today? Wondering why heaven did not provide a boy for every girl? Loneliness. The universal tragedy. For every one is lonely. The thousands surging past on the street. The thousands we will meet. The one we want to meet and never will. Isn't life a strange and senseless thing?

And why do you think this particular man is still searching and still lonely?

CITY POLICE SEEK BAD-CHECK GIVERS

Three of Alexandria's Store Owners Lose $18 Each as Drafts Return.

HOSPITAL DRIVE IS OFF

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Three local merchants reported to the police yesterday that they had been victims of a "check flasher" Saturday, only discovering that they had been victimized when the checks were returned from their banks yesterday. In each case the check worker obtained $18 for his trouble.

The persons reporting to the police were Weil Bros., 519 King street; Al Rubin, King and Payne streets, and H. M. Wood, chain store employe at 626 King street. The checks were each made out on the banking firm of Burke & Herbert, signed with a rubber stamp reading "Alexandria Iron Works," followed by the signature "Per T. F. Butts." Mr. Butts is an official of the Alexandria Iron Works. Two other rubber stamps used on the checks read "For material," and "Not over $100."

Mr. Butts stated yesterday that his firm does not use the style of check made use of by the confidence men and the signature, of course, was bogus.

Descriptions of the men passing the checks varied so that it is thought there were at least two. Weil Brothers describe the man as being about 37 years old, 6 feet tall, weighing about 190 pounds, dressed in a dark suit and a dark felt hat. Mr. Wood described the man as being between 45 and 50 years old, with a heavy gray beard and mustache, weighing about 150 pounds, wearing dark trousers but no coat, black felt hat and black shoes.

Police Capt. Campbell assigned Detective Sergt. Sims and Policeman Smoots to the case, but it is thought probable the men left town immediately after cashing the checks.

The proposed drive for $150,000 with which to construct an annex to the Alexandria Hospital was postponed until a "more propitious time," after considerable discussion at a meeting of the board of trustees and board of directors of the hospital held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night and presided over by Robert S. Jones, president of the board of trustees.

While no definite time was fixed for the drive, the general opinion is that it will again be taken up in the spring.

The matter of erecting a wing to the present hospital to meet the increasing needs of the institution has been under advisement for more than a year, and some money has already been contributed for the purpose. Tentative plans have been drawn and an estimate of the cost obtained. It is proposed to spend approximately $150,000, with which the capacity of the hospital can be practically doubled.

The newly elected officers of Fitzgerald Council, No. 459, Knights of Columbus, were installed last night at the Knights of Columbus Home on North St. Asaph street, by District Deputy James A. Blake, of Richmond. A social session was held after the installation ceremonies.

The officers installed were William Lindsey Carne, grand knight; Robert A. Johnson, deputy grand knight; William F. Nugent, chancellor; T. J. McFarland, treasurer; W. J. Greenan, financial secretary; Martin E. Greene, advocate; Richard L. Carne, recorder; the Rev. Joseph J. Kelly, chaplain; William Myers, outside guard; D. J. O'Reilly, inside guard, and Carl Rothman, warden.

Harry Hammond, chairman of the newly appointed zoning commission for Alexandria, has tendered his resignation to Judge William P. Woolls, of the Corporation Court. The vacancy has not yet been filled.

The Zoning Commission was only recently appointed and was just beginning its work. The other members of the commission are Nicholas J. Lawler, Louis Kane, George E. Garrett and B. B. Ezrine.

The vacancy will, it is expected, be filled shortly, after which it must be confirmed by the city council.

Police Capt. W. W. Campbell yesterday received a letter from Colon, Mich., from a woman who thought that one of the men found dead on a box car last week might be her son. The description of her missing son, however, did not fit either of the men, and Capt. Campbell notified her to that effect.

Raymond Saunders, Negro, 17 years old, while carrying two half-gallon jars of alleged liquor yesterday morning on the river front, saw Policemen Grimm and Embrey coming toward him and jumped overboard, with the result that the contents were lost. Saunders was arrested, but as the "evidence" against him remained at the bottom of the river, Acting Police Justice Kennedy acquitted him.

The Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon program today will be under the direction of Given and May and will consist of comedy stunts. Plans will be discussed for attending the Capital District convention in Norfolk October 23-25.

A man giving the name of B. B. Morales, a Filipino, of Seventeenth street near P northwest, Washington, was arrested on a charge of colliding with a car belonging to Mrs. Bess Faines, which was parked in the 200 block South Washington street, and the car he was driving was found to contain four half-gallons of liquor. The man also was fined $250 and costs of $20.50, and the car confiscated. He was also sentenced to three months in jail. He was fined $25 and $3 costs on the colliding charge.

Fall From Truck Fatal To Alto, Va., Farmer

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Sept. 24.—William Martin, 50, farmer, who lived near Alto, Amherst County, died today at Virginia Baptist Hospital from a fractured skull which he suffered yesterday in a fall from a motor truck at his home. He is survived by his wife and ten children.

Barton Man, 77, Obtains Divorce.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 24 (Special).—George L. Moore, 77 years old, of Barton, this county, was granted an absolute divorce in the circuit court here yesterday by Judge Albert A. Doub from Emma Moore, of Elkins, W. Va. Moore is the father of a number of grown children and is one of the oldest principals known in a divorce action here. He charged desertion and abandonment.

Effect of Drought Not Evident at Fair

Bedford County Exhibits Among Best in History of Organization.

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., Sept. 24.—Effects of the drought are not apparent in exhibits of the Bedford County Fair, which has opened here.

Exhibits of pumpkins, watermelons and potatoe pumpkins are among the best ever shown here. There are also some fine potatoes, both of the sweet and Irish variety. The corn is good and the exhibit of grasess is surprising. The tobacco shown is of average quantity and quality, but not so good as last year, when the showing was unusual. B. A. Warriner, of Blacksburg, district farm agent, is judging product in the farm department.

Mrs. M. P. Rucker, superintendent of the department of domestic arts, reports her department filled. Samples of intricate needle work are exhibited.

SALE OF PROPERTY FOR TAXES FOUGHT

Capital Realty Man Files Petition in Rockville Circuit Court.

45 ACRES BROUGHT $52

Voiding of a sale of property on River road in Montgomery County for failure to pay taxes and an injunction restraining the purchaser from taking possession are asked in a petition filed in the circut court at Rockville by Fulton R. Gordon, Washington real estate dealer.

Through Attorney Stedman Prescott, of Rockville, the real estate man alleges that the entire tract of 45 acres was sold when only a small portion of the property would have realized sufficient funds to pay the due taxes. He further alleges that he knew nothing of the claim for taxes until two years after the sale, the sale having been made in the name of the former owners of the property. He alleges that the tax sale price of $52 is a small portion of the more than $10,000 value.

Mr. Gordon avers that he offered to repay the mount paid for the property at the tax sale by Robert L. Saunders, together with all costs and interest, but that the latter refused to accept the offer. He asks that Mr. Saunders be enjoined from taking possession or interfering with his possession of the property. He further asks that the county treasurer, J. Forest Walker, be directed to set aside the sale of the property.

Otis V. Layman, of Laytonsville, yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce from Mrs. Ida May Layman, now known as Ida May Everly, in circuit court at Rockville, alleging desertion. Through Attorney Albert M. Boule, he tells the court that the couple was married September 6, 1891, and that there are three living children, all of age.

Motion to dissolve the temporary injunction granted Edgar W. Moore et al., enjoining the construction of the Kensington grade crossing bridge was filed yesterday in circuit court at Rockville by Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, counsel for the county commissioners.

The injunction was issued against the Maryland State Roads Commission and the members of the commission following filing of a petition by Mr. Moore and other residents which claimed that the preparation for the construction had been illegally gone into.

In the motion Capt. Cissel points out that all of the requirements of the law, such as publication, public hearing and filing of exhibits with the county commissioners have been carried out.

Funeral Rites Held For Frostburg Doctor

Special to The Washington Post.

Frostburg, Md., Sept. 24.—Funeral services were held for Dr. George L. Lininger, native of Somerset County, Pa., former city health officer of Frostburg, who died at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, were held this morning from his home here, after which the body was taken to Baltimore for interment following services at the home of Mrs. L. E. Henashaw, 1411 North Patterson Park.

The Rev. Lewis B. Browne, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, conducted the srevices here and the ritual of the Fraternal Order of Eagles was observed. Dr. Lininger was 57 years old.

State Troopers Search For Escaped Prisoners

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 24.—State troopers and sheriffs are scouring central West Virginia for four prisoners who broke out of Gilmer County Jail at Glenville last night after prying the bars with bed rails.

The escaped men are Phillips Shackleford, of Glenville; Aaron Koon, of Akron, Ohio; James Furry, of Wheeling, and "Red" Cunningham, of Mount Zion, all charged with liquor violations. The first two have previous jail breaking records.

Daily O'Currences

—By JOHN DALY—

LUELLA admires celebrities. It doesn't make any difference who they are, nor why they're celebrated. She loves 'em just the same.

"The world needs more celebrities," she said, and looked at me as if she thought I ought to join the ranks.

"More celebrities? Seems to me the world is overburdened with 'em already. What the world needs, really, is a good 5-cent cigar——"

* * * * *

SHE cut me short. "What we ought-a have," she said, "is a celebrity week."

"Celebrity week?"

"A seven-day period of admiration, to honor men and women who have made good. You know," she swept the air, "in a great big way."

"Like Texas Guinan, eh?"

"Not only Texas Guinan," nagged Luella, "but Rudy Vallee, Peggy Joyce Hopkins, Buddy Rogers and—and, oh, well, all the great American geniuses who have——"

"Who have what?"

"YOU know what I mean. Anyway, they're celebrities, and we ought-a have a celebrity week."

"Just one moment," said I, halting her rhapsody. "You've named only Americans. Can't you include a celebrity from abroad?"

"I would if I could, but there aren't any foreign celebrities."

"No?"

* * * * *

"WELL, there might be a few, but they're practically unknown in this country."

"Luella, I'm surprised. Haven't you heard of Mussolini, the great Italian dictator——?"

"A dictator! How could a dictator be a celebrity, any more than the stenographer who takes his dictation?"

"Tardieu, the Frenchman. You've heard of him?"

"What picture did he play in?" she asked.

It was too much for me, so I went out and gathered with a lot of celebrities playing miniature golf. Every Tom, Dick and Harry seemed to be there.

PARTIES IN COUNTY PLAN FOR ELECTION

Prince Georges Republicans and Democrats to Open Fight Next Week.

TYPHOID CLINIC TO OPEN

Opening guns in the general election fight in Prince Georges County will sound next week. The Republican State central committee will meet in Upper Marlboro next Tuesday, while the Democratic organization will map out its campaign at a gathering which probably will be held Friday or Saturday of this week.

The Republican strategy has been planned, and calls for meetings in almost every district in the county where the candidates will appear to plead for support. It is thought that the Democrats, however, will adopt different tactics. It is known that several of the leaders favor a few large gatherings at centralized points, rather than many smaller rallies.

Samuel G. Coale, Republican leader in the county, announced yesterday that headquarters of that faction would be opened in Marlboro. The Democrats have heretofore had offices in Washington, but it is understood that a location within the county is favored for this campaign.

The scheduled speaking tour of the State by William F. Broening, mayor of Baltimore and Republican candidate for governor, includes Prince Georges County. Mr. Broening will be in the county on October 8 and 9, and will speak at Mr. Rainer and Hyattsville on October 8. The next night he will be at a Marlboro rally.

Both parties are impressing on their voters the necessity for observing the changes in the laws relating to registration. Under the new law registration must be made on either September 30 or October 14, October 7 being revision day.

A typhoid inoculation clinic will open in Hyattsville Friday. This step was taken as the result of the report of the seventh case of this disease in the town. County medical men will have charge, having agreed to perform the vaccination if 25 persons would appear to take the serum. The six cases previously reported are said to be on the road to recovery.

Discussion of the disposition of the third ambulance at the disposal of the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad will feature a meeting of the squad at the Bladensburg fire house Friday night. It is thought that the third car will be sent to either Beltsville, or Capitol Heights, to cover the Baltimore boulevard or the Marlboro pike.

Frank Ferguson, Meadows, Md., was dismissed on charges of driving while drunk and disorderly conduct yesterday in Hyattsville branch of Prince Georges County police court. He paid a fine of $25 on a charge of failing to show his license, however. With his brother, Claude Ferguson, the man was arrested by Constable Ralph Brown, while the two men were on their way to bail out a third brother, who had been arrested on a liquor charge.

Frank Ferguson denied that he was drunk and produced a certificate from Dr. James I. Boyd, of Forestville, to show that he had been given a hypodermic injection about half-an-hour before his arrest. This was the cause of the dismissal of the driving while drunk case. The third brother, John Ferguson, was acquitted of the liquor charge.

A fine of $200 for the possession of liquor was the sentence of Charles Dustin, of Laurel, though a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon was dismissed. Evidence indicated that Ralph O'Brien, of Washington, the complaining witness, had left a spare tire with Dustin in payment for a debt. Later O'Brien, it was said, attempted to remove the tire, and Dustin frightened him off with a pistol. The contraband beverage was found when Constable Ralph Brown and County Policeman Claude Reese searched the house on a warrant sworn out by O'Brien.

Emory Hutchinson, of Landover, was committed to jail in default of a fine of $101, levied on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and reckless driving. The man was arrested on the Defense highway by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage.

William A. Carlton, of Edmonston, was convicted of leaving the scene of an accident without making his identity known and was fined $25. He was arrested at Bladensburg by Officer Cubbage after an accident which involved his car and one belonging to H. M. Brown.

Rather than face Judge J. Chew Sheriff, Lewis J. Brant, of Sixth street northwest near E street, forfeited $114. This sum had been posted as collateral on charges of driving while under influence of intoxicating liquor, reckless driving and failing to have a proper license. He was arrested by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage.

John Adams, of Suitland, fined $50 for illegal possession, appealed his case. He was arrested by Officers Brown and Reese.

Ella Taylor, appearing to answer a charge of possession and disorderly conduct, offered as defense the fact that she had but recently become a widow and did not know of the liquor which was found in her house as it had belonged to her late husband. Nevertheless, she was fined $75 on the possession count and $5 for being disorderly. Seventy bottles of beer were seized in the raid.

Janie Haddon, colored, who forfeited $5 for a traffic offense, was fined $50 on a liquor charge. The illicit alcohol was said to have been found in her car when it was searched by a policeman attracted by the lesser crime.

George W. Mater, of Landover, arrested by Officers Reese and Brown, was fined $50 on a possession charge.

Work of tearing down the old drugstore building at the corner of Johnson avenue and Baltimore Boulevard was halted yesterday when it was found that Dr. Joseph Waldman, the proprietor, had no town permit for the work. He had applied for and received a permit from the county, but this was not sufficient, according to Justice of the Peace Herbert J. Moffat, town building inspector.

No action was taken on the matter of jury service for women by the Prince Georges Federations of Women's Clubs which met yesterday. It had been proposed that the Federation indorse such service, but the formal approval will not be made until October 29, when the semiannual meeting is held at Hyattsville.

A questionnaire which is to be submitted to all candidates in the Prince Georges County election will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the Prince Georges County Municipal Officials Association to be held in the town hall at Hyattsville at 8 o'clock.

Candidates will be asked to announce their various stands on a number of county questions in order that the voters can have an intelligent idea of what to expect in the event of their election. The meeting tonight is a special meeting called for the purpose of discussing the questionnaire.

FREDERICK TO HEAR WOMAN CANDIDATE

Miss Engle, in Contest for Delegate's Seat, to Talk to Almshouse Group.

PLANS TO BE PRESENTED

Miss Lavinia Engle, Montgomery County Democratic candidate for member of the House of Delegates, will address a meeting of the consolidated almshouse committee for the Western Shore of Maryland today at the Francis Scott Key Hotel, Frederick, Md.

Miss Engle, who has devoted more than 10 years to social work in Maryland, will tell of her experiences and will outline the conditions of the various almshouses she viewed on a recent inspection tour.

The almshouses committee was appointed by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, to study and make recommendations on the proposal to establish central almshouse for the western shore under authority of an act of the last State Legislature. A similar commission has been appointed to study the conditions and possibilities on the eastern shore.

In connection with a report by the subcommittee on plans and specifications, which is headed by County Commissioner Lacy Shaw of Montgomery County, Maj. Howard T. Cutler, Silver Spring architect, will present plans for an almshouse which will house 700 persons and provide hospital accommodations for 10 per cent of the inmates.

The committee is headed by Dr. Frank O. Miller of Ellicott City, who represents Howard County. Other members are Lacy Shaw, representing Montgomery County; Harford County, Dr. P. Bird Hopkins, of Bel Air; Prince Georges County, Mrs. J. Enos Ray, of Chillum; St. Mary's County, Mrs. Maud S. Gardiner, Chaptico; Washington County, Mrs. Sara M. Stouffer, Hagerstown; Allegany County, Mrs. A. M. Lichenstein, Cumberland; Anne Arundel County, Mrs. Caroline D. Hunt, Cumberstone; Baltimore County, George Jessop, jr., Cookeysville; Carroll County, Alonzo B. Sellman, Mt. Airy; Calvert County, Mrs. Clarence E. Davis, Solomon's; Charles County, Miss Bessie Gavit, La Plata; Frederick County, Dr. Charles E. Wehler, Frederick, and Garrett County, Stuart F. Hamill, Oakland.

SITES ARE SELECTED FOR NEW RESERVOIR

Exeprts, Following Study, to Suggest Place for Frederick Project.

WILL EXPEND $200,000

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 24.—Following an inspection along Tuscarora Creek, three sites were tentatively selected by the city authorities today for a new reservoir with a capacity of 49,000,000. An inspection was also made of the dam at the present reservoir on Fishing Creek with the view of raising it 5 feet, which would add 17,000,000 gallons to the reservoir's capacity.

The inspection was made by Mayor Lloyd C. Culler, members of the board of aldermen, City Engineer E. St. C. Maxwell and two expert water engineers of Baltimore. Drawings will be made of the sites for a new reservoir, and experts, after studying the drawings, will recommend one of them.

The move to increase the water supply was the first step taken following a public meeting at the courthouse last week, at which Mayor Culler recommended a new reservoir and raising the dam of the present reservoir at Fishing Creek not only to provide more water, an imperative necessity, but to afford work for persons facing unemployment this fall and winter. On account of the drought, water in the reservoir has dropped from 35 to 22 feet and the supply will last only fifteen days unless rain comes. As an emergency, pipes have been laid from springs in a quarry on the Grove Lime property, east of the city, and water will be pumped into the mains as a last resort.

The plan is to select one of the sites for a new reservoir and begin construction work as soon as possible. The capacity of the present reservoir is 60,000,000 gallons, and raising the level of the dam will increase the capacity to 77,000,000. The daily consumption is about 1,800,000 and the daily amount of water flowing into the reservoir is approximately 1,000,000 gallons. The inspection revealed a serious condition at the source of supply, and to prevent a shortage the use of water for every purpose except household has been restricted under penalty of a fine.

The projects will cost about $200,000, and will furnish employment for 50 to 75 persons about eight months. Many persons are out of employment, some of whom have already appealed to charity organizations for help.

Ten New Locomotives To Be Built by N. & W.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 24 (A.P.).—Officials of the Norfolk & Western Railway anounced today plans for the expenditure of $1,100,000 for the construction in local shops of ten large Mallet freight locomotives and approximately $250,000 for the construction of two extensions to the railway's storage warehouses at Lambert Point, Norfolk.

Delivery of the first engine is planned for February, 1931, with one locomotive to be delivered each month thereafter until the order is filled. Plans also provide for building ten new tenders. The new project at Norfolk calls for an extension of 700 feet to warehouse F and 650 feet to Warehouse G.

Dr. L. A. Thomas, of Grace Lutheran Church.

TWO WOMEN VOTERS LEAVE ORGANIZATION

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Only determined efforts on the part of the president, Mrs. Ruby Simpson, prevented disruption of the fall meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, held yesterday at the Calvary Methodist Protestant Church at Aurora Hills, when Miss Anna Hedrick, sister of Supervisor B. M. Hedrick, who has been on subject of impeachment proceedings, attempted to question minutes of a previous meeting.

The storm started following the reading of portions which referred to the investigation made by a committe prior to the impeachment trial of Mr. Hedrick.

Miss Hedrick attempted to read from a copy of the records of the case testimony which she claimed would correct that part of the minutes to which she referred. Strong objections were raised and sustained by the chair.

After the report of the treasurer was read, Miss Hedrick again arose and asked if there were not more bills.

The president replied there were none.

"Is there not a bill for copying the record?" Miss Hedrick asked.

The president again said there was no such bill, and added that when one was presented it would be paid.

At this point, Mrs. Mary Lockwood made several attempts to gain the floor. Each time she was unable to make herself heard.

Finally, Mrs. Lockwood said: "The manner in which this meeting is being conducted is an outrage. There are some of us who have been called liars, and I am sick of it. It is the first time in my life that I have been called a liar.

"I think that if there are members who do not like the organization they should resign," the president replied. Immediately Miss Hedrick arose and tendered her resignation which was promptly accepted. Before she had time to leave her seat Mrs. Lockwood arose and addressing the chair said: "You have a darn rowdy crowd. I am through," and left the room amid wild applause.

With order restored, Robert N. Anderson, chairman of the committee from the Arlington County Civic Federation, who for many months has studied the various forms of government available for Arlington County and whose recommendations for the county manager plan have been adopted by the Federation addressed the meeting giving a detailed report of the committee's findings and explaining the advantages and disadvantages of the several forms.

The organization after discussing the matter and asking Mr. Anderson a number of questions, went on record unanimously as favoring the county manager plan.

Turning the meeting over to Mrs. J. B. Lowell, vice president, Mrs. Simpson took the floor and spoke of her six years as a member of the organization, two of which she has held the office of president. Mrs. Simpson said that she had made errors, but they were not made in any attempt to harm the organization and that she had no apologies to make for the part taken in the investigation which carried the case of Supervisor Hedrick to the courts.

"Never have I worked with a committee of ladies that were more loyal to their organization than those who assisted in the investigation. I ask that the body now take a vote in my absence whether or not I shall remain as the president. If I have come to the point where my usefulness as president has passed I will have no ill feeling if I am removed," she declared.

A unanimous vote of confidence was given Mrs. Simpson, and she was cheered when she returned to the room.

With a total enrollment of 1,250, and indications that the figure will exceed the 1,300 mark within the next few days, students at the Washington-Lee High School started their studies yesterday morning. The James Monroe School, at Aurora Heights, which has been delayed in opening due to construction work, will start classes Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Incomplete returns last night from the Arlington County Civic Federation workers who are circulating petitions for an election on the question of a change in the form of county government show a total of 405 signatures, more than double the 200 required by the law to call an election.

A number of communities were late in organizing for the work and are not included in the report. Most of them, however, reported that they have completed their organization and that petitions are being circulated, returns from which will be included in the next report, to be published on Sunday.

The organizations reporting and number of signers are as follows:

Lyon Park, C. K. Lewis, chairman, 106; Lyon Village, William D. Medley, chairman, 57; Clarendon Citizens Association, E. L. Bennett, chairman, 47; Livingston Heights, John A. Petty, chairman, 47; Aurora Hills, Mrs. Claude S. Semones, chairman, 35; Arlington Citizens Association, Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, chairman, 34; Ashton Heights Citizens Association, Hugh J. McGrath, chairman, 36; Arlington Ridge, Gilson Gardner, chairman, 15; East Falls Church, Harry A. Fellows, chairman, 15; Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, chairman, 11, and Patrick Henry Parent-Teacher Association, George F. Cook, chairman, 2.

Robert N. Anderson, chairman of the campaign committee is elated over the returns and predicts that by next Tuesday night, when the campaign comes to a close, the total number of signatures will be well over the 1,000 mark.

2,286 Are Enrolled At U. of Virginia

Indications Are That New Records Will Be Set in College and Schools.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 24.—Indications are for a record enrollment at the University of Virginia this session. The registration to date is 2,286. Of this number, 2,222 entered during the first three days, 163 above the mark set for the same period of registration last year.

The figures show marked increases in the college and graduate departments, while the professional schools remained at about the same mark as last fall. There is a slight decrease in the number of registrations for the department of engineering. The percentage of old men returning is larger than usual, there being 730 old and 682 new students in the college department. Of the students registered during the first three days, only 90 were women.

HERNDON FIREMEN TO HOLD CARNIVAL

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

Members of the Herndon Volunteer Fire Department have decided to hold another carnival on October 16, 17 and 18. After a lengthy discussion at the regular monthly meeting it was thought best to hold the celebration in Railroad Park with the regular carnival amusements. The celebration will open each evening with a costume parade.

President T. Edgar Reed has appointed Howard Armfield general chairman of the carnival committee. Other members appointed include Walter A. Farr, J. L. Nachman, T. E. Reed, John Hurst and George Chapell. The report made of the carnival held last month showed that $1,052.36 was cleared by the department.

H. B. Derr, Fairfax County Agricultural agent, has asked the Herndon company to have a representative of the fire department give a talk over radio station WJSV on October 19 on the history and organization of the Herndon department. The secretary, Howard Armfield, was instructed to inform Mr. Derr of compliance with his request. A copy of the final report of the finances of firemen's day was ordered posted on the bulletin board of the Herndon postoffice.

The Rev. O. B. Lloyd, of Baltimore, Md., has been called to the pastorate of the Herndon Baptist Church. His duties are to begin on October 1. Dr. Lloyd succeeds the Rev. Chancellor N. Brewn, who resigned last spring on account of illness. He is now in a sanitorium in Kansas City, Mo.

The case of David Crockett, of Groveton, who was indicted by the grand jury for criminal assault on a 14-year-old girl took up most of yesterday's session of the Fairfax County Circuit court. Crockett was found not guilty by a jury.

Forrest Nichols of Vienna pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was fined $100 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of 60 days.

A. J. Huntington pleaded guilty to possession of a still. He was fined $5 and costs and sentenced to 11 months in jail. Edward Grigsby pleaded guilty to a violation of the State prohibition law and was fined $150 and costs and given a jail sentence of 30 days. The jail sentence was suspended during his good behavior.

The guild of the Neighborhood House at McLean will hold its annual card party tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Neighborhood house. Mrs. James G. Cumming has been appointed general chairman in charge of arrangements. Refreshments and prizes will be given.

The Community League and Citizens Association at Herndon will hold its meeting tomorrow evening in the auditorium of the Herndon school. A reception for the teachers will be planned for the near future.

Stewart Oglivie has been elected president of the recently reorganized Epworth League of Falls Church. Other officers elected include Mary Birch, vice president; Martha Deitrich, secretary and Arthur Mead, treasurer.

President Edmund H. Allen, of the Fair
